DESPERATION AT MEXICALI

Everything Has Gone Wrong With Insurrectos

IN FACE OF THE ENEMY

Commander-in-Chief Deserter From American Army. Former "General" Leyva Trying to Borrow Money to Get Away From Scene.

Mexicali, April 1.—With Leyva seeking funds to finance a safe exit from the zone of war, with Salinas declining to command the insurrecto forces and with Stanley Williams, heretofore known as General Stanley, now alleged to be a deserter from the United States army as their commander-in-chief, the insurgents are awaiting the onslaught of the federals under Mayot.

Stanley was the third choice of the junta and was selected only when Francisco Vasquez Salinas, the former federal officer declined to accept the command. Leyva's inglorious retreat from Tecate is given as the reason for his reduction to the ranks. Williams signaled his accession to authority by making a really military disposition of his forces. His first line of battle has been established at Packard, four miles southeast of this place, where it is expected that the main attack will be made. Here the men of his individual command, who are nearly all Americans are digging rifle pits and stringing barbed wire entanglements with feverish haste. The federals are expected to arrive on Wednesday.

Although Commander-in-Chief Williams remains at the front with his men at Packard, the garrison here, composed almost entirely of Mexicans, is in command of Salinas.

Leyva, accepted his reduction with anything but good grace. Up to today he denied that he had been supplanted. But when he went among the saloonkeepers and merchants this afternoon seeking tribute, he was followed by an agent of Williams who instructed all persons approached by Leyva not to contribute to the deposed commander.

"He is no longer general here," said one insurrecto to one of the saloonkeepers. "Don't give him anything. He wants money to beat it back across the line. He would have done this last night if he had had the money to pay his fare."

Lack of funds has seriously hampered Leyva in his attempt to get away, for once across the line he faces the necessity of evading the American civil authorities who are prepared to arrest him for violation of the United States neutrality law.

The organization by Berthold and Leyva of an armel expedition in Holtville last January, prior to their attack on Mexicali, has caused the secret service men to spend much time at the former place. The evidence unearthed, it is said will warrant the arrest and trial of several American insurrectos if they ever are driven across the line by the misfortunes of war.

C. W. Richards, an American captured at Tecate last week and taken to Ensenada by the federals was at first reported to have been an attaché of the office of United States District Attorney McCormick at Los Angeles. He is now believed to be a private detective employed in Los Angeles by the Mexican government. The federals mistook him for an American insurrecto.

A SOCIALIST MAYOR

Berkeley the First California Town to Have One.

Berkeley, Cal., April 1.—For the first time in the history of California, a socialist was elected mayor of a city in this state when J. Stitt Wilson, one of the most prominent socialists on the Pacific coast, today defeated Beverly Hodghead, the republican incumbent, by a plurality of 284 for mayor of Berkeley. Wilson received 2750 votes and Hodghead 2466.

Wilson was the socialist candidate for governor last November. He was formerly a minister of the gospel.

Today's election was a primary election, in which socialism was the principal issue. There were only two candidates, and according to the charter of the college town, today's contest is a decisive and no further election will be necessary.

The campaign was unusually spirited, Wilson advocating the acquisition by the city of all public utilities. It was supposed that a large number of students of the university were socialists, but out a total of 288 votes in the precinct where most of the students reside, only sixty were cast for Wilson.

ITALIAN SUICIDE.

Discovery of the Body of Slayer of Two Men.

San Rafael, Cal., April 1.—The discovery today of a body identified as that of Giuseppe Cegli, shot through the head and lying in a field near here ended the search for the man who on March 11 murdered John LaFrench, a rancher and Augustine Albertoni, and twice shot Mrs. LaFrench. A revolver was found by the side of the body.

LaFrench and Albertoni were shot at dawn while milking cows. Mrs. LaFrench who survived gave a fair description of the murderer who, she said, had applied for work the night before and been taken in and fed. She said the man acted queerly during supper. His description as she gave it corresponded with the body found today.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

Deadly Effect of New Rifle in Hands of California Boy.

Ukiah, Cal., April 1.—Ralph Herrington, a sixteen year old Hopeland boy tonight shot his elder brother Clyde between the shoulders, breaking his back. No hope is entertained for the victim's recovery.

