BILLS INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE AT JUNEAU DURING PAST WEEK

Juneau, March 13. (Special service to The Nome Nugget)—Representative Andy Nylan introduced a bill carrying an appropriation of $6,000 for the building of a school house at Fortuna Lodge.

Representative George Helberich introduced a bill for permanently refunding the annual payment of $2500.00 to relieve the city of Nome in harbor maintenance.

Senator Alfred J. Lomen introduced a bill authorizing the territory to reimburse Harry Gavin of Taylor for services rendered in connection with the death and burial of John Rotaser, carrying an appropriation of two hundred and eighty four dollars for same.

Sensors Lomen and Dunn introduced a bill authorizing the government to have the laws of Alaska compiled, an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars was included in the bill to cover the cost of same.

Sensors Lomen and Dunn introduced a Memorial to permit the residents of the Yukon River to establish community connections with a limited catch of twelve thousand cases.

Senator Dunn introduced a bill for the maintenance of phone lines along the Yukon to Unalakleet, with an appropriation of seven thousand dollars for same.

Legislator Winn of the First Division, introduced a Community Property Bill.

Branch of the Third Division, introduced a bill establishing fur farming commission, which is designed to encourage and develop fur farming industry, also providing for the establishing and maintenance of an experimental fur farm, with an appropriation of $50,000 for same.

While in Seattle, Senator Alfred J. Lomen advises that he called on Colonel Griffin of the U. S. Signal Corps, and was informed that late congressional rulings prohibits the establishment of any new radio stations in Alaska on account of a move to sell the telegraph system to private interests. The Legislature will memorialize Congress its objection to the sale. It is also understood that private interests are not interested beyond Fairbanks, and the territory has neither funds nor an organization with which to handle the remainder of the system.

The Second Division delegation is organized and meeting together distributing the work of and for the interest of our division.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, representatives of the Stanford University, who spent last summer in and around the Nome section, have arrived here. Mrs. Sam Mazdis is here and Grant Elliott the pilot, passed thru here on his way to Seattle.

Everything is harmonious here. ALFRED J. LOMEN.

AUTHORIZES SECURITY WAR TO SELL ALASKA CABLE

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—The Interdepartmental Committee formed to study the coordination of government communication services, made its final report to President Hoover. Under his recommendation the navy radio stations at Kodiak and Sitka, Alaska, have been closed to traffic and transferred to the War Department stations. Congress also authorized the Secretary of War to sell the Alaska cable to private interests.

There are no prospects of an immediate sale according to a report from the department.

The War Department said that any private concern which purchases the Alaska cable and radio system will be required to continue the present service.

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—The disposal of the Alaska cable awaits action of the next Congress. The Interdepartmental report yesterday was incorrect, as the bill was only pending before this congress and was not passed.

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Reports that the Postal Telegraph Company was negotiating for the purchase of the Alaska cable, is denied here by company officials.

UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE COTTON, DEAD

BALTIMORE, March 13. (AP)—Joe Patrick Cotton, aged 55, and who served two years as Under-Secretary of State, died after undergoing a major operation on his spine and the removal of his right eye six weeks ago. The chief burden of the State Department was thrust on him when Secretary Stimson was at the London naval conference, later his health failed. His wife and daughter were at the bedside.

A TOY BALLOON BRINGS A MARRIAGE PROPOSAL

OMAHA, Neb., March 11. (AP)—A toy balloon released at a dinner party here last November, returned in the form of a marriage proposal to Mrs. Robert Tanberg, from a Fairbanks miner and prospector, named Henry H. Prentice. At the time of the party each balloon released carried a card, name and address of the sender. Prentice wrote that he found the balloon in February in a gulch above my claim in the Nanook region. My partner and I were out of fresh meat and we tracked a bear up the canyon, and finally dropped him on a high ledge 50 feet up on the side of the mountain. It was tough getting to him but I made it. On the way I found your balloon. You don't happen to be single and unattached, white, or over 21 and willing to cook grub for a couple of lone some bachelors way up here in no man's country."

JUDGE FINDLEY AND GOV. HARTLEY MIX IN POLITICS

SEATTLE, March 14. (AP)—Attacking Governor Hartley as implicated in "unfamous transactions," Superior Judge Howard Findley, removed Harry Johnson as State Director of Efficiency as recommended by the Puget Sound Savings and Loan Association.

Judge Findley as he left the bench collapsed due to having been ill from influenza.

The judge named H. J. Hoffman as supervisor of the Savings Loan Association and temporary receiver was reappointed.

Caldwell, attorney for the receiver, said he would attempt to persuade the presiding judge to call for an investigation.

The jurist said "can this court at the time of proceedings which are still pending, shut its eyes to the published interviews and state ments made by the governor, casting aspersions upon and impugning the motives of the judge of this court, which tend to bring the court of justice into disrepute and contempt?" He said that he referred to the Hartley statement that the governor would desire any attempt to go back to the system of paying attorneys fees and bonuses and that Johnson and the governor decided that Caldwell was not the right man for attorney for the receiver.

