BUSINESS NOTICE. There are many accounts due us which we have carried for a long time. All of these must now be settled by cash or good note. There is no exception to this rule.

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT. The English prison authorities are returning to the use of the cat o'nine tails for the punishment of vicious and refractory prisoners.

Flogging for wife-beating and kindred acts of gross brutality inflicted upon children is still inflicted in Delaware and we believe in Maryland. In the Elmira, N. Y., reformatory the superintendent has found corporal punishment effective for reformation of young criminals when every other method failed. It is particularly successful when applied to incorrigible sexual perverts.

The so-called "paddle" used at Elmira is an effective instrument, and yet it is not an instrument of torture. It leaves no scars; it does not break the flesh and it is believed that if its use were allowed in all our prisons it would have a salutary effect.

The average age of the felons at Elmira is 23 years, an age when the passions of these ferocious young criminals are in full vigor. When it is decided that the offense of the prisoner demands corporal punishment he is placed with his face to a wall, the fleshy part of his back exposed, and the superintendent, delegating the work to no hand but his own, inflicts upon the man rarely more than twelve, usually only six, often but two or three blows, with a little strap barely three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness, two and three-fourths inches wide and twenty inches long. It gives a sharp, smarting blow, but does not and cannot injure. It is a more merciful punishment than the dark cell and the prolonged solitary confinement with their revolting mental torture; and yet sentimental folk favor the cell and object to the corporal punishment as cruel.

The value of corporal punishment when applied by an intelligent and responsible superintendent instead of being turned over to a comparatively irresponsible and passionate subordinate, is illustrated by the fact that over 80 per cent of the inmates of Elmira become law-abiding citizens; that is, over 80 per cent have behaved well after leaving the reformatory while under observation, which is usually for a year, and when they have passed out of sight have not come into notice again as criminals.

DEMOCRATIC BLUSTER.

The Democratic speakers just now are making some tall statements that sound well, but the trouble of it is there is no truth in much that they say. They have been talking a great deal about this country capturing the markets of the world, but it would require a long time for us to do so if we continued in the same pace set by the Cleveland administration. Here are some figures bearing upon the question given by the New York Recorder, that puts the matter in a strong light. That paper says: "During the last year of President Harrison and before the elections warned the people here and abroad that Democracy was in the saddle the foreign commerce of this country reached the highest point ever attained by the nation. The aggregate thereof reached the enormous sum of $1,857,680,160 in 1892. In 1893 after the Democracy had warmed up to its work, it fell to $1,714,006,116, and in 1894 to $1,547,138,698. Here we have a falling off in 1893, as compared with 1892, of $143,614,494, and in 1894, as compared with 1892, of $310,541,912.

In 1892 the exports from this country exceeded its imports by $202,875,686. We were then doing a good, safe, paying business, selling more than we bought. But after the advent of Democracy in 1893, the imports exceeded the exports $18,735,728, and we were buying more than we were selling.

And how did the farmers come out under Democracy? In 1892, under Harrison, $790,328,232 worth of American agricultural products were exported. In 1893, under Cleveland, the agricultural exports amounted to $615,382,986, and in 1894 to only $628,318,773. Here we have a falling off in 1893 of $183,945,246, and in 1894 of $171,009,459, in the vital item of farm products. In the face of these facts and figures the Democratic speakers show that they do not lack for audacity and care little for truth when they are attempting to make votes. But they are doing perhaps the best they can under the circumstances. They are not fortified with facts and figures to bolster up their wavering cause, and, therefore, have to draw upon their imagination.

THREE SUGGESTIONS.

The first we have made before. It is that the territorial and county committees, at once without any delay, enroll the enthusiastic young Republicans of the Maricopa League club, and outside League clubs, for the work of the canvass and of election day. Finer material for the purpose couldn't be found and needn't be wished. The paid heelers wouldn't be in it with them. But the young citizens should be enrolled, and the work intelligently mapped out and systemized. System is half the battle in politics as in other things.

The second suggestion should commend itself to every Arizona man, Democrat or Republican, who has an honest pride in the good name of the territory, who has been grieved and shamed by the corruption that in recent years has eaten its way into her primaries and elections, who want to see a halt called on vote-buying. It is that the chairmen of the two committees, the Republican and the Democrat, sit down on opposite sides of a table and figure out together the legitimate campaign expenses, and then shake hands as honest men and gentlemen on a mutual promise not to put out another dollar for any purpose whatsoever. Probably it is too much to hope for at present, but it isn't an untried novelty. It has been tried—in Connecticut—and both parties honorably lived up to their agreement. Think of the saving in money, and the greater saving in things more important than money, that this plan would effect.

The third suggestion is not original with us. It relates to the lobby. The short way to abate this nuisance and pest is to send up men to the general assembly, from all the counties whom the lobby can neither buy nor fool. They should be business men, who will look at matters from a business view, and conduct the affairs of the territory in a business like and honest manner.

COCHISE COUNTY Republicans have nominated the following winning ticket: Councilman, Chas. W. Pugh; assemblymen, A. C. Wright, C. L. Cummings, Mr. Herrick; sheriff, C. S. Fly; treasurer, T. C. Vickere; assessor, J. A. Bright; recorder, W. A. Harwood; probate judge, Wm. Bradley; district attorney, G. W. Swain; supervisors, John Williams and W. A. Gilman.

DR. A. C. WRIGHT has been nominated for the assembly from Cochise county by the Republicans. Dr. Wright was one of the most useful members two years ago and Cochise will make no mistake in returning him. He ought to be elected unanimously, and will be if the people of that county want their interests well cared for.

SINCE THE Republicans of Maricopa county met in convention and chose their candidates for the county offices the people have had a good opportunity to judge of the character and efficiency of each nominee. The general opinion is expressed that the party could not have made a better choice of candidates.

THE REPUBLICANS of Cochise county have nominated Chas. W. Pugh for the council. Mr. Pugh is a gentleman of sterling character and a high order of ability. He will certainly be elected, and we congratulate Cochise in advance upon having so able a member in the next council.

WHAT A BLESSED immunity our local Democratic orators and politicians would enjoy if men were struck dead for telling the truth.

CONGRESSMAN Wilson has returned home, but received no ovation except from the people of his own little town in West Virginia.
