Experienced.

During an Episcopal convention in Boston, one of the bishops had an experience he will long remember. He was a portly man, weighing over 300 pounds. One afternoon, while walking through the Boston Commons he sat down on one of the benches to rest. When he attempted to get up he failed in the attempt. He tried again and failed. About this time a little girl, poorly dressed, came along and was attracted by the struggles of the bishop. Stepping up to him she exclaimed:

"Don't you want me to give you a lift?"

The bishop gazed at her in amazement and exclaimed:

"Why you can't help me, you are too little."

"No, I am not," she exclaimed. "I have helped my pa get up many times when he was drunker than you are."

Quite a Predicament

Henry was at college. He had been spending somewhat too freely, and he was short. It was near the holidays and he hated to write home for money. As a last resort he pawned his dress suit to tide him over.

When the time came to leave for home the suit was still unredeemed. He knew he would need it at home. He hurriedly redeemed it at the last moment, packed it in his grip and was off.

His mother was helping him unpack. She came to the coat.

"Henry," she asked, "what is this ticket on your coat for?"

"Why, mother," he replied, "I went to a dance the other evening and had my coat checked."

She continued putting away his garments. Finally she lifted out the trousers. They, too, were ticketed.

"Henry," she exclaimed, "what kind of a dance was that?"

Tit for Tat

A few days ago two young ladies haled a trolley, entered it, and found only standing room. One of them whispered to her companion:

"I'm going to get a seat from one of these men. You take notice."

She looked down the row of men and selected a sedate gentleman who bore the general settled appearance of a married man. She went up to him and opened fire:

"My dear Mr. Green! How delighted I am to meet you! You are almost a stranger. Will I accept your seat? Well, I do feel tired, I heartily admit. Thank you, so much."

The sedate gentleman—a total stranger, of course—looked, listened, and then quietly arose and gave her his seat, saying:

"Sit down, Jane, my girl. Don't often see you out on a washing day. You must feel tired, I'm sure. How's your mistress?"

The young lady got her seat, but lost her vivacity.