The judge said further, that it might not be amiss to inquire under and by what virtue and what right the governor has undertaken to assume the right to dictate to the court, as as to whom this court will appoint as officer or agent to assist in the proper administration of the trust of an estate, which this court alone is the guardian."

"FIGHTING JIM" ON DECK

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Judge James Wickersham, delegate elect from Alaska, who will replace Dan Sutherland, challenged the authority of Secretary Wilbur to sponsor the plan proposed by the Alaska Livestock Packing Company, to divide Alaska into five reindeer grazing areas.

Wickersham appeared before the Wilbur committee and said any authorization for agreement with a private company should come from Congress. Wilbur said he urged a clarification of range rules. Wickersham said the plan might create a monopoly favoring one company, Alaska Commissioner Phay is in favor of immediate action, and said that the committee had sufficient facts and there was no need to continue the hearings.

DENISON ACQUITTED

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Edward Denison, former Illinois Representative, was acquitted of the charge of having liquor in his possession.

POLITICAL LEADERS IN A MIDDLE

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—While Progressives talked of unemployment and industrial stabilization in an attempt to make a clear path to follow in the next session of congress and with a committee already named to carry on thru the next session in which the Independents have the balance of power, Norris directed attention to a definite program covering tariff, power, farms and unemployment.

Senator LaFollette opened the discussion with charges that the industrial financial and political leadership was broken and offered no remedy, suggesting in a conference to draft a program.

STARTING FIRE WITH KEROSENE KILLS FIVE

DUNCAN, Okla., March 14. (AP)—A kerosene explosion killed Mrs. John Turlow, aged 29 and her two year old daughter and Mrs. Edw. Turlow, aged 22, and her two daughters, aged five and two. The explosion was followed by a fire which destroyed the home. One of the women attempted to start a fire by pouring coal oil from a five gallon can into the kitchen stove. The husbands and a brother were at work at the time.

WILKINS RECEIVES MEDAL

PHILADELPHIA, March 14. (AP)—Sir Huber Wilkins was awarded the Elisha Kent Kane medal for exploration achievements by the Geographical Society of Philadelphia, at Camden, N. J., yesterday. Wilkins inspected his submarine "Nautilus" which is now equipped with numerous odd devices to make it seaworthy as well as seaworthy for its cruise to the North Pole next summer. It was announced that the craft will be christened by Juan J. Verbeke, a grandson of the famous novelist, at New York, March 17th.

DEDICATION HARDING MEMORIAL JUNE 16th NEXT

MARION, Ohio, March 14. (AP)—Hoke Donihon, chairman of the executive committee of the Harding Memorial Association, today notified Lawrence Ribby, secretary to President Hoover, that Tuesday, June 16th was satisfactory with the association for the dedication of the Harding Memorial. The president previously inquired if that date would be satisfactory.

SIBERIAN HUSKIES WIN FAIRBANKS RACE CLASSIC NEARLY 16 MILES BE

FAIRBANKS, March 13. (AP)—Jack Murphy driving Bill Corey's string of eight Siberian Huskies triumphed as victors in the H. Wendell Endicott Derby in the opening race of Spring dog racing classic, in the remarkable time of one hour and fourteen minutes, fifty seven second over a sixteen mile course. Corey's entry was a dark horse.

Judge Cecil Clogg's Siberian team came in second, the judge watched the race from the hospital window, where he is confined with an attack of influenza.

Wright's Bird Team, driven by Herbert Lawrence, were favorites in the betting, but finished third.

United States Attorney Hurley's string of 11 Siberians were outrunning the others when the lead dog slipped a shoulder blade and was carried most of the distance on the sled.

The race was run during one of the heaviest winds of winter.

The Signal Corps trophy race will be held Saturday, and Sunday. Races for Women will take place March 22nd.

SAYS COUNTRY SUFFERING FROM OVER DOSE POLITICS

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—James Burke, General Counsel of the Republican National Committee, said there will be no early meeting of the committee, because the country "is now suffering from an overdose of politics."

At the same time Chairman Pees said that the Committee plans to get "into high gear" with more intense publicity campaign, and said the organization and sub-committees are speeding up the work of State organizations. He further said we have "been running along on an easy hot, but the time will come when we must let the country know about the quiet steady constructive work that has gone on under Hoover's administration."

Chairman Pees in making his announcement at the Whitehouse said he had not gone into details with the president but planned to lay a complete program before Hoover later in the month.

NOME HARBOR ALLOTMENT WILL BE $10,000.00

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—An allotment for more than fifty two millions of dollars for river and harbor work was announced by the War Department, and includes $19,400.00 for the Nome harbor; $26,000 for Wrangell Narrows and $70,000 for Kotzebue harbor. For a refuge at Seward $10,000. Surveys in the Juneau district twelve thousand five hundred dollars.

All the allotments for Alaska, it is said come from the twenty two million five hundred thousand unemployment fund.
