

DIAZ OVERTHROWS MADERO REGIME

ing American lives and property.
 EL PASO, Feb. 10.—An armistice practically exists between the Federal and Rebel forces in northern Mexico, pending a settlement of the situation at the capital. This is admitted by rebel agents and federal commanders. Assurance that American lives and property will be protected in districts in his charge came from General Rabago, chief of the northern military zone. This message was transmitted to Washington.
 Manuel Lujon telegraphed Diaz asking for recognition of the Northern revolutionists and requesting that Orozco be named commander in chief, with Salazar acting commander, as Orozco's whereabouts remain in doubt.
 No change is to be made in the border patrol of the United States troops.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—The army rose in revolt Sunday in Mexico City, took possession of the public buildings, shot down federal adherents in the streets released General Felix Diaz from prison, falling into line under his banner and virtually captured the Mexican capital.
 Gustavo Madero, brother of President Madero is a prisoner.
 After some street fighting in which about 150 were killed, the government succeeded in regaining partial control. President Madero led the loyal troops for a part of the time. The insurgents released Felix Diaz and Bernardo Reyes. General Villar, a loyalist, was killed in one of the conflicts.

Felix Diaz and his followers gained control of the city early in the afternoon. He took possession of the palace and captured the arsenal by assault. Only a few scattered companies of the city garrison maintained an appearance of loyalty to the administration.
 General Bernardo Reyes, ex-secretary of war was shot through the head and killed in front of the national palace. The revolt of the troops took place early in the morning at frequent intervals throughout the day.
 President Madero and members of his cabinet took refuge in the national palace where they were besieged but with some of the loyal troops at his back, he succeeded in defending the palace from the assaults of the revolutionists.
 President Madero and his family have taken refuge in the Japanese legation tonight and the president is making a fight despite what appears to be enormous odds, for the retention of his power.
 Diaz is now at the head of the majority of the capital troops including the most of the artillery and in possession of the arsenal and powder works nearby.

Madero is relying on the loyalty of General Blanquet, who has been summoned from Toluco, 40 miles distant. But Blanquet has only one thousand at his command and the rebels are confident of defeating him should he refuse to join the revolt.

The day was marked by four separate engagements of the most sanguinary of which was in front of the palace but the most important was that which terminated in the formal surrender of the troops of artillery at the barracks.

It is believed that not less than 200 were killed, among them General Bernardo Reyes.

Led by the students of the military school they first released Diaz and then Reyes with no resistance.

Portions of the First Cavalry, 24th Cavalry, and 20th Infantry quickly joined the revolt. General Mondragon who was in command retired in favor of Reyes and Diaz.

The first encounter of the loyal troops was at 8:30 in front of the palace, Reyes was killed instantly by a bullet through the head. Many fell, among the scores of bodies were those of officers, women and boys, members of the great crowd which assembled when the firing began.

General Lauro Villar, the post commander at the capital who remained loyal, was slightly wounded as was also General Pena, the minister of war.

At the first call to arms the president took command of a force of approximately a thousand consisting of mounted police, the Capultepec cadets and a detachment of volunteers. By his side rode General Ficturiano Huerta one of the generals the public has suspected of being disloyal.

The officers finally persuaded Madero to enter the building by a side street, the same in which Reyes took refuge 18 months ago when the Maderistas attempted to stone him.

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING.

George Hardwick is a recent arrival in the city from the Tiptop mining district and stated that the general outlook was encouraging for a prosperous year. Several sales are under consideration. He states that the greatest drawback to that section is its isolation on account of no roads being in evidence, and that monied men will not become interested if trails are the only means to get into the country. All mines are very much interested in extending the north and south line through the county.

ANCIENT BURYING GROUND UNCOVERED

Skeletons Found Indicate That Race Of Giants Once Lived on Banks Of Sycamore Creek.

A prehistoric graveyard on Sycamore creek, where the grade of the Verde railway passes through, has been uncovered by a crew of laborers under the direction of Conductor C. W. Corbin, in performing certain excavations to improve the roadway.
 There has thus been revealed a very interesting situation that prevailed at some time or another, in the physical make-up of a race as is reflected in the massive remains that have been recovered, and which are indisputable of a giant type of humanity that is bewildering to those of this generation. The skull of a human is in the possession of Mr. Corbin together with a portion of the frame, that would indicate one who in life must have attained a height of at least eight feet.
 The sides of the face have been severed, but when placed in their natural position, on the head of the living they were so massive as to shield the features like unto a perfect mask. The bones of the legs likewise are of greater length and heavier than any of this day.