The shooting was accidental and occurred while Ralph was looking over a new rifle. As he started to slip a cartridge into the magazine the hammer struck and exploded it. Clyde Herrington is eighteen years old.

Ralph Blosser, a tinner, arrested today is alleged to have confessed his attempt to rob the bank. Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Grace Blosser was found dead in bed at their home. She died of poison, believed to have come from a suicide. The confession of Blosser of the attempted robbery is causing an investigation of Mrs. Blosser's death.

DILATORY ELECTORATS.

Mack Urges Early Election of Colorado Senator.

Denver, Colo., April 1.—An urgent telegram to Colorado democrats from Norman E. Mack, chairman of the democratic national committee failed of its purpose today. It pleaded for the immediate breaking of the senatorial deadlock mentioning April 4 as the date when Colorado should have a democratic senatorial representation.

It will be impossible for when an adjournment was taken today the legislature decided not to get down to active work again, until April 5.

SAVE TIME AND MONEY

Democratic Rules For Sixty-Second Congress

A CAUCUS AGREEMENT

Cutting Out of Superfluous Appointees and Committees Will Reduce Expenses Annually $182,000—A Stop to Waste of Time.

Washington, April 1.—In a party caucus, noteworthy for harmony and the smoothness of its progress, the democratic members of the new house of representatives adopted without change, the committee assignments, the economy program and the rules prepared for the coming session by the committees that have been working on them the last month. Important changes in procedure will result from the action of the caucus. The power of naming committees was definitely taken from the speaker and lodged with the house itself. Committee members are to be elected by the house, not only in the first instance, but also in the filling of vacancies.

A saving of $182,000 in the annual cost of running congress is promised through the cutting off of superfluous employees and inactive committees; and through the abolishment of the time-honored "extra month's pay." Appointive places are put into the hands of one committee, a special body to be known as the committee on organization, and the scramble for congressional positions will center about its door.

The important changes in the rules under which the new congress will operate are: The selection of committees by the house.

A provision to prevent filibustering under the rule giving authority to discharge committees from the consideration of bills.

A provision permitting amendments to appropriate bills whenever those amendments will result in the retrenchment of national expenditures.

Authority for bills to come up twice for passage under the unanimous consent privilege.

The rule to prevent filibustering on a motion to discharge a committee from the custody of a bill is a result of a filibuster conducted in the last session by Representative Mann of Illinois. He had the postoffice reorganization bill placed on the calendar under this rule, and recommended that it be read completely, an operation that consumed several days.

The new rule provides that a bill shall be read only by title and that its title shall not be more than one hundred words long.

It prohibits any member from having before the house at any one time more than two motions to discharge committees from the custody of bills. This rule the democrats believe can be made to work as it was originally intended, to prevent burying of bills in a renewal of the so-called Holman rules, first used by the democrats in 1875. It permits amendments to appropriation bills of wide character when these amendments affect a reduction of federal expenditures.

The democratic caucus met in the house chamber this afternoon and the session continued throughout the afternoon and evening.

It was presided over by Albert S. Burleson of Texas, as chairman, with Mr. Ashbrook of Ohio, secretary. It disposed of the rules, committee assignments and the economy program before six o'clock and completed the election of the officers of the house tonight.

The officers elected was as follows: Clerk, South Trimble of Frankfort, Ky.; sergeant at arms, U. S. Jackson of Indiana; doorkeeper, Joseph S. Sinsott of Virginia; postmaster, William M. Dunbar of Augusta, Ga.

Following the adoption of the rules, Chairman Henry of the new rules committee said they would be offered in the house on Tuesday immediately after the preliminary organization of the Sixty-second congress.

In an effort to reduce the house payroll and dispense with extra employees, the democratic caucus authorized sweeping changes. The abolishment of ninety-eight appointive positions, and the dropping of six standing committees from the house list, are important features of the plan.

A GOLF CHAMPION.

Pinehurst, April 1.—Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater, was an easy winner in today's 36-hole final round for the championship trophy in the eleventh annual United North and South amateur golf championship tournament. His victory over Robert Hunter of Weeburn was six up and five to play.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SHOOTING.

