

Make Friends of Your Customers!

THIS WE ARE ENDEAVORING TO DO, and we are egotistical enough to think we are succeeding. Our idea of making friends of our customers is that we give them exactly what is asked for and the very best goods we can buy. We never say "Cut Below our Competitors' Prices," but give you always the lowest possible price, consistent with good goods. Some have two prices—ASKING PRICE and a TAKING PRICE, the latter when they see you have purchased elsewhere the same article. We have only one price and adhere strictly to it, and when we give you a price it is always our lowest.

- Tooth Brushes. Have just received an elegant line of imported Brush and are selling these for 15c, 25c, 35c and 50c. They are a snap while they last.
- Hair Brushes. The largest and most complete line in Arizona. All styles and prices 50c to $3.00. Call in and see them. They are beauties.
- Bath Brushes. This is our long suit. Anything you want, 25c to $2.00. Nice Bath Mats Brush one side and Loofa on the other, 25c.

WE HAVE THE FORMULA AND ARE MAKING THE CELEBRATED

ORANGE FLOWER SKIN FOOD.

It is the Greatest Wrinkle Eradicator of the age, used by all the Ladies of San Francisco. The Chronicle a few days ago was full of praise about it. We are selling this preparation for 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar.

FEN S. HILDRETH,

The Wide-Awake Druggist.

Hotel Burke Corner. Send Us a Mail Order and See How Prompt We Are.

We are neither undercutting nor upcutting our competitors. We have a snug little corner in a snug little corner, and will give all nationalities a true American run for their money. The question of one's birth place, his present condition or previous servitude being of little concern. I am simply a Druggist, born in the United States.

WEDNESDAY'S DAILEY

Captain and Mrs. C. A. Weeks left this morning for their home in Chicago after a residence of nearly a year in Prescott, during which time the former has been in charge of the construction work of the Del Rio water system. Prescott people regret to lose the society of this excellent couple.
J. H. Hise has returned from a trip of several weeks in the east, en route to the capital for the development of Arizona mines. He reports excellent success and says that there are great prospects throughout the east in reference to Arizona.
Geo. Te Jow, a well known Chinese resident of Prescott, left this morning for Chicago, where he intends to engage in business and remain permanently.
Rev. E. B. Taft of Albuquerque, New Mexico, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.
The Prescott Typographical union attended the memorial services in a body at the Episcopal church yesterday. This was the only organization in town that took official recognition of the day.
John Lawler returned Thursday morning from a visit to the Hillside section. He is engaged in building a road from the hillside to the town. This is the first of a permanent and ample water supply. Rates should be very moderate. The surveyer would be well to remain, but whether they will or not remains to be seen. The surveyer seemed to be very critical in his examination of the Journal-Miner office and seemed to be looking for some excuse to keep rates as high as possible.

At Peace.

A few weeks ago a body of scientists assembled at Denver and in humanly announced to the world that Adam was a myth, therefore Jesus was not divine and the Bible was not true. Their announcement was telegraphed all over the country, and published in the newspapers and read by a good many people.
In the eyes of these scientists this settled the question forever. But God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform.
A few days ago William McKinley, scholar, statesman, president of the United States, died. Around him were gathered the highest men of the American nation, their eyes wet with tears and their greatest hope centered on this result. It will not be until the day 75,000,000 people stood, listening for words of encouragement or news of his death. It was a dark and gloomy hour—dark for the people but dear for Mr. McKinley. Around him was all the glitter, adulation and pomp of the world, beckoning to him to live and enjoy life in front of him flowed the icy, cold and murky waters of the Sixty. It was the hour that tries a man's soul. He could look out upon the dark, gloomy and swiftly flowing river. He could hear the sound of death's trumpet and the roar of the approaching storm, and yet, across the river there were no lights to give him hope of another shore.
Yet, at the darkest hour, when the physicians present felt the soul trembling in the body, it was telegraphed throughout the world to be published in the greatest cities of Europe, in the lowest slimes of sin, in the darkest holes of the earth, in the brightest portions of the ball rooms, in the hovels of the most miserable of the wretched paupers, in the princely home of the grasping millionaires, under the reflecting glare of the scientist's largest telescope, on the most exhaustive treatise, and mirrored on the heart of every man in the world, that William McKinley's (scholar, wise and astute statesman, president of the United States, the world's greatest leader) last words were, "Though it be a Cross, Nearer My God, to Thee."
The weak, puerile statement of the world's scientists faded into insignificance. Jesus, the Savior, plays upon the tenderest chords of the human heart and stirs the sweetest harmonies of the immortal soul. What are the words of a few scientists compared with the hearts that have been stirred by this noble and sweet death.
In life McKinley was not perfect, but when he came to die he revealed himself as a man of God. He proved to all mankind that God lives, that Jesus died that men might be saved.
Thank God for William McKinley, the sweet, noble Christian, and thank God for his death—for in dying he did more for mankind than he could have done, had he been president for fifty years.
Be assured, Christian reader, that William McKinley's soul rests in eternal peace with Stephen and Paul and the rest of the martyrs who have gone before.—Phenix Enterprise.

Best in the West

It is not too much to say that the Los Angeles Herald's Sunday paper is the best in the west. The magazine issued with the Sunday Herald is a model of excellence. It contains more good, reading matter than any other magazine issued in connection with a newspaper outside of New York city in the whole country. Its illustrations are always good, too, and its general make up is unexcelled.