 That a prehistoric burying place has been determined is proven in the finding of a handful of beads, which archaeologists trace to the Toltec period. These precious ornaments were kept by the Mexican laborers, and cannot be secured. Mr. Corbin, however, verifies the discovery made, and at the time did not appreciate what their possession meant, else would have secured the lot.
 The mammoth skeleton is a duplicate of that discovered some months ago by Peter Marx on Walnut creek, which the owner retains in his possession.

The Social Mirror

(From Sunday's Daily.) FEBRUARY.

February, month of glee,
 Youngest child of winter's three,
 Comes along amid the snow
 When the winds of winter blow,
 Singing such a lively tune,
 Making winter bright as June.

Takes from art her mantle fine
 Lovers' dainty valentine.
 Tells of cupid, shy yet bold,
 Story that shall ne'er grow old
 Making maidens blush and smile,
 As they read of love the while.

Though she speedeth by so fast,
 When the winter's over past,
 She shall long remembered be—
 Youngest child of winter's three.
 —IDA M. WARD.

The social column will be discontinued during the Lenten season, as many of the hostesses have decided to rest after the numerous festivities and gaieties of the winter, so there will be quite a lull in entertaining.

Among the largest and most successful functions given this season, was the luncheon which took place on Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. John C. Herndon, Mrs. Morris Goldwater, Mrs. David W. Russell and Miss Olive Fisher presided at the Yavapai club.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the guests assembled in the spacious dining-room where tables, daintily decorated with candles, wreathed in fluffly pink and encircled with strands of smilax, accommodated the guests who numbered over a hundred.

In the drawing room and ball room, where the guests were received after luncheon, were decorations of enchantment carnations, pink tulle and a graceful arrangement of greenery. In the larger room tables were arranged for "500", while the smaller one was chosen for those who wished to sew. For the entertainment of these friends a guessing game was also introduced at which Mrs. H. T. Southworth was the fortunate contestant. Exquisitely designed bags in pink were the prizes and of the "500" players Mrs. O. A. Hesla and Mrs. James A. Hope made the highest scores of the afternoon while the "slam" honors were won by Mrs. Charles C. Keeler and Mrs. Harris.

Those bidden to share the pleasures of the afternoon were: Mesdames A. D. Adams, George Colten, J. M. Aitken, McClure, Thomas Bate, H. D. Aitken, LeRoy Anderson, H. E. Armitage, Rudolph Baehr, W. D. Baker, Dave Biles, J. Harvey Blain, Ed. Block, A. W. Bork F. G. Brecht, Harry Brisley, Z. O. Bfown, R. H. Burmister, T. E. Campbell, H. A. Cheverton, E. S. Clark, W. A. Cline, H. Colvig, L. E. Past officers of the Rebekah lodge who have formed a club to meet once every two weeks, enjoyed the social afternoon spent on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anna Henry. Her guests for the pleasant occasion were: Mesdames Isabelle Forest, Samuel Hill, J. L. Archambeau, Rudolph Baehr, Delia Rosenblack, Hattie Rogers, Belle Rogers, Mollie Morrison, Henry Suder, May Morris, Thomas McLaughlin, Kathleen Farrell.

On Friday evening an attractively arranged Oyster Supper was served in the Sunday School rooms of the Congregational Church. Delicious oysters were to be had in several different styles, with various good accompaniments. A goodly number of people took advantage of this opportunity to enjoy the occasion and also the delightful musicale which took place after the supper. The program is as follows:
 Solo—Mrs. Fox.
 Piano solo—Miss Kennedy.
 Reading—Mrs. Southworth.
 Solo—Mrs. Loss.
 Violin Solo—Miss Kent.
 Reading—Mrs. Russell.
 Mixed Quartette.

Every number was greatly enjoyed and enthusiastically encored.

A most attractive and elaborate dinner was given at the Yavapai club on last Saturday evening when Mr. B. P. Miller entertained in honor of his fiancée Miss Ella May Manning. The round table held covers for twelve, and the exquisite centerpiece was formed with masses of violets and smilax sprays, that extended over the snowy cloth. Places for the ladies were marked with dainty corsage bouquets of violets and ferns. Guests at this delightful affair included: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. W. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Stedman of the Selig Photoplay Company; Mrs. John K. Miller, Miss Meta Dexter, Miss Ella May Manning, Mr. Robert Porter, Lt. D. O. Byars.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Thomas Mays was the delightful hostess at a dainty appointed luncheon and five hundred party. Honor scores for the afternoon were won by Mrs. David Biles, who held high score, and received an attractive hand-painted plate. Mrs. Robinson, for having the greatest number of slams, received a hand-painted plate, and Mrs. George Paul received a rabbit's foot for a consolation prize. Others who enjoyed Mrs. May's hospitality included: Mesdames J. M. Aitken, A. A. Johns, James Whetstone, W. H. Timerhoff, Allan Love, E. M. Lloyd, L. E. Hesla, William Nelson, C. S. Garber and Millicent Keating.