Arizona Lost Last Week to Columbia by a Score of 1879 to 1675.

Washington, April 1.—The Massachusetts Agricultural college and the University of Iowa are tied for first place by a clean score of twelve wins in the intercollegiate rifle shooting league matches.

The results of the twelfth week: Columbia defeated Arizona, 1,879 to 1,675; Iowa defeated Dartmouth; Cornell defeated Rhode Island; Washington state defeated Missouri; Massachusetts Agricultural defeated New Hampshire; Purdue defeated Princeton; North Georgia Agricultural defeated Louisiana state by default; Minnesota defeated California by default.

THE COLORADO LEVES.

The River Is Now Held Where It Belongs.

Yuma, Ariz., April 1.—The levees for control of the Colorado river in Lower California are completed and the grading stock and equipment taken into Mexico from the United States have today been returned. The levees in all are 21 miles long. The railroad trestle across the new channel of the river has been repaired and the dumping of rock from it into the river to force the water back into the old channel has been resumed.

SHE HAD NO PART IN HUSBAND'S MURDER

But Mrs. Powell More Closely Connected Dr. Chisholm With It.

San Francisco, April 1.—Mrs. John D. Powell, taken into custody yesterday under the name of Blanche McCready, made a statement to the police today of her connection with the case of Dr. L. C. Chisholm, in jail at Santa Rosa charged with the murder of her husband whose body was found in a deserted cabin near Fort Ross, Sonoma county, March 19.

She denied the existence of a murder conspiracy with Chisholm, but said that shortly after her marriage, about three years ago, Chisholm persuaded her to urge Powell to take out $2,000 life insurance. Her husband died so, naming his own estate as the beneficiary. Chisholm made out the policy, and later at his suggestion she induced Powell to have the policy changed to one in her favor. The last payment on this policy was made on March 8 of this year.

Mrs. Powell said she did not know that Chisholm had gone away with her husband, and she knew nothing of the murder until she read of it in the papers. The life insurance policy and papers relating to it were found in an attic of the residence of the physician, where Mrs. Powell was employed as a domestic. When she learned of the crime charged against Dr. Chisholm she burned the papers.

LANGFORD-McVEY FOUGHT TO A DRAW

The Latter Showed Better in the Last Half.

Paris, April 1.—After several postponements the twenty-round bout between Sam McVey and Sam Langford, the American heavyweight pugilists, took place tonight in the Cirque Paris. The fight ended in a draw although Langford who holds the heavyweight championship of England, completely outclassed his larger opponent from San Francisco.

For nine rounds Langford, landed on McVey as he pleased and the latter showed signs of distress but he came fresher in the tenth and from then on was fortunate to last out the contest. There was a great deal of fighting and the referee was constantly forced to intervene. The faces of both negroes showed signs of severe punishment at the end.

The fight was for a purse of $10,000.

DARK BLUE WINS.

Result of the Annual Oxford-Cambridge Event.

Putney, England, April 1.—Oxford won the annual boat race from Cambridge today. The dark blue led from the start and won by three lengths. The day was perfect. It was Oxford's thirty-seventh victory. Cambridge has won thirty contests.

LAS VEGAS KIDNAPERS HIDING NEAR CITY

PURSING POSSES HAVE BEEN CALLED BACK.

A Result of Investigation by Private Detectives.

Las Vegas, April 1.—The ability of the abductors of Little Waddo Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Rogers, to elude numerous volunteer possees and law officers for thirty-six hours after the $12,000 ransom was paid, has only accentuated public indignation against them. Tonight Las Vegas citizens are so incensed that it is feared an early arrest of any suspect would mean summary action.

All day, while posses have been scouring the country, mounted police, private detectives and local officers have been running down clues. Late today officers directing the chase became convinced that the abductors are still in Las Vegas or the immediate vicinity. Couriers were sent out at once to call in the posses to assist in establishing a cordon around this city and nearby localities which might serve as a rendezvous.

The inability of Mrs. Rogers to furnish a detailed description of the abductors has given officers very little definite information upon which to base their operations. H. L. Waddo of Kansas City, the millionaire grandfather of the kidnaped boy, reached Las Vegas tonight to assist in directing the search.

