Coxeyites and Officers Have Another Fight

In Which two Industrials Are Wounded.

Grand Master Sovereign Sympathizing and Enthusiastic.

Aimless and Criminal Movements of the Commonwealers in the Northwest.

By the Associated Press.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., May 11.—Another collision occurred between the deputy marshals and the commonwealers this morning and two more of the latter are now confined to the hospital suffering from gun shot wounds.

Word was receive during the night that twenty-five men had captured two freight cars at Ellensburg and were coming down to liberate the Coxeyites imprisoned in the county jail. The marshals refused to meet the industrials and stopped their cars by means of throwing rails across the track at a point two miles from the city. The industrials scrambled off the cars and started to run but were brought to a halt by bullets from the rifles of the marshals. Two of the men were wounded but not seriously. Others to the numer of 120 were marched to jail and locked up. The marshals claim that the first shot came from the commonwealers.

Fifty Coxeyites and a number of Yakima citizens accused of inciting the army to resistance, were started on an early train this morning under a heavy guard for Seattle.

Additional arrests are being made tonight of those charged with inciting the industrials to resistance. Among those arrested are E. H. Libby, editor of the Yakima Republic; Wm. Mayer, a carpenter; Chas. Little, policeman; Wm. Steigler and a farmer named Parker. They will be taken to Seattle tonight for trial along with the 120 Coxeyites who were arrested this morning.

Troop C of the Washington state cavalry has had orders from Governor McGraw to hold themselves under marching orders ready to move at any hour. It is supposed their destination is some point on the Great Northern.

Released on Habeas Corpus.

SPOKANE, May 11.—Col. Phillips arrived in Spokane this morning with a train load of sixty-five commonwealers whom he had arrested at Yakima, a part of them for engaging in riot and others for interfering with trains. They were brought here in order to escape from trouble that might occur at Yakima and for better protection.

E. J. Jeffries commander of the Seattle Coxeyites now in Spokane secured a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Buck of the superior court of Spokane county to compel the marshal to return the prisoners. Jeffries wired the Coxeyites at Tacoma and Seattle to meet the train on the road and it is feared an effort will be made to stop it before it reaches the sound.

Sympathetic Sovereign.

DENVER, May 11.—Grand Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor arrived in Denver this morning from Des Moines to fill an appointment to address the local assemblies tomorrow night. Mr. Sovereign is quite enthusiastic over the Coxey movement and announces that he is in full sympathy with the cause so long as it is conducted in an orderly manner.

Drowned Industrials.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., May 11.—Word has been received that four commonwealers who started down the Yakima river this morning in a boat were drowned by the upsetting of the boat. The boat contained twenty-five industrials in all. The accident occurred about two miles below town. There is no hope of recovering the bodies of the drowned.

SOMEBODY STANDS IN.

St. Louis Grain Men Find Fault with the Government Report.

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—The grain traders of the St. Louis Merchants' exchange are preparing to take action against what they charge is a leak of monthly government report on crop conditions.

The trouble comes from the fact that the government's wheat per centage has been absolutely "tipped" twenty-four hours in advance in March, April and May.

Another Iowa Lynching on the Tapis

DES MOINES, May 11.—A tramp today entered the house of a widow named Grubb living two miles east of Maxwell and assaulted her daughter Stella aged 13. Over 100 men with dogs are searching for the villain and if caught they will lynch him.

Murdered by His Cell Mate.

CHICAGO, May 11.—James Maher, a prisoner in the Bridewell, was murdered last night by his cell mate, Geo. Dunlap. Maher's head was beaten to a pulp on the stone floor. A terrific struggle took place between the guards and the madman.

The Secretary in Person.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Secretary of the Navy Herbert and party arrived today from the east. The secretary will probably visit Mare Island tomorrow. He expects to start for Seattle next Wednesday.

CARNEGIE ARMOR.

Reported Investigation of the Monterey's Plates.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—An evening paper publishes a sensational story to the effect that representatives of Sectary Herbert have begun an investigation of the plates of the monitor Monterey, at Mare Island, and have discovered serious defects in their construction.

One of the officials making the investigation is quoted as saying that places have been found where the sheet would have crumbled if struck by a round shot and that from present appearances the vessel would not stand an ordinary fire. Final tests are to be made after the informers have indicated what plates are bad. It is claimed that Secretary Herbert's present trip to the coast is partly in connection with the Monterey investigation.

RAIN AT TUCSON.

The Stock Raising Outlook in Southern Arizona.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 11.—A heavy wind storm of several hours duration prevailed here this morning followed by a precipitation. The rail fall was general throughout this section of the territory and means much to the cattle interests. The ranges had begun to need water to keep the new grass in good condition. The outlook for the stock raising business in southern Arizona is bright.

Tucker, s½, nw¼, sec 35, tp 3 n, r 1 e, $3,000.

The new city officers have gotten the hang of the thing. Assessor and Collector Wood is busily engaged in sending out notification to the merchants that there is a little amount due the license account which was temporarily forgotten in the hurry and excitement of election. The merchant will please call, etc. Marshall Molloy and his assistants have got onto dark and suspicious corners and equally dark and suspicious characters.

The Prescott Courier says: "A broad-shouldered, red-mustached and blue-eyed hobo invaded a south Prescott kitchen yesterday while the ladies were in the front end of the house, took an iron pot of chicken stew from the gasoline stove where it was cooking, and had about devoured the stew when the matron of the house appeared. The invader simply remarked as he backed out smilingly, that he had come in to look after the cooking of the chicken. When the man of the house arrived for dinner a half hour later, there was a reasonable amount of kicking." THE REPUBLICAN has already alluded to the impatient and resentful disposition of the people of Prescott. This settles it. Any man that would kick about the evidently good natured act of a blue-eyed hobo will kick about anything.

