WAR VETERANS OF EIGHT SOCIETIES MEET WITH LEGION

1, the largest single Legion post in the world.

Invitations have been extended to combat generals of the World War, and the heads of the American Navy and leaders of every national military and patriotic organization.

National headquarters of the American Legion have been temporarily transferred here. The bonus, compensation, relationship with the United States Veteran's Bureau and plans for a greater organization are due for active discussion.

Plans for holding a junior world series for boys' baseball teams throughout the country under the auspices of the Legion will also be discussed, in accordance with results of a conference between members of the National Americanism Commission and Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western conference.

If you want a job of carpenter work done by machinery see Sully's Carpenter Shop. Phone 135. adv.

RUSSIAN CHURCH SESSION CALLED

Third Conclave of All-Russian Churches Is to Start Tomorrow.

abdication of the late Patriarch Tikhon. Since the latter's death the tension between the two leading groups—the Tikhonites and the reformists, supporting the Holy Synod, has been somewhat appeased, and the Holy Synod is now inviting the Tikhonite Bishops to participate in the conclave and to join in discussing means of adopting Russian church life to the conditions of the Soviet political regime.

The Holy Synod unites more than 60 per cent of the Russian Orthodox faithful. The numerous ecclesiastical groups which were formed in the beginning of the split in the Russian orthodox church in 1921 have now joined either Tikhon's followers or the Holy Synod. Thus, the only two parties in the Russian Church remain the Tikhonites, which are headed by the "black" clergy and are opposed to any reforms in the church, and the Holy Synod, which is supported by the secular clergy and which wants to bring Russian church life in conformity with present conditions.

NEW PROPOSAL ON WAR DEBT MADE BY U. S.

French Settlement Is Changed by Debt Commission—Situation Cleared

country to pay her debts.

The third page of the memorandum, while containing no figures, outlined the American principles for a basis of negotiations, which are an approximation of the British settlement plan with such modifications for comparatively easy payments for the first ten years as French economic and financial conditions justify.

American Terms.

Under the American terms, France would be obligated to pay the United States an average of $130,000,000 annually for a period of sixty-two years. This would approximate the interest rate of 3 per cent for the first ten years and 3 1/2 per cent for the last fifty-two years provided in the British-American settlement.

In view of French conditions, members of the American commission were prepared to grant France the same liberal terms for the first decade that were accorded Poland, but they do not concede that French finances are by any means in the deplorable condition painted by M. Caillaux and his associates.

In view of the French financial condition, high officials are convinced that M. Caillaux will not dare leave American soil without first effecting a settlement with this Government. Failure to do so would result in an absolute ban on American loans to France. The dire need of a huge loan is known to be the real object of M. Caillaux opening negotiations with the United States.

Should M. Caillaux return to Paris without a settlement in his pocket, high officials declared today that an immediate crisis in the French ministry would result. M. Caillaux, it was pointed out, is not only fighting for his political life, but for the Premiership, and a ministry crisis would instantly throw him into the discard.

With all credit cut off from France, already in shaky financial situation, the collapse of the present negotiations would send the French franc plunging downward.

CASTLETON TO VISIT CHICHAGOFF PROPERTY

W. A. Castleton, mining man of Seattle, who is interested with George T. Jackson, in the Chichagoff Development property, arrived in Juneau yesterday afternoon on the steamship Alaska and will leave tonight on the motorship Virginia IV for Chichagof on a trip of inspection. He expects to be at the property several days.

Frank A. Boyle, local attorney, will accompany Mr. Castleton to Chichagof.