The latest clues would indicate that five persons were implicated in the abduction, four men and one woman. Among the leaders there is a feeling that if the abductors are not captured within twenty-four hours the pursuit probably will develop into a "waiting and watching game."

THE BRITISH CENSUS TO BE TAKEN TONIGHT

The Suffragettes Trying to Make it a Failure

London, April 1.—A band of 1,300 enumerators has been enlisted to take the decennial census of the United Kingdom. The entire population will be enrolled during tomorrow night. Papers containing sixteen questions have been distributed among the houses.

The enumerators will collect the papers in the early hours of Monday morning. The results are expected to show an increase of population of 2,500,000.

The suffragettes are trying to ruin this census, urging the women to refuse to answer any questions. For several days well dressed women have paraded the streets wearing sandwich boards placarded: "No votes, no census."

Mrs. Pankhurst, and other leaders have hired a skating rink where they propose to spend the night with as many women as they can persuade to join them in resistance to the information seekers. A refusal to reply to questions is punishable by fine. The police will enumerate all the homeless ones wandering in the streets or sleeping out of doors.

"It is to be hoped that this policy of the federal government will be seconded by the governors of the states which by reason of the administrative instrumentalities depending on them, are better able to remedy the evils in question."

"Furthermore, measures will be taken to demonstrate my firm purpose to give heed to reasonable complaints made against some authorities, especially those in closest touch with the people."

TOOK CHILD FOR COMPANY

Mortally Wounded In Duel He Killed Little Daughter

A LOS ANGELES TRAGEDY

The End of Adventurous Career of Spanish Tailor. Fatal Shooting Which Was the Outgrowth of a Woman's Remark.

Los Angeles, April 1.—Staggering, mortally wounded, from the hallway of an apartment where he was engaged in a revolver duel with George Koerner, S. L. Dania, a tailor of Spanish birth, fired the shots remaining in his revolver at his little daughter, Ledelia, aged six, shouting as he did, "Darling, if I must die, I will take you with me."

"At the third shot the girl fell with a bullet in her back. A little playmate her own age ran to where the child lay stretched on the sidewalk and raised her to a sitting posture. "Lee, you are not hurt," she asked. "No," she said, but an instant later she exclaimed, "Oh, my back!" Before she could be carried to the hospital, a block away, she died.

Dania, aged 57, is tonight at the county hospital at the point of death. One of Koerner's shots pierced his throat and neck and another entered his right breast. Koerner, who is a Kentuckian, 35 years old, is uninjured and is in custody at the city jail.

The trouble between the two is said to have been caused by a remark made by Koerner's wife, with whom he was walking past Dania's apartment at 452 South Grand avenue. Dania had been married three times and was separated from his present wife, a young woman of Spanish descent, whom he married in San Diego about eight years ago. Dania quarreled with his wife several months ago and was seen by the neighbors to beat her. Mrs. Koerner, it is alleged, remarked to her husband, "There's the man who beat his wife."

Dania overheard the remark and attacked Koerner with his fists. After a short struggle Dania retreated to his apartments, pursued by Koerner, and a moment later shots were heard. Dania staggered to the doorway, bleeding from his wounds, and commenced shooting at his daughter.

Dania's career as related by his wife was an adventurous one. He was a sailor for many years along the South American coast. Then he became a captain and sailed a man in a fit of rage and escaped to Mexico. For many years he was said to have been the leader of a band of desperadoes on the northern border and amassed a considerable fortune.

During his time he was known by many different names. Later he came to the United States, studied and for eight years was a Methodist minister in Boston. He became a well known public speaker in New England, and it is said, stumped Massachusetts for Bryan in the latter's first campaign. He invested heavily in mining stocks which turned out unfortunately. Just before his last marriage, he came to Los Angeles and opened a little tailor shop. He became a socialist after the loss of his wealth, which is believed to have preyed upon his mind which became unbalanced.

Dania's wife, when informed of the tragedy, was overcome with grief. "Oh, why did I ever leave her with him," she cried. "He often threatened to kill us both."
