4 NAVSTA Personnel Cited at Inspection

CHIEF COMMENDED—Chief Storekeeper Eugene P. Ducharme is commended by Capt. N. R. Lincoln, Jr., Commanding Officer, for his selection as Chief of the Month. The letter of commendation stressed Ducharme's devotion to duty while acting as Commissary Division Officer during that officer's illness during August, duties he assumed in addition to his own. During this time, the Chief continued conducting classes in advancement which he had organized and was teaching after hours before. "This exacting schedule did not prevent you from continual active participation in local community affairs," the letter read. "As Cub Scout Registrar and 'Den Dad' you are contributing to the welfare of your community," it continued, calling his conduct "outstanding" and "in keeping with the highest traditions of the Navy."

REPUBLICAN CREED

(Pd. adv.)

Two enlisted men and two officers attached to the Kodiak Naval Station were singled out for commendation recently during one of the most impressive personnel inspections held here in some time.

Navy Journalist Second Class Winfred G. Cary was cited as August's Sailor of the Month. Station Manager of AFRTS - Kodiak, and supervisor of the base paper, Kodiak Bear, he was cited for his "spirit and initiative" in carrying out his duties. He was cited for giving freely of his time as Station Manager, and "as supervisor of the Kodiak Bear you have initiated editorials on Leadership, Navy Tradition, Communism, The Fighting Man's Code and Know Your Government," the citation read.

Citizenship

"A special day like Citizenship Day, which will be observed Saturday, September 17, is necessary as a reminder to reconsider our benefits and duties as citizens."

So said Mike Rose, president of the Anchorage Bar Association, who through fate of birth and parentage, is a citizen of two countries. He was born in France of American parentage, and due to the laws of the two countries, is a citizen of both.

Rose continued: "We tend to forget that good citizenship consists in small duties and large privileges. It is voting on election day—a small thing. It is also informing ourselves on the qualifications of candidates for public office.

"It is making ourselves more familiar with the history of our country through reading such instruments of democracy as the Declaration of Independence."

These are small things, but they help develop a consciousness of citizenship that otherwise we will not acquire.

Rose made a significant statement when he said: "Citizenship can be expressed in many ways. It is necessary to express it, otherwise it is in danger."

Rose urged Alaska groups to plan special observances for Citizenship Day—if nothing else—the display of the flag.

MAN IS BEST FRIEND OF MAN'S BEST FRIEND

OMAHA (P)—Little man's best friend is a big man.

Little man is a two-month-old Manchester terrier who owes his life to Harry Redman Jr., 29, his master.

Little man seemed a dead dog from electrocution after he bit into an extension cord socket. Redman said "I remembered reading about this mouth-to-mouth respiration. I figured if it worked for people it might work for a dog.

"I tried it. In maybe a minute I felt his heart kick over. Another minute or so and he started breathing on his own."
