Kingman, Arizona, Saturday, July 31, 1920.

No. 40.

WILDCATS' HITTING MAKES UNEVEN GAME WITH WILLIAMS BOYS

At Kingman last Sunday the Wildcats suddenly regained their batting eye and took the last game of the Williams-Kingman series by a score of 26 to 6.

Before the last man was out Williams had completely used up three pitchers and the gong which can only count Kingman runs had a severe sore throat.

"Hook" Smith pitched seven innings for Kingman, and he repeated his previous performance by using excellent judgment, plenty speed and excellent control. The Wildcats have a battery in Smith and Price that is far superior to any seen around these parts, and both boys deserve every commendation for their excellent work. The Wildcats played better ball in the field than against Flagstaff, in spite of the fact they were well ahead during the entire game. McKesson pitched the eighth and ninth innings for Kingman, and held Williams helpless in both sessions.

After Williams had been retired runless in the first innings, the Wildcats opened up on Tipton, the Williams pitcher, and after nicking him for several home runs, three sacks and singles the inning and game was over, for the Wildcats had accumulated six hits and nine runs.

The balance of the game was a repetition of fine batting, steady pitching and fast field work on the part of the home team.

With the Wildcat swatters hitting like fury, the fans of Kingman can look with confidence to winning a good majority of the remaining games.

In spite of the fact that after the first inning was over Williams was a beaten club, they worked every minute, and the fans and players of Kingman are of one opinion that the Williams players are generous winners and good losers. Kingman has yet to meet better sportsmen.

BACK FROM MEETING AT DOUGLAS

George B. Ayers, chairman of the Mohave County board of supervisors, arrived from Douglas this morning, coming in by way of Colton. He reports that the meeting was one of the most important ever held in the State and that the assessment of property was put on a more equitable basis, the irrigated lands coming in for their just share of the upkeep of the government. Equalization of the burden was made more proportionate and the State will now get a better view of the whole matter of taxation. While mines show an enormous decrease in taxable wealth other wealth producing interests have increased to a far greater extent than during any one year since statehood.

The other members who went from Mohave county to the meeting will arrive in Kingman this evening.

EDITOR WINS AGAINST WICKENBURG BOYCOTTERS

A number of merchants and business men of Wickenburg entered into a boycott of the Miner, published at that place with the intention of putting it out of business. The Miner proprietor came back at the principal in the boycott with a suit for damage and the superior court of the county has just upheld the contention of the newspaper. In a recent issue the editor makes the statement that he is considering the advisability of taking like action against all the signatories to the boycott document. Of course it is a truism of law that a conspiracy to destroy the business of anyone is unlawful and the newspaper can surely recover for any losses sustained by reason of the boycott. Under the Lever act this action would be upheld, without doubt.

NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE MEETS AT TUCSON

The non-partisan league, which represents itself as the political organization of the State Federation of Labor, but which organization has been denounced by Samuel Gompers, met in Tucson last Saturday and again Monday last at Tucson and endorsed the following candidates for nomination on the democratic ticket: United States senate A. A. Worsley; congressman, Carl Hayden; governor, Mulford Winsor; secretary of state, Charles de Sales Wheeler; state treasurer, R. E. Earhart; auditor, Pete Much; attorney general, Wiley E. Jones; Tax commissioner, C. M. Zander; corporation commissioner, L. F. Vaughn; superintendent of public instruction, A. C. Peterson; state mine inspector, Tom C. Foster; judge of the supreme court, A. G. McAllister.

One of the most peculiar propositions put forth by this organization is that should these candidates be defeated in the primaries the new party will then select republicans to be voted for at the general election, unless the republican candidate is rabidly against their policies. The feature is an attempt to force on the democratic voters of the state a set of men who may be distasteful to the rank and file of that party in advance of the primaries and it certainly will meet with considerable hostility from the old line party men. Had these men awaited the result of the primaries and then selected the men the parties put forth there would be some evidence of good faith on their part, but to threaten the democratic party with destruction should the party refuse to be bound by their nominations can meet with only the severest condemnation. These men are not democrats or republicans. They are putting forth a party of their own, but seek first to intimidate the old parties into the nomination of men that this small coterie of men select. It is not even left to the rank and file of the party to which these men belong, but to a small gathering brought together by the exigencies of the occasion. Can they put it over, is the question that men of the old parties are asking each other.

