

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY WILL BE GIVEN BANQUET

Conference Decides on Program—Arranged to Meet Expressed Desire.

Gov. Scott C. Bone, Mayor I. Goldstein and President Allen Shattuck of the Chamber of Commerce at a conference at the Governor's office this morning decided, among other things, there would be a public banquet at Elks' Hall on the evening of the day of the arrival of the Congressional party on the Cambal—probably the evening of June 13—which will be followed in the evening by a reception at the Governor's House. During the banquet the ladies of Juneau will assist Mrs. Bone in entertaining the ladies of the party.

The banquet will be for the general public. Tickets will be issued as soon as arrangements for the banquet, which will begin at 6 p. m., are made, and notice of where they may be procured will be given.

Other Towns to Be Invited

Invitations will be sent to Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Sitka, Haines, Skagway and other towns to participate in the banquet and reception. The purpose is to make the entertainment as nearly an all-Southeastern Alaska affair as possible. All visitors from all sections of Alaska will be welcomed at all the features of the entertainment during the presence of the distinguished guests.

All Matters to Be Presented

Speakers will be selected to present to the visitors the various public questions in which the people of Southeastern Alaska are interested.

The program was arranged to meet a desire expressed by members of the Congressional party to Juneauites at Seattle to meet the citizens of Juneau and to learn the viewpoint of the people generally on Alaska problems and to acquire specific information relating to Alaskan affairs.

WHO'S HERE AND WHERE

Joseph Barbeau, old-time resident of Sitka, arrived here on the steamer Queen.

J. L. Hill, fox farmer from Sullivan Island, is in Juneau on business.

J. W. Bixby, fox farmer and mining man of Sumdum, arrived here today on the George, Jr., on a business trip.

M. F. McDonnell representative for the American Paper Company and Swift's Company, left on the Queen on a business trip to Ketchikan.

J. F. Kline, agent for the Pacific Steamship Company here, left on the Queen on a business trip to Ketchikan. He will meet Mrs. Kline, who is a passenger on the Admiral Rogers for Juneau, and return on that steamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott and their little son, Robert, Jr., left on the Queen for Seattle, en route to San Francisco. They plan to locate in California. Mr. Scott is an old-time resident of Alaska and has been in the brokerage business here for years. He recently closed out his business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carpenter and their little daughter left on the Queen for the States, where they plan to locate.

Sigurd Wallstedt, inspector of Moose lodges in Alaska and Yukon, returned to his headquarters here on the Queen after a trip to Skagway and Sitka.

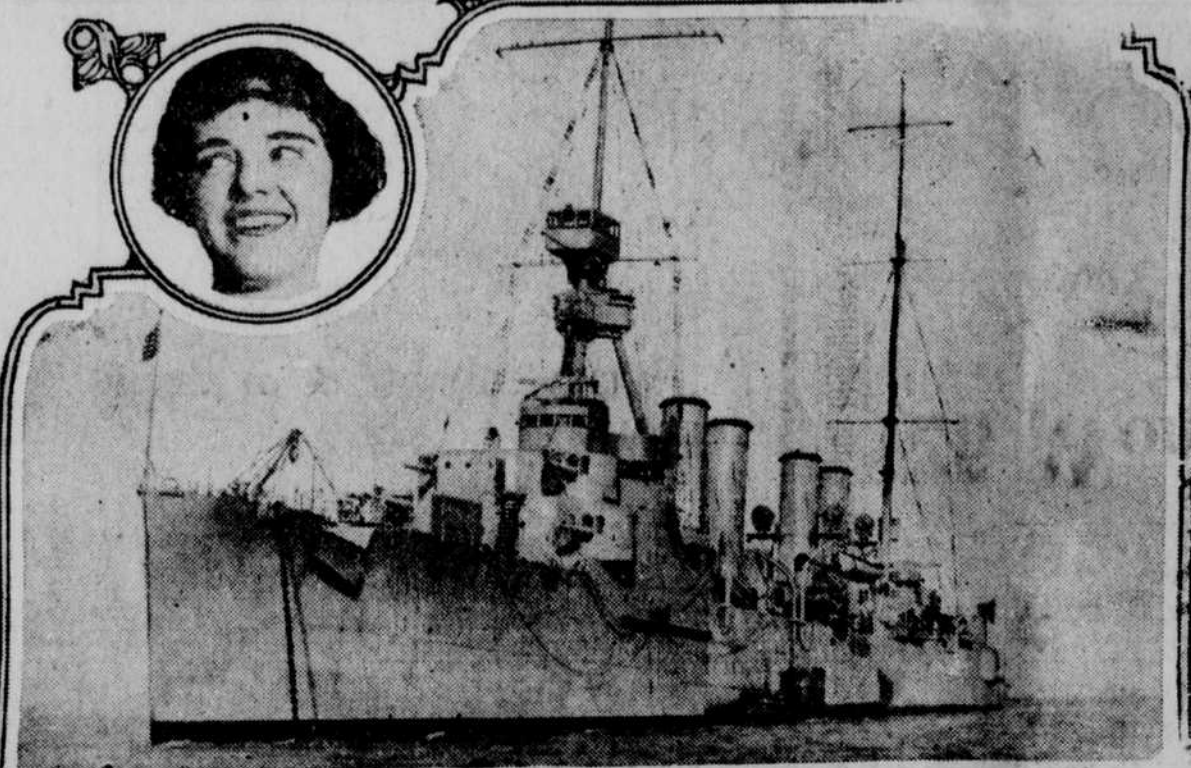

Miss Helen Smith and Miss Madge Case returned to Juneau on the steamer Queen. They left last week on the excursion to Whitehorse and took the Queen from Skagway, visiting Sitka.

