WANG.

"Wang," with J. W. Kingsley in the leading role, which has been the alk of the city for a long time, comes to the opera house, for one night only, on the 19th.

"Wang," which has probably had the greatest popular success of any modern comic opera, is to be introduced for the first time in this city next week. The opera has for the past four seasons been one of the greatest money makers that ever delighted a lucky manager. This fact has this season made it possible for an unprecedented amount of money to be lavished upon its scenery and costumes which aid in depleting life in Slam under the regency appointed during the minority of the present king of that country. The company consists of 50 people and carries its own orchestra. It also carries every foot of the gorgeous scenery needed for the production, the cost of this scenery being in the neighborhood of $5,000