WILL LENGTHEN RUNS OF ALL LOCOMOTIVES

On the 15th of August all locomotives in passenger service will have to make longer runs, although there will be a replacement of engines. The run of each passenger locomotive will be from Needles to Los Angeles, the change of engineers being the same as at present. From Needles the engines will be put through to Winslow. The cause of this new departure is the lack of motive power. Much saving can be had in the use of locomotives over big stretches of track and some time may also be saved. The experiment will be watched with much interest by other railroad managements.

GEORGE ADAMS AND LILLIAN HOAG WED

George M. Adams and Lillian Hoag were married in Kingman Thursday evening by Justice J. H. Smith. They left the following morning on an eastbound train for a wedding trip.

WM. ESHOM LAID TO REST IN L. A. MON.

The funeral of William Eshom was held at Los Angeles last Monday afternoon, many Mohave county people attending the rites at which were laid to rest the remains of their old friend.

Mrs. Eshom was able to leave the hospital and attend the funeral, though her face is still in bandages and will be for some time to come no doubt.

She told the story of how the accident occurred. Mr. Eshom, Mrs. F. A. Wood and herself were driving along Harvard at about 8:30 in the evening, Mr. Eshom sitting in the rear seat and she and Mrs. Wood sitting in the front. When she came to 10th, she slowed up to see if any vehicle was coming along the street and noticing the street car more than half way up the block she stepped on the throttle with the idea of getting across before the car reached them. However she had not reckoned how fast the car was coming as it was afterwards brought out at the inquest that it was moving at 35 to 40 miles an hour. The car caught the back of the machine and hurled it across the street where the top of a water main was torn off and the water began to flow. Mr. Eshom's head was hanging down and the water running over. Bleeding badly about the face, Mrs. Eshom went to the aid of her husband, being afraid he would drown.

The car ran more than half a block further before it could be stopped and when it did the conductor and some of the passengers came back to help them. The motorman never bothered himself.

They were rushed to the receiving hospital but Mr. Eshom had been hurt beyond recovery, it was found.

ORGANIZE HERE FOR AMERICANIZATION WORK

Dr. Mary L. Neff spent a few days in Kingman this last week in the interests of an Americanization program, which is statewide.

Americanization of foreign language peoples and their training into the citizen of their adopted country is the theory that is being advanced by those in charge of the work. While we may not be up on the methods to be employed we at least believe that aliens should be given an insight into Americanism through education, and American ideals exemplified to such an extent that these people will absorb the American governmental view.

But the object of education among the uneducated alien class is to be commended, no matter in what form it comes. And also the education of the large American born population might interest the workers to some extent. The examinations of service men in the late war has demonstrated that education did not take well with even our own people and a concerted effort should be made to put them on a higher plane.

In Mohave county a strong effort is being made to bring the education of the alien under the purview of the state committee on Americanization work in Arizona and a committee will be appointed to carry on the work. This state organization is officered by John D. Loper, as chairman; Dr. Mary L. Neff, vice chairman; Prof. John R. Murdock second vice chairman; H. B. Wilkerson, treasurer; Mrs. Greigg Scott, secretary, all of Phoenix. There are a few members of the organization at large outside of Phoenix, and the local auxiliary will be composed of local people under the direction of the state organization. Of course, it will be understood, that Mohave County is not in the stress that the border counties of Arizona are in because we have a small alien population, and the larger part of this population, aside from the Mexican element that is employed on the railroad and which is not permanently situated, is rather well versed in the language and ideals of the American. There are no negroes, only one or two Japs and less than 50 Chinese in Mohave county. The Chinese children are attending school, as are the Mexican and the others, so that only the adults are in need of the good offices of the organization. The organization for this county is to be under the supervision of J. H. Rosenberg, who expects to bring together a perfected board to look carefully after the matter sometime this fall, especially after the opening of the public schools.

