

TRAILS TO BE BUILT IN AND NEAR CORDOVA

 cier. While this trail will probably be used mainly by sportsmen and pleasure seekers, it will also serve the prospector and holders of the various copper claims in the region. To further the recreational development of this section, the Forest Service will lay out a number of Summer home sites along the route of the Eyak Lake road and Power Creek trail. Also, a public camp ground has been selected and as soon as funds are available will be cleared and provided with tables, benches, fire place, and other conveniences.

A number of citizens of Cordova have requested the construction of a scenic trail to Mt. Eyak. The Forest Service will locate a route for such a trail as soon as climatic conditions will permit and make an estimate of the cost. An effort will then be made to have the City of Cordova cooperate to the extent of furnishing a small part of the cost of construction, with a view of constructing the trail this coming field season.

A trail program for the Kenai Peninsula is being worked up and construction of some projects in that region will begin this coming season.

BOY ELECTROCUTED WHILE FLYING KITE

SIoux CITY, Ia., April 14.—Dursy Rockwood, a boy of eleven years, was electrocuted yesterday while flying a kite in the outskirts of the town. The accident occurred when a thin wire attached to the kite contacted with a high-power electric line as the kite was falling to earth. The boy attempted to pick it up and received the full force of the wire's voltage.

CLOSE GAME

SEATTLE, April 14.—The Seattle-Sacramento game ended in a score of 5 to 4 yesterday in favor of the Bees, after a tie which was broken in the ninth inning by Schang, scoring on Hemingway's bunt, a contest in which "Lefty" Paul Fittery out-pitched and outplayed "Lefty" Van Gregg. Fittery figured in a hair-raising play when he covered first in time to retire Johnson, who had hit to Mollwitz, the Sacramento first-sacker, who juggled the ball. Batteries: Fittery and Koehler; Schang, Dash, Gregg; and Yaryan and Tobin.
