Opinions of Men Probed In Prayer Speaker Claims

To meet today's needs, the common, unreflective opinions of men must be challenged spiritually and scientifically, Robert Dolling Wells of Seattle, Wash., told a large audience here last Sunday.

There is a practical answer to human needs, an intelligent answer which is indicated in the Lord's Prayer, Mr. Wells stated.

"Christ Jesus taught and practiced," he said, "from a standpoint which challenged many of the common opinions of his era. And because of it he was able to heal the prevalent sicknesses and sins with what the Biblical record indicates was remarkable success. He was able to open for mankind new paths of achievement in overcoming the fears, limitations, the discouragements, of human consciousness and experience."

Mr. Wells spoke at the investigation of the Christian Science Society of Kodiak in the church edifice on the subject "Christian Science Challenges Common Opinion." A Christian Science teacher and practitioner, he is on an extended tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lecturship. He was introduced by Lt. JG G. B. Haynes.