GARBUTT VS. SCHUYL-KILL CASE NOW ON

The action of Frank A. Garbutt against the Schuyllkill Mining company for a receivership for that corporation, was set yesterday for this morning. The receivership is asked for because of the fact that a minority of shareholders are attempting to hold up a sale of the property, or at least a large block of the stock and in this way hinder the future operations of the company. Garbutt has been putting up the dough for development until he now has a large sized mortgage on the holdings of the company. This mortgage is being foreclosed, but while this is being carried on a payment is coming due on the options held by the company on adjoining ground and to safeguard this and make safe the company holdings Mr. Garbutt is asking the court for a receivership.

It is too bad that the affairs of this company have drifted into this tangle and for the good of mining in this county we hope that an amicable settlement will soon be made. The property of the company is among the highest class in the county. It holds the old Tennessee mines and the Schuyllkill estate. The mines are said to have about 100,000 tons of available ore that carries high values in gold, silver and lead, as well as rather good values in zinc. With proper management the property should be readily put on a production basis.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS' EXAMINATIONS AUG. 11

August 11, at Flagstaff there will be civil service examination for railway mail clerks. Following are some facts which will be interesting to any who contemplate taking up this work: Entrance salary $1600 per annum, on the more important lines the maximum salary is $2300 per annum.

Within reasonable limitations all clerks employed on trains are reimbursed for their traveling expenses. At the age of 62, or earlier if necessitated by ill health, railway postal clerks may retire on a substantial pension.

Permanency of employment is assured under the statutes for the protection of employees in the Civil Service.

Age, 18 to 35; height, at least 5ft. 5 in.; weight, at least 130 lbs., except that these limitations are waived if applicant has Army or Navy record.

Common school knowledge of reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic and geography.

On Aug. 11, 1920, at Flagstaff, Ariz., and other of the larger cities in the West.

Blank forms for making application to take the Civil Service examination may be obtained by addressing the Secretary, U. S. Civil Service Board at nearest city.

CLAUDE E. SLATER, Superintendent.

SANTA FE COMPANY TAKES OVER PEAVINE

Officials of the Santa Fe have been in Prescott and Phoenix making a survey of conditions along the Peavine railroad with the view of taking over that line and operating it as part of the main system. The line has been operated locally, but hereafter the main offices will be in Los Angeles, the operating force being diverted to other points. By this new move a large saving will be made in the operating affairs of the railroad.

The Peavine was built through the effort of the late Frank M. Murphy but it was gradually assimilated by the Santa Fe.

MRS. S. S. JONES GETTING BETTER

Smiley Jones, just back from the coast, says that Mrs. Jones successfully passed through the operation and is getting along in fine shape. This is the first news that many of her Kingman friends have received and they will be much relieved by it.

REGISTRATIONS IN MOHAVE COUNTY 1669 TO DATE

The registrations of Mohave county show about the same condition as at this time two years ago. The total number of registrations to Thursday last amount to 1669. Of this number there are 1184 democrats, 433 republicans and 52 socialists and those refusing to state their party affiliations. It is said that a number of socialists at Oatman registered as republicans under the misapprehension that they could vote for Hiram Johnson at a presidential primary in this state.

The other counties of the state, with the exception of Pima and Apache, show large percentage of democratic registrations over the republicans, while the socialists show a very small total. Many of the counties are far below the registration of two years ago, especially among the mining counties.

VISITS DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

E. Elmo Bollinger returned this week from Columbus, Ohio, where he went to attend the reorganization meeting of the Democratic National Committee. Arizona was represented at the meeting by Mr. Bollinger and W. L. Barnum, of Phoenix.

Being in the state of Ohio, gave the Judge an opportunity to get some first hand information as to what the people of their own state thought of the two presidential candidates. He says that the people have absolute confidence in both as high class men and in many cases personal friends will vote for each regardless of party affiliations.

There will be two big issues in the campaign, the League of Nations and the H. C. L. problem. The liquor question will not be discussed by either candidate and the issue will apparently be decided by Congress in declaring what is intoxicating and what is not intoxicating.

Cox and Roosevelt will both speak in Arizona before the election, Roosevelt coming here first.

While at Columbus Judge Bollinger met Judge Wells who was in Ohio to attend the Harding notification and had a pleasant chat with him.

QUAKES STILL OCCURRING IN L. A.

