MORE ABOUT REINDEER INVESTIGATION AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Senior Kendrick, democrat from Wyoming, chairman of the Wilbur Reindeer Committee, told witnesses at a recent hearing that "native distress" must be eliminated before the controversies between the native and white herd owners could be settled.

Kendrick further said that co-operative plans for development of the industry was impossible until all doubt of integrity of proceedings was cleared from the minds of the natives and herdsmen.

Secretary Wilbur urged that the committee formulate grazing areas for the protection of owners in order to permit driving the herds to market. It was predicted that the herds which now number more than three million head, are our future meat supply.

Leonard D. Baldwin, president of the Alaska Livestock & Packing Company, recommended that Government experts be placed in charge of the five grazing districts, and further said that the business interests would be forced to withdraw without protection from the government.

Secretary Wilbur urged that consideration of Baldwin's plan for cooperative herd development, Chairman Kendrick said that cooperation between the Lomen's and the native owners and the educating of the natives in business methods was very essential.

Carl Lomen charged that lack of knowledge in the animal husbandry in the Office of Education, has caused the trouble. Ernest Walker Sawyer denied that assertion and representative Leavitt, a committee member, said that the natives should be given a chance to consider whatever plans were adopted.

Secretary Wilbur, within ten days will order the transfer of Indians and Eskimos in Alaska from the supervision of the Office of Education to the Indian office authorities as authorized by Congress, which also places the medical and education supervision and property under the Indian Office.

WILL MAKE TRIP WEST THIS COMING SUMMER

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—Chairman Wood of the House Appropriations Committee and also chairman of other House committees, and several officials of the Interior department will make two trips west, one of which will extend to Alaska, starting about June 15th. The delegation will spend about 20 days in Alaska. Director Albright of the National Park Service, Reclamation Commissioner Mead and other Indian Comm. Thomas or Assistant commissioner Scott will accompany the group.

Parks, reclamation projects Indian agencies and reservations, etc., will be investigated on the trip.

DIPHTHERIA AND FLU EPIDEMIC AT FAIRBANKS

KETCHIKAN, March 7th. (AP)—Diphtheria and flu epidemic at Fairbanks necessitated the cancellation of the twelve hundred mile trip of the Ketchikan High School basketball squad to compete for the Alaska championship games. The cancellation was requested by Superintendent Harry Moore of the Fairbanks schools in a wire to Superintendent A. E. Karnes, here.

PROPOSES PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Chairman Raskob proposed a platform to the Democratic National Committee, pledging support to the Eighteenth Amendment but advocating a constitutional change permitting the state-control of liquor and a substitution of voluntary cooperation for political control of business. Other measures also advocated were old age pensions and the five day week.

Senator Robinson roared a repudiation of the platform and Al Smith took Robinson to task "for jumping all over Raskob". He said that Raskob had the right to present his view. James M. Cox appealed for a consideration of the differences between the North and the South over prohibition.

Raskob said he would demand action at the next meeting either in December or January.

Representative Mary Norton of New Jersey insisted that the women wanted modification and accused Robinson of changing his position, since she had last talked to him. A plan has been advanced for raising one million five hundred thousand dollars prior to the convention toward a six million dollar campaign program for 1932.

NEW HEAD AGAIN

LIMA, Peru, March 7. (AP)—Colonel Gustavo Jimenez, was installed today as Peru's third government head inside of a week. He moved to bring about a consolidation of the military forces, immediately following his ascension to power. He also appeared to have the backing of scattered military units, whose officers pledged him their support. An official bulletin late today indicated that an understanding was being made with the insurgent forces at Arequipa, where revolt has been fostered from the first.

IS OUTLINED NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—A construction program to bring the American Navy up to the London Treaty strength, legislation and the extension of benefits to the Marine Corps, have been outlined as subjects for consideration at the next Congress.

NOMEITES SICK WITH FLU AT JUNEAU—NO DANGER

Alfred J. Lomen writes of Doing at the Capitol—Tells of Pioneer Convention Activities—Governor Ball Next Tuesday—Flu metters Sick of Flu at Juneau.

At the request of the publisher of the Nome Nugget Alfred J. Lomen, Senator from this division, wires the following interesting news items. Before sending his information the Nugget informed Mr. Lomen that we had already received all information relative to the opening of the legislative bodies, in order that duplication may not occur. The preceding events will be found in the other columns of this issue under page three and four.

Juneau, March 6, 1931. Nugget, Nome.

The Pioneers convention held February 25th to 28th was harmonious, interesting and constructive. Nome was represented by Senators Sundquist and Lomen and Representatives Burgh and Nylan.

