GRUB OUTLOOK IS DOUBTFUL

Concerning the food outlook at Fairbanks, the News of that place says: "Because of it being almost an impossibility to estimate even approximately the number of people in this district, provision dealers at Fairbanks are at sea on the question of supply. They declare it is out of the question at this time to figure whether the camp will be seriously short before spring." "In a season-end interview, Manager Turner, of the Northern Commercial Company's store, the largest outfitting concern in the district, summed up the situation in the following manner: "While it is almost certain that no serious shortages of staples will occur it must be admitted some lines will give out before spring. This is evidenced by the fact that one staple, hams, has already been exhausted." "Owing to a condition brought about by the clamor for outfits, the mistaken impression that our company and others had quit selling has gone abroad. The idea is wrong, for we are selling hundreds of tons of provisions right along." "The system we are following, I believe, should be explained for the benefit of buyers. We are simply filling orders as they come. That is, one day is devoted to taking orders and listing them in the order in which they are received. The next day these are filled. To avoid taking orders for some line or lines that might possibly have been exhausted selling is stopped the second day." "This was made necessary by the remarkably big trade. Wholesale orders are being sold each day. The difficulty of keeping a check on stock is evident. The only way we can be sure of it is to fill as the goods are sold." "Hams have given out. We have plenty of other staples, and it does not seem possible that so great a stock can be depleted. This, however, is something no one can tell for certain at present."

Grip Quickly Knocked Out

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of influenza with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Eggleston, of Manie Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with a dose of Chamberlain's Cough and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip."

It is a good plan to take a dose of the Tablets when you have a cold. They promote a healthy action of the bowels, liver and kidneys which is always beneficial when the system is congested by a cold or attack of the grip. For sale by Kelly Drug Co.

A Certain Cure for Croup

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has been in use for many years and has never been known to fail, viz: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Give it and a quick cure is sure to follow. Mr. M. F. Compton, of Market, Texas, says of it: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in severe cases of croup with my children, and can truthfully say it always gives prompt relief." For sale by Kelly Drug Co.
