OUR STANDARD—Right, Truth, Justice in all our dealings with the public; political, social and industrial; a sense of responsibility to our constituency and our loyalty to the interests of Holbrook and Navajo county.

Business Instead of Politics

All over the country, as new budgets of public expenditure are being planned for school districts, city, county or state government, an insistent demand is arising for a lowering of tax levies.

The agitation is not to reduce efficiency or service to the people, but to cut out inefficiency, waste, duplication of offices, useless commissions and extra help, which has been the chief cause of adding the disproportionate burden of overhead to government in comparison to the growth in wealth and population of the average community.

Banks Protect Community

Never were banks doing a greater service to the community than during this era of lawlessness when robberies of all kinds are prevalent.

The less money a person carries with him or keeps in his house, the better. Petty stealing, burglary and robbery are among the most despicable crimes, and are usually committed, not by people who are hard up, in the sense of being out of employment or funds, but by professional crooks who prey off the industry of others.

Altogether too much public sympathy is wasted on this class of criminals.

Banks are doing more than any other industry to run these lawbreakers to earth, and at the same time offer facilities for protecting savings and valuables from pillage.

Modern business could not be transacted without the checking account made possible by the modern bank. Without banking facilities every business firm and every home, in days like these, would have to have armed guards to protect life and property.

Mob Rule vs. Government

Newspaper reports from Taft, California, state striking oil workers have organized an army of 2500 men, officered by 450 ex-service men. That this military machine is complete in every detail, with outposts, signal corps and spies in San Francisco and Los Angeles to report the movements of the oil companies. Patrols are stationed on the roads and strangers must give a satisfactory account of their business before being permitted in the oil fields.

Press reports state that the strikers' army is supreme, and that the bringing in of a large number of men to work in the oil fields would mean a battle to the death.

What is it all about? Merely a vain attempt to maintain war wages and working conditions, by right of might at the expense of the whole community, when conditions are returning to normal, prices are receding and wages are being revised to a new basis. On the theory that these strikers are working, wage scales would be established not in accordance with economic conditions or the workers' ability.

Mob rule and intimidation of the public would establish the standard, and this standard would be as high as the strength of the union involved could force from the employers. Any thinking man knows that a system of this kind would fail in a country having any form of government to protect personal rights or property rights. If mob rule of this kind can be successful all forms of stable government are wiped out.

Strikes of this character can only fail so long as any semblance of established government remains, and the oil workers and the railway employes who are threatening to strike will learn this to their sorrow in spite of the millions they are raising to maintain strike benefits.

The People Still Rule

With a railroad strike threatened, some politicians, as well as some so-called labor leaders appear to overlook the fact that though the railroads were returned to private control the public is still paying the bills caused by artificial rules, regulations and wage scales forced on the railroads for political purposes.

In all countries the price of commodities has been revised downward.

In the United States farm products are lower in price than for many years and the price of other necessities of life has been sharply reduced. Wages of labor generally have been lowered in consonance with reduced cost of living. Justice dictates that all be treated alike.

But railroad labor, which is the highest paid of all, brazenly says that changes in wages and working conditions will not be accepted. Not only does this class of labor propose to retain wages but also fifty per cent more after eight hours.

Not long ago when the shadows of the great war were gathering on our horizon this same element with stop-watch in hand forced the passage of the Adamson law with threats of a strike, a surrender of governmental power as humiliating to the public as it was subversive of popular government. No president or Congress will ever dare to again put the patience or tolerance of the people to such a test.

The situation has entirely changed since then. The stop-watch is now being held by the public, more determined than the radical labor oligarchy ever was that exploitation of the public shall cease.

Strike or no strike the public is determined that You'll enjoy the sport of rolling 'em with P. A.!

FIRST thing you do next go get some makin's papers and some Prince Albert tobacco and puff away on a home made cigarette that will hit on all your smoke cylinders!

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good, for man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness--well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly—you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a smoke revelation in a jimmy pipe or a cigarette!

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red bags, tily red tins, hand-some pound and half pound tin humidors and in the grand crystal glass humidor with sponge moisture top.