The convention authorized the issuance of charters to "Log Cabin organization" for juniors and passed a resolution for the construction of a Pioneers Home at Anchor age.

Juneau entertained the convention royally.

The Governor's reception and ball is scheduled for Tuesday, and Nomeites and their wives will be there with bells on to show them we are not out of date or step with the times or fashion.

Senators Sundquist and Lomen today introduced a bill authorizing the territory to reimburse deputy George Wagner in the sum of $2500 for monies expended while accompanying Dr. Benson during an epidemic in the winter of 1928 and 1929.

Nomsites Sick of Flu Mr and Mrs. George Hellerich, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sundquist, Henry Burgh, Cliff M. Allyn, Andy Nylan George McKay and many others have been confined to their rooms on account of an attack of flu. However, all are improving and they are in no danger and hope to be going strong by Monday next.

What to use in place of money is our greatest worry this session, but we do not believe it is as dark as it is painted to us here. Greetings to all.

Alfred J. Lomen.

SIGNS TRUCE

NEW DELHI, India, March 7. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, and Viceroxy Lord Irwin signed a truce today ending a year-long civil disobedience campaign. This has been regarded around here as a triumph for Gandhi's doctrine of non-violence, paving a way for self government.

WHOOPIING COUGH BREAKS OUT FAIRBANKS, MARCH 7. (AP)—

Whooping cough raging in the Goodnews Bay district has already caused fourteen deaths. It was reported to Dr. J. A. Sutherland today, local Territorial Health Officer, by Dr. Myers of the Bureau of Education who was sent there.

DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—The National Committee of the Democratic party, meeting here have caused several of the party leaders and chiefs to come forth and state their views to the press.

Despite the fact of several small groups wishing to "hask" out hard problems of the party, the majority of those present are agreed that the meeting will wind up with harmony on all sides, including the question of the prohibition highlight in the 1932 campaigns.

Al Smith was on hand, disclaiming any knowledge of proposals for abolishing prohibition as an issue, and when interviewed gave the newspapers something to talk about.

He caused widespread comment and interpretations that he was still very much in the picture as a presidential candidate. When asked about Governor Roosevelt as a candidate, for president, Smith said "This is not the time to discuss it. It is a matter to be decided by someone more important than I, and that means a National Convention."

GETS DECISION

MIAMI, March 7. (AP)—Primo Carnera, despite his celebrated cracked rib received the decision of Referee Elmer McLeod, in a close ten round battle with Jimmy Maloney, in which there were no knockdowns. The crowd of twenty thousand spectators boomed lustily when the decision was proclaimed. Carnera's weight 273 pounds and Maloney's 200 pounds. The receipts totaled seventy-five thousand dollars. Many notables were at the ringside.

PLANE ENROUTE BARROW WITH ANTITOXIN TODAY

Pilot Joe Croason, of the Alaskan Airways, flying the fast Stearman biplane, hopped off from Fairbanks this morning at 8:16 with antitoxin diphtheria serum for use at Barrow where a large percentage of the population are ill.

The plane is expected to return to Fairbanks tomorrow via Kotzebue.

HIGH TIDE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, March 7. (AP)—Twice within twelve hours, an extremely high tide has been churned into a raging flood by a powerful on-shore gale, wrecked property which has been estimated at 3 million dollars, along the Boston coast and at this city. Hundreds have been driven from their homes and various summer communities entirely washed out to sea. No deaths have so far been reported. The Red Cross provided cots for the homeless and the city has furnished food and clothing for refugees. Much water fills the waterfront streets of Boston and in some places stands two feet deep in the stores.

AIRPLANE ACCIDENT

ROSEBURG, Ore., March 7. (AP)—H. E. Smith was burned severely about the arms and face, and P. E. Hanson was injured in the eye, in the forced landing of a Pacific Air Transport airmail plane, piloted by Grover Tyler, twenty miles east of here at midnight last night.

Smith and Hanson were from Seattle, and another passenger C. L. Stevens of Boston and the pilot were uninjured. Tyler was forced to make a landing when fire was discovered in the mail compartment. Both wings were ripped off in landing. The mail was only slightly damaged.

AGREE FURTHER LIMITATIONS

PARIS, March 7. (AP)—An agreement for the further limitations of naval armaments, involving a modification of the London Treaty, was concluded today by France, Italy, and Great Britain. The text of the agreement will be cabled to the capital at Washington and to Tokyo, with recommendations that it be approved. Foreign Minister Briand approved yesterday the proposition brought from Rome by Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Minister, where Italy had agreed. Briand said that the details of the agreement would be published soon in all countries involved, probably next Wednesday. The agreement was reported to involve further reductions from the London agreement, in which the United States and Japan will be asked to concur.
