THE THEATERS

ROYAL THEATER

The entire Vitagraph company stars, 20 of them, including all the leading players of the Vitagraph company are featured at the Royal today in the big Broadway star two-reel comedy, "How Sissy Made Good." Read the list: Leah Baird, Sidney Drew, Maurice Costello, Dorothy Kelly, Mary Maurice, Hugh Mack, Van Dyke Brooke, Lillian Walker, Harry Morey, Anita Stewart, Earl Williams, John Bunny, Edith Storey, Billy Quirk, Nicholas Dunaw, Wally Van, Julia Swayne Gordon, Flora Finch, James Morrison.

At different times you have seen two or more of these greatest of all stars in pictures, and during a season you likely have seen them all at different times, but never in your life have you seen them all in the same picture, and never again will you see them all in one picture. It is the greatest galaxy of motion picture stars that ever appeared in a single picture. Every one a star, and every one in a star role. "How Sissy Made Good" is the greatest comedy picture ever produced by any company at any time, and when we say this we mean just what we say—the greatest comedy ever made.

To patrons of the Royal and to all lovers of motion pictures, we say see this great production. Nothing like it was ever made before, and it is questioned if it will ever be equalled again. It would require columns to tell you about this great comedy. Come, and you will laugh yourself sick.

The second feature on today's bill is "The Exploits of Elaine," that best of all serials which has taken hold of the public in a manner no other serial ever has. This big continued picture story has the greatest army of followers of all.

Don't overlook the Royal program today.

NEW CENTRAL THEATER.

If you don't think there are stars galore at the New Central today, just take cognizance of the fact that Bryant Washburn, Ruth Stonehouse and Helen Dunbar, three of the best players in the Essanay company, all have excellent parts in "The Misjudged Mr. Hartley," one of the greatest society features that this organization ever produced, and as full of laughs as anything one would care to see. It is one of those merry, spontaneous comedies that does one good to see. Mabel Trunnell, the popular Edison player, is featured in "Olive in the Mad House," but when it comes to the oldtime heart throbs, the play with the rural environments, the production in which one can discern the aroma of the hay and clover fields and show that will make you realize there is some good in this life and that the world is not all bad, see "The Mission of the Shepherd," the great two-reel serial that is here today, and when you note this masterpiece you will be in a receptive mood to receive the great $50,000 Vitagraph production Sunday, "413," featuring Julia Swayne Gordon and Anita Stewart, in the greatest wreck on a railroad any moving picture company ever produced.

LYRIC THEATER

Here's King Baggott, the old Hot Springs favorite, in a splendid two-reel drama from Imp, "The Millionaire Engineer."

Once more King Baggott comes to the front with the most thrilling and dangerous scene ever filmed by the camera. At the throttle of a giant locomotive he plunges the big steel projectile through a burning forest in order to rescue some children penned in a burning house. The famous Marks mansion on Long Island is burned to the ground to produce this great two-reel drama from Imp, the latest Universal masterpiece. Three entire companies of the Imp went to Long Island to produce this big picture and when you have seen it you will say to yourself that you have seen the master drama of them all. In addition to Baggott in this picture are featured Arline Pretty, Ben Wilson, Frances Nelson, Rosemary Theby and Harry Myers, all stars of the Imp Company. It is great.

Victor offers a splendid comedy of class and laughs, "How He Fooled Aunt," a joy story that would make a sphinx laugh.

"A Woman's Pluck" is a remarkably pretty and interesting drama from Warner, a story of thrills and tense emotions that will hold your attention close to the screen.

AUDITORIUM

"Never Say Die." One of the conspicuous announcements of the season at the Auditorium is that Nat Goodwin, America's foremost comedian, will appear for one night only, in the highly successful comedy, "Never Say Die."

This piece was practically the comedy success of the London season, as none other has even approached its solid year of prosperity at the Apollo Theater, which has just ended.

Mr. Goodwin will be supported by Miss Margaret Moreland, and a carefully chosen company.

Billy Clifford Coming.

Billy Clifford, well known in musical circles, is coming to town with his big musical show, "Believe Me," and carries his own ladies' band and orchestra, one of the most unique shows on