Society is showing much interest in the Ladies' Minstrels which will soon commence its rehearsals under the directions of the Monday Club. The big event is scheduled for March.

Dame Rumor tells us that the next Yavapai Club dance, which is being planned for the twenty-second of this month, is to be a Colonial affair. This is being greatly anticipated by the younger matrons and maids as an opportunity to wear the graceful and exceedingly becoming dresses of the yester-year.

The first of a series of jolly dances to be given by the Prescottians was well attended on Thursday night in the Odd Fellows' Hall. Over seventy have joined this delightful club and one of their events planned is a masked ball to be given about the first week of April.

It has been reported that the Ft. Whipple Battalion has been ordered to Ft. Missoula, Montana.

Captain John K. Miller returned home on Tuesday from El Paso, on a two months' leave.

Mrs. M. L. Baldwin left Saturday for a three weeks' visit in Los Angeles.

LEGISLATIVE EVENTS FOR THE PAST WEEK

Measures Which the Solons at Phoenix Would Have Enacted Into Laws Of Arizona.

Special to the Journal-Miner.

PHOENIX, Feb. 8.—With the first week of the special session ended it may be said that the legislature is really down to work and that by Tuesday morning next the grind of legislation will have started in earnest.

Monday will be given over to receiving the report of Code Commissioner Patee and an address to a joint session of both houses delivered by Governor Marshall, vice-president-elect. Standing committees have all been named and the usual friendly groups of members seemingly absolutely necessary in all legislatures, have been formed.

Tomorrow the labor group will confer. It is made up of majority of the labor committee of the House and Senate and a plan for the session will be agreed to. In addition, prominent labor leaders from over the state are here to participate in a conference representing the Western Federation of Labor and State Federation, including W. F. McCandle of Jerome, Simonton of Globe, and Powell and Campbell of Bisbee. Just what will be done towards enacting a minimum wage scale law will be decided at this meeting. The word "enacting" is used advisably for it is certain that if the leaders assembled ask for any legislation it will be passed by the legislature as it is at present constituted.

Today the Colorado river bridge appropriation was agreed to in both houses and memorials were introduced which will be adopted at Monday's session, one addressed to the California legislature and another to Congress urging, each of those bodies to appropriate sums equal to Arizona and thus make the bridge possible.

In the House today the real estate men of the state were shown attention by a proposed law introduced by Kerr of Yuma, which provides an annual registration with the Secretary of State and an annual license of $10.

Lynch introduced an anti-Christian Science doctor bill so prominent in last session and which during the last days was passed by the Senate but failed in the House.

In the Senate a new bill by Senator Kinney creates the office of State Inspector of Boilers with a law for the regulation of such official, patterned largely after the Montana law.

To oppose the division of Coconino county a delegation of Flagstaff citizens arrived this morning including George Babbitt, Judge Doe, Judge Jones, and Miles Cameron. A public hearing on the bill has been arranged for Monday afternoon.

Following a hearing on the application of citizens that Santa Fe limited trains be compelled to stop at the principal points along their line in the state the Corporation Commission indicated this morning they would issue an order requiring all west-bound trains to make such stops and would defer temporary action concerning the east bound trains. Several prominent residents of Arizona testified before the committee.

SENATE STANDING COMMITTEES RE-NAMED

News Bureau of the Journal-Miner Room 203 N. B. A. Bldg.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 8.—President Cuniff, of the Senate has re-appointed the following standing

Friday night for Bisbee and will later visit El Paso. While in Bisbee they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ross.

Attorney Paul Burks of Los Angeles is visiting in Prescott for several days.

Monday Club Notes.

Federation Day at the Club was a most enjoyable occasion combining as it did business and pleasure. The meeting was called to order with the president, Mrs. H. D. Aitken, in the chair.

Mrs. A. W. Kent, chairman of the committee for that body.

UNINTENTIONAL ERROR.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

In the report of the preliminary examination of J. H. Morrison on a charge of killing Ed. Zieger, an error was unintentionally made in the testimony of the defendant. The account stated that Morrison said: "I knew Zieger had killed men and beaten up others who did not agree with him" when the language should have been: "I have seen that men shoot people down there—one Indian—I have known of his beating up several men and I never knew him to be arrested yet."

delegates to the Federation gave her report, which consisted of a most entertaining review of the work done at the annual convention at Douglas.

The club decided to hold a series of card parties open to the public the first to take place next Tuesday evening at the club house.

A minstrel show and county fair also are scheduled to take place in the near future. The meeting was closed with the serving of refreshments.

There will be no meeting of the Music Section tomorrow as the program for the day has been indefinitely postponed.