Owing to the fact that no news to amount to anything has been published in the Los Angeles papers concerning the earthquakes there, there is much interest on the outside as to just what the situation is.

So far there has been very little damage to property. The main damage and it is a heavy one is in a business way. In spite of the Los Angeles papers' attitude reports have gone out, sometimes exaggerated and sometimes true, which have kept people from going there to some extent. Many have left who intended to stay all summer.

The reason for this is the fact that constant uncertainty has gotten onto the peoples nerves. There is a feeling that they never know what the next one will do, and they don't. When a quake comes at night, many of the guests in the hotels get up and stay up the rest of the night, and perhaps leave town the next day. There have been probably 25 or 30 noticeable quakes in there so far.

GEORGE SHEA ON SHORT VISIT HERE

George A. Shea, superintendent of the Pioneer Home at Prescott, arrived in Kingman yesterday. The sole object of Mr. Shea's visit was to register, and he expects Mrs. Shea here sometime next week to perform the same duty.

Mr. Shea was drafted from Mohave county to take charge of the Pioneer Home and that he has made good in that capacity is evidenced by the statement of Gov. Campbell that no public institution in the state shows better management. Every inmate in the home is treated as a guest of that institution and everyone there has love and respect for those in charge. Mr. and Mrs. Shea's many friends here are well pleased with their big success in the handling of this delicate position.

GOV. THOMAS E. CAMPBELL VISITS MOHAVE COUNTY

That he might personally investigate many important matters in this part of the State Gov. Thomas E. Campbell and wife arrived from Phoenix by auto last Monday evening. After a conference with prominent people of this county and consideration of road building projects Gov. Campbell concluded to take a look at the Oatman-Goldroad project now under way. The trip was made Tuesday last in company of supervisor Foster and the new road was approved so far as completed. The survey from Oatman to the lower part of Boundary Cone was also considered favorably.

Wednesday in company of L. H. Foster, Gov. Campbell and wife departed to the north part of the county, the trip being made via Searchlight Ferry, Las Vegas, St. Thomas and Littlefield. From Littlefield the trip will be made over the Virgin mountains to St. George, from which place a detour will be made into Arizona toward Mount Trumbull. At Short Creek the mater effecting homesteaders will be taken up so that the State land board may be fully advised as to the real conditions in that part of the State. It would appear that the State Land Commission selected many thousands of acres in the Short Creek country that could be homesteaded was the land open to settlement, and the settlers are asking that the State relinquish the lands to them and take selections some other place. If the governor believes from investigation that such a step is advisable he will so recommend to the land board. From Short Creek the party will go to Fredonia, in Cocconino county, where land matters will also be investigated.

In passing around the Big Bend of the Colorado river Gov. Campbell will get some idea of the country contiguous to Boulder Canyon in which the government dam is to be built, especially the upper end of the canyon, where the area to be flooded is situated. The inclosing walls can be readily seen from almost any point on the road into St. Thomas and some idea may be gained of the magnitude of the project. It is probable if time will permit, that the governor will take a look into the big canyon so that he may be able to talk advisedly to the members of the League of the Southwest at some future meeting of that organization. Gov. Campbell is president of the organization, which primarily has in view the development of this big power and reclamation project.

The road through northern Mohave county will also come in for an examination, so that in a report to the next legislature the governor may suggest a larger appropriation for the completion of the work. This project contemplates the building of a bridge across the Colorado River and 80 miles of roadwork on the north side of the river. Heavy rock work on this side of the Colorado river makes the project a rather expensive affair, but the highway will be worth far more than the expense to the state. The report of the Governor will be awaited with interest by the people of the county.

BIG RODEO HERE SEPT. 3RD-6TH

Kingman is to have an honest to goodness celebration the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th of September, as evidenced by plans now underway for the Big Rodeo. There will be purses aggregating nearly $5,000 and there will be cowboys here from all over the country.

A great deal of interest is being shown by those who expect to participate and Kingman will have a larger crowd here on those days than for many a day.

Programs, prize lists, etc., will be out in the near future. Inquiries should be addressed to the Rodeo Committee, Kingman, Arizona, M. G. Wagner, chairman.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Mass will be said at 9:00 A. M. Benediction after Mass, August 1. Father Hootsmans.
