CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Fresh Ranch Butter from the ranch of J. H. White at Wolcott's Cash Store. 3-Tf

The principal work done by the present Legislature has been to undo the vicious legislation of the Kid 15th. If they accomplish nothing more than that they will have justly earned the title of the "Sensible Sixteenth."

The question raised by the district attorney of Siskiyou county, Cal. as to whether railroad lands sold by railroads are assessable, the railroad companies and the purchasers from them holding that the lands could not be assessed, though no patents had been issued by the government, has been decided by Attorney General Hart against the railroads. Unless overruled, this decision will compel the payment of taxes on 10,000,000 acres of land in that state much of which is worth $5 per acre and the taxes thus gathered by the state and respective counties will aggregate $500,000 per annum.

All of the stories going around about the starting up of the Tombstone mines are founded upon the same basis that they have been for the past four years, with one additional feature of importance, namely, the companies are willing to co-operate on any proposition that will be a feasible one for the pumping of water and resumption of work below water level. Further than this nothing has been done, although those who are in a position to know believe that before a year rolls around some definite understanding will cause a resumption of work in the Grand Central and Contention mines. Of course every man owning property or in business in Tombstone looks forward to that time, knowing that it will come some day, and when it is consummated Tombstone will eclipse any record it made during its palmy days of '82.

THE LESSONS OF "UNSER FRITZ CASE."

The greatest doctors in Europe don't seem to know what ails "Unser Fritz." Thus are the Garfield and Grant episodes repeated, and public confidence in "expert" medical knowledge is again shaken. The effect is a revulsion. Since the fatal days of 1883, many of the doctrines of the schoolmen concerning extensive medication have been abandoned, and all schools of practice are more and more relying upon old-fashioned simple root and herb preparations and careful nursing—the only remedies known to our ancestors.

These methods and reliance are illustrated to-day in a series of old-fashioned roots and herbs preparations recently given to the world by the well-known proprietors of Warner's safe cures—preparations made from formulae possessed by many of our oldest families, and used for popular use, and issued under the happy designation of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies.

"My son," exclaimed a venerable man to the writer when he was a boy, "my son, you're yellow and pale and weak as lookin', you're needin' a good shakin' up with some sass'parilla." Log Cabin Sarsaparilla was just as necessary in the "winter supplies" of 15 years ago as was a barrel of pork, a famous medical authority says that a very general prevalence of the use of such a preparation as Log Cabin Sarsaparilla explains the rugged health of our ancestors.

While Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is an excellent remedy for all seasons of the year, it is particularly valuable in the spring, when the system is full of sluggishness and requires a natural constitutional tonic and invigorator to resist the insidious influences, and the effects of the winter. Philo M. Parsons, clerk of the City Hotel of Hartford, Conn., was stricken with a cold which, he says, "would not settle through my body. I expected it and the result was my blood became impoverished and poisoned, my eyes grew worse. I was obliged to wear a shade over them. I feared that I would be obliged to give up work."

Under the operation of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and Liver Pills, he says: "The sore and inflamed eyes disappeared. My blood, I know, is in a better condition than it has been for years. I have a much better appetite. I will take several more bottles for my own sake. Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is a great good purifier and I heartily recommend it."

Under the operation of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla used in the family now will save many a week of sickness and many a dollar of bills. Cases of this kind are almost most thoroughly tested, and the result is put upon the largest sarsaparilla bottle on the market, containing 100 doses. There is no other preparation of similar name that can equal it. The name of its manufacturer is a guarantee of its value for worth.

While the great doctors wrangle over the technicalities of an advanced medical science that can not cure disease, such simple preparations, yearly snatch millions from untimely graves.

STAGE TALK.

Jane Hading made her stage debut at the age of 8 years.

Salvin's next American tour will begin at Palmer's, New York, Oct. 7, 1891.

Charles Coghlan will this year accompany Mrs. Langtry as her leading support.

Ellen Terry has built a new London house which has cost $100,000. She will move into it when she returns from the continent.

The new California theater in San Francisco will be opened on May 13, 1891, when Booth and Barrett begin a four weeks' engagement.

Henry Irving, who anticipates another American tour next season, will bring over people and scenery for one play only—"Macbeth." Last season, on his own authority, his actual nightly expenses averaged $1,700.

The projected tour of Charles Wyndham in America has been abandoned for this season, the proposal having been made so late that it was impossible to secure the dates wanted. Mr. Wyndham may come next season.

Pauline Lucca, in an interview in Vienna, declared that the American tour of which she starts in November will close her career on the stage, and that she has bought a villa at Gmunden, where she intends to establish a school for opera singers.

Changing Their Best.

People often wonder why policemen are suddenly transferred from one section of the city, where they may have walked a beat for years, and know every dark alley and hiding place as well as every crook in that particular locality, to a part of the city where they have never been save as a citizen. At first glance it does look like an invidious thing to do, but it is not. Take a patrolman from the West End or South End and put him down in the heart of the city and he's pretty certain to make a few good captures. West End or South End crooks feel secure when they get away from the locality where they are well known, and the first thing you know they will run right into your arms with all the evidences of guilt upon them. There is another advantage in these changes, which I believe should be more frequent, and that is that the policemen become familiar with all sections of the city, and thus are rendered more valuable in any emergency.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The First American Silk Dress.