HIS BLOODY PURPOSE.

Pedro Martinez Threatens to Open an Anatomical Business.

Pedro Martinez, desperate foul mouthed and bloody minded was lodged in jail yesterday morning by Constable Garfias on a warrant issued by Justice Johnstone. Pedro had his war paint on the day before and had threatened to carve Mr. N. Crouch into little and unrecognizable pieces. He was also going to perform a like anatomical feat upon his countryman Juan Ortiz.

He had not been wrought up to this murderous purpose by any provocation on the part of his intended victims. He had just singled them out as the lightning bolt does the prominent tree. He is regarded in his alcoholic state as a dangerous man.

His hearing was set for yesterday afternoon but he was unable to obtain the witnesses by whom his lamblike disposition was to be sustained. The case is set for this morning.

A Disastrous Quietude.

RICH HILL, Mo., May 11.—Miners are all out and everything is quiet today.

AN EXPLANATORY TELEGRAM

Eph Donnelly Supposed to Be Insane.

His Absence For Two Days Arouses the Gravest Fears of His Relatives and Friends.

A sorrow which for weeks has been carefully concealed within the circle of an estimable family, yesterday burst its bounds and invited the sympathy of scores of friends who had never suspected its existence. The following brief telegram is partially explanatory:

Henry M. Donnelly, New London, Mo.: Eph is crazy; come at once.

Eph Donnelly, though a resident of the city since the beginning of last winter, resides with his mother and sister on Madison street near Fourth avenue. He is a man of perhaps thirty-five, and is a familiar figure on the street. He has many friends among the best people in the valley. He is a man of some education and is regarded as a whole-souled, companionable man and lavishly generous to his acquaintances.

Within the past three weeks there have been rumors of questionable transactions in paper but the money acquired from such transactions was spent without stint for the benefit or pleasure of his friends. His credit was good and recently has been exercised almost beyond its limit in purchases which attracted suspicion as to his mental condition. Last Saturday his more intimate friends realized that he was insane and determined to cause his arrest on Monday. The step was delayed and two days ago he disappeared since when he has not been seen and the gravest fears of his mother and sister have been aroused; hence the telegram.

For some time the unfortunate man has been suffering from a tumor on the back of the head near the base of the skull. It was examined by a San Francisco physician who detected its effect upon his mind and who predicted that within two months it would produce marked if not incurable insanity. The accuracy of the predictions is shown in the fact that the two months have now almost expired.

FACT AND FUN IN JAPAN.

Another Large Audience Entertained by Eli Perkins.

Eli Perkins in "Fact and Fun in Chinese and Japan" was greeted last night by an audience nearly as large and if possible more enthusiastic than that which heard him the night before in "Philosophy of Wit and Humor." The lecture was largely descriptive of the life, customs language and recent history of the Japanese. It was enlivened by an effervescent humor which not only amused but served to more clearly illustrate facts which otherwise might have been somewhat cold and dry though never uninteresting. In this lecture he makes a strong argument in favor of American protection. The subject is divested of all sophistry and is so clearly presented as to admit of no dispute.

He shows for instance that the labor in Japan of taking the silk from cocoons, making it into skeins, is performed by girls at 7 cents a day. In this form it is "raw material" and undutiable under the McKinley law. "Why don't you give it another twist?," asked the lecturer of one of the operatives. "Oh, then we'd have to pay thirty per cent duty on it," was the reply.

This "extra twist" is given by American girls at Lowell and elsewhere at 75 cents a day. The Wilson bill contemplates a reduction of ten per cent, or one-third of the McKinley tariff, one-third of the advantage to American factory girls, one-third of their wages.

The lecture was two hours in length and the latter end was fully as entertaining as the beginning.

Future visits by Eli Perkins to Phœnix will be welcomed with delight.

CONSCRIPTED MUSIC.

Fifteen Boys Join in the High School Rhetorical Exercises.

The rhetorical exercises at the high school yesterday afternoon were enlivened by an improvised song by fifteen boys who had regularly and successfully evaded rhetorical performances but were at last conscripted by Prof. Wollam and forced into the ranks. Then the song became a piece de resistance, a dernier resort and all that sort of thing. It was more remarkable for its inharmony than for the sentiment it contained. The alleged tune was "After the Ball is Over."

Professor Wollam to the deadheads spoke.
You've got to speak, boys, for your record's broke.
We have no pieces, so the poor boys said,
We'll sing a song of our troubles instead.
When we were young, boys—many years ago,
We had no pieces, that's—what we know.
Now we are old, boys, and cannot fool,
We must speak pieces while we go to school.

Chorus—

After the school is over,
After we speak no more.
Then we will leave the floor, boys,
For our song is o'er.
Many a heart is happy
When we leave the floor,
This is to be our last song, boys,
We will speak no more.

"Boz" Was Poisoned.

An unknown miscreant poisoned "Boz" Dr. Helm's magnificent St. Bernard dog yesterday morning. The animal was discovered in violent convulsions by Mrs. Helm who called the doctor. He recognized symptoms of strychnine poisoning and administered the usual antidotes with the result of stopping the convulsions. The dog was seized last night again and there seemed little likelihood that he would survive the poisoning. He had not been out of the yard for three hours before he was discovered in convulsions so that it is likely the poison was administered to him there. "Boz" is a thoroughbred St. Bernard, weighs nearly 200 pounds and is valued at $500. He is a general favorite throughout the town. The fact that he is entirely inoffensive leads to the suspicion that the attempted poisoning is a revengeful movement against his master.