A. G. Means, prohibition enforcement officer for Alaska, left on the Queen for Ketchikan, where he will meet Mrs. Means and their two sons, who are aboard the Admiral Rogers for Juneau.

U. S. CRUISER MAKES WORLD'S RECORD.

Miss M. C. Schuh.

U.S.S. Omaha.

The scout cruiser Omaha, of the United States Navy, hung up a new world's record between Honolulu, Hawaiian Island, and San Francisco, making the voyage in 75 hours and 40 minutes, covering the 2,101 miles at average speed of 27.74 knots. She can log 35 knots. This record clips more than a full day off the best merchant liner record. Miss Margaret Carnegie Schuh was most anxious that the vessel break records, and she was waiting at the dock for her sweetheart, Captain Leon Des Pland, Jr., an army officer, who came as a passenger on a 17-day leave of absence to marry her.

CIRCUIT COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE REED'S RULINGS

Affirms Decisions in Valentine, Simpson, Mabry and One Other Case.

Four cases, one the Valentine divorce case, taken up on appeal from the local U. S. District Court to the Circuit Court of Appeals, were decided early this week, the Appellate Court upholding Judge Reed's decisions in every instance, according to advices received here. Two cases were taken up from here and two from Ketchikan.

In the Valentine divorce case, the upper court upheld the alimony allowance and property settlement fixed by Judge Reed's decision. The case was taken up on appeal by J. H. Cobb, attorney for Mr. Valentine. H. L. Faulkner, Mrs. Valentine's attorney, was represented in the San Francisco court by former Federal Judge R. W. Jennings.

Other cases in which Judge Reed was upheld were the Mabry case, starting in the U. S. Commissioner's Court at Sitka, and one of the Simpson cases from Ketchikan, both liquor cases, and an admiralty case from Ketchikan. Judge James Wickert was attorney for both Mabry and Simpson, U. S. Attorney A. G. Shoup appearing for the government.

CATHEDRAL BEING PAINTED

Holy Trinity Cathedral and deanery are receiving a "dressing up" of fresh paint. Dean Rice is taking a vacation between Sundays and doing the work, and the Guild has undertaken the task of raising the necessary money to pay for the paint. A food sale is to be given Saturday afternoon, June 2, for that purpose, and contributions from those who would like to see Juneau a cleaner and brighter city will be gratefully received.

GUILD MEETING

The Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Cathedral will meet tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. M. Polley, Twelfth Street. This will be the last meeting before summer vacation and all members are requested to attend.

H. J. Brastfield, leader of the orchestra at the Palace, left on the Queen, having been summoned South on account of the serious illness of his father.

Big Brokerage Firm in New York Is Suspended

NEW YORK, May 31.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Jones & Baker, the largest brokerage house connected with the New York curb market and with branches in all parts of the country.

The petition said the firm had more than 7,000 customers and should have at least $7,000,000 worth of securities for their accounts but it is believed the greater part has been repledged with banking institutions. The curb market suspended the firm.

SECOND EFFORT TO STAY MOVE PROVES FUTILE

Work Again Turns Down Local Request to Stay Transfer of Land Office.

Further efforts to secure a stay in the removal of the local U. S. Land Office on June 30th, have broken down, the second plea made by Mayor I. Goldstein to Secretary Ark, of the Department of Interior, having been as unsuccessful as the first one was. A telegram received today by the Mayor from Secretary Work said the action of the Department in removing the land office was not taken until after long consideration and full investigation and in the belief that the change was for the ultimate benefit of Alaska, and that he did not feel "warranted in recommending revoking the executive order."

Whether further immediate action will be taken is uncertain. "We are convinced that further appeals to the Department of the Interior would be useless in view of the Secretary's latest statement and the position of the Department as revealed in telegrams received from other sources, particularly from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce," said Mayor Goldstein today.

A telegram received by him from that organization said that it had received a communication from Secretary Work in which it was declared that a careful study had been made of all public interests in the Territory, "including the mining industry at Juneau and elsewhere," and that practically the same information had been received from the United States Chamber of Commerce. It is evident, said the San Francisco chamber, that the Secretary is firmly opposed to recommending suspension of the removal order.

Mayor Goldstein also received a letter from Representative H. J. Sinton, of Oregon, chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands, saying facts submitted to him by the Mayor were being laid by him before

Secretary Work in view of the latest developments, however, it is not expected that any change will be made in the decision.