The first silk dress made in America was presented by Governor Oglethorpe, the founder of Georgia, to the queen of George III. Oglethorpe expected his colony to become rich on silk raising and viniculture, and the first silk raised in Georgia was spun and woven for the royal spouse.—New York Telegram.

"DOCTORING OLD TIME."

Striking Picture—A Revival of Old Time Simplicities.

In one of Harper's issues is given a very fine illustration of Roberts' celebrated painting, known as "Doctoring Old Time." It represents a typical old-timer, with his bellows, blowing the dust from an ancient clock, with its rods and weights carefully secured. One of these clocks in this generation is appreciated only as a rare relic.

The suggestive name, "Doctoring Old Time," brings to our mind another version of the title, used for another purpose—"Old Time Doctoring."

We learn through a reliable source, that one of the enterprising proprietary medicine firms of the country, has been for years investigating the formulae and medical preparations used in the beginning of this century, and even before, with a view of ascertaining why people in our great-grandfathers' time enjoyed a health and physical vigor so seldom found in the present generation. They now think they have secured the secret or secrets. They find that the prevailing opinion that then existed, that "Nature has a remedy for every existing disorder," was true, and acting under this belief, our grandparents used the common herbs and plants. Continual trespass upon the forest domain, has made these herbs less abundant and has driven them further from civilization, until they have been discarded, as remedial agents because of the difficulty of obtaining them.

H. H. Warner, proprietor of Warner's safe cure and founder of the Warner observatory, Rochester, N. Y., has been pressing investigations in this direction, into the annals of old family histories, until he has secured some very valuable formulae, from which his firm is now preparing medicines, to be sold by all druggists.

They will, we learn, be known under the general title of "Warner's Log Cabin Remedies." Among these medicines will be a "sarsaparilla," for the blood and liver, "Log Cabin hops and bachelu remedy" for the stomach, etc., "Log Cabin rough and consumption remedy," "Log Cabin hair tonic," "Log Cabin extract," for internal and external use, and an old valuable discovery for cataract, called "Log Cabin rose cream." Among the list is also a "Log Cabin plaster," and a "Log Cabin liver pill."

From the number of remedies, it will be seen that they do not propose to cure all diseases with one preparation. It is selected by many that with these remedies a new era is to dawn upon suffering humanity and that the close of the nineteenth century will see these roots and herbs, as compounded under the title of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies, as popular as they were at its beginning. Although they come in the form of proprietary medicines, yet they will be none the less welcome, for suffering humanity has become tired of modern doctoring and the public has great confidence in any remedies put up by the firm of which I. H. Warner is at its head. The people have become suspicious of the effects of doctoring with poisonous drugs. Few realize the injurious effects following the prescriptions of many modern physicians. These effects of poisonous drugs, already mentioned, will become more pronounced in coming generations. Therefore we can only wish the old-fashioned new remedies the best of success.

DID IT ELECT HARRISON?

The following appeared in a Minnesota paper: "Members of the Democratic party have been using all sorts of tricks and accounts for their overwhelming defeat, and numerous are the causes alleged. 'It was owing to several of the vanquished on Fourth Street the other day, opposite a bill board, and one of the party exclaimed: 'If it had not been for the closeness of the National Committee in the expenditure of money, we would have elected our man like a circus.' Several of the party remarked that no advertising was done except small announcements in the papers, and a few 'hangers' on the deal walls. 'Hangers' said our informant. 'What do you call that but a circus poster?' Pointing to a twelve-sheet medicine poster on the bill board, bearing the cuts of Gen. Harrison and his grandfather. 'If the Democrats had advertised like that, Cleveland would have been re-elected.' The poster referred to was one of the familiar black and white Log Cabin Sarsaparilla posters sent out by an enterprising firm engaged in the manufacture of old Log Cabin home-cures, under the name of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies, and among other equally valuable articles, includes the famous Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, which is everywhere recognized as the best of all spring medicines and stands without a rival for the cure of all disorders which are the results of impure blood.

The spring time of the year is the season when the system needs renovation; the long winter has caused the blood to become filled with impurities. There exists no better means to aid and strengthen the system at such an urgent period than the use of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, which speedily restores the blood to a pure and healthy state, which insures health and happiness.

The reputation of the firm putting out the medicine is above reproach, and is the same firm which manufactures Warner's Safe Cure the standard remedy for the cure of all these diseases peculiar to the kidneys as well as those which are the results of disease in those organs, and which has met with such phenomenal success for the past ten years. We understand that the posters referred to made their appearance in many parts of the country sometime prior to the Chicago Convention which nominated Gen. Harrison as a candidate for the Presidency—hence the use made of the portraits of the Harrisons, father and grandson—was either the result of remarkable political foresight or in accordance with the historical association of the old Log Cabin with the name of Harrison.
