The Management to Change Within the Next Year.

Headquarters of the New Company to Be at Chicago and Organized Under the Laws of Illinois.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 22.—Joseph C. Waters, formerly general attorney for the Santa Fe system, in an interview today spoke of the foreclosure of the mortgages on the road as follows:

"The road must either go into the hands of the first mortgagees, or prove itself capable of running without a receiver. The latter is impossible. The road will be foreclosed within a year and the mortgagees assume the management.

"The company will probably be reorganized under the laws of the state of Illinois instead of Kansas, which means the headquarters of the road will be transferred from Topeka to Chicago."

JULES VERNE'S IDEA.

A Boat Invented Like the Nautilus.

A Baltimore Inventor Will Construct a Vessel That May Be Navigated Under Water.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 22.—A Baltimore inventor hopes to make real the imaginary voyage of Jules Verne's boat, Nautilus, under the sea. After years of steady experimenting Simon Luke, of East Baltimore, has invented a submarine boat, which he claims is capable of accomplishing what Jules Verne suggested might be possible in the imaginary voyage of the Nautilus. Indeed, if Mr. Luke's invention is a success, the French romancer will have only half anticipated what the coming submarine boat will be capable of.

Mr. Luke says: "The boat is capable of being submerged to any depth and again raised to the surface at the will of the operator.

"It is capable of being propelled when on the surface or when submerged or on the bottom of the water, as may be required. Many of the operations in raising vessels and removing cargoes can be performed from it without going outside of it.

"The vessel is capable of searching the bottom thoroughly in locating wrecks, with the assurance that ground once gone over is thoroughly gone over. Divers can pass from the interior of the boat to the outside and back again when on the bottom as readily as they can pass in and out of a house."

The inventor expects to commence his first boat in a few weeks. William T. Malster, president of the Columbia iron works, has become financially interested in the Lake Wrecking and Submarine Navigation company, which has charge of the invention.

TRUST IN COURT.

The Sugar Cases to Be Argued This Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The case of the United States against the sugar trust will be argued in the supreme court during the present week.

The case comes to the supreme court on appeal from the circuit court of appeals for the third circuit.

It is a bill in equity to upset this trust filed by the United States under the so-called Sherman anti-trust law of July 2, 1890. This is regarded as an important one because of its bearing upon cases of a similar character touching the validity of the Sherman law as applied to other trusts.

THEY ARE ALL PRETTY.

The Woes of a Publishing House Manager.

He Advertises for a Pretty Girl to Work in His House and All the Ugly Ones Answer.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The manager of a publishing house wanted a young and comely woman to exhibit paper dress patterns in the windows of a State street store and advertised for "a little beauty to work in a store window."

Eight women have answered his advertisement and not one of them is a beauty nor little. "She must be refined," said the manager wearily, "and she must have a neat, trim figure. It does not matter whether she is dark or light. I'll dress her to suit her complexion. I just want to see the girl that suits me, and I'll pay her good money. But I cannot get anybody. It's amusing and discouraging to see the women that think themselves beautiful. The great trouble with most of the applicants is that they have a complexion past, you know, and sallow. Of all the unemployed women there must be in Chicago, it seems strange that I cannot get hold of a good looking one for such light, easy work.

Letters received here from Antonio Ezeta and published in the newspapers, assert that he has the backing of the United States government and will soon return at the head of a large army and conquer both Guatemala and San Salvador. It is reported that the Guatemalan government has been humbugged by an American ex-general from one of the Southern states, who took money for making a feint on the northern border of Mexico with a base of operations in the United States in case Guatemala should fight with Mexico. The American, it is said, secured $100,000 on his way north and has disappeared.

ALL WERE THERE

Rousing Republican Rally at Gardiner's Hall.

Issues of the Local and Territorial Campaign

Lucidly and Eloquentlly Placed Before the Voters.

Bursts of Music and Floods of Oratory Conspire to Make the Night an Era in the Canvass.

There was more than a sprinkling of ladies in the audience which filled Gardiner's hall last night to listen to the persuasive eloquence of the Republican chieftains. County Chairman McCord presided and opened the meeting by introducing Professor Thomas' Glee club, which rendered an original campaign song which was received with great applause.

Mr. McCord made a brief, but strong and convincing, address. He lucidly showed the beneficial results which have resulted to this country at large from the Republican policy of protective tariff. He charged the shirkage of values in cattle in Arizona from $6,000,000 to $2,000,000 to the iniquitous Wilson bill, and to the same Democratic legislation many other ills which have befallen Arizona.

The Glee club, consisting of Messrs. Benham, Perley and Coggins, then rendered "The Dimmyrats," which was uproariously encored.

Hon. Jerry Millay was the first speaker. He referred to the Democratic argument that if the election shall go Republican our chances for statehood are small. He reminded his audience that the same argument was used in the last city campaign and denounced it as all gammon.

He said the leading Democrats of Arizona had lost sight of statehood and jeopardized our chances for it by squabbling among themselves for office. He said that he was almost convinced that there was not an honest man among the leaders of the Democratic party and believed they had convinced congress of the same. He referred to the prosperous condition of the country at the time of entrance of the Democratic party into its present term of power, exports imports and manufactures were shown to have been in condition unprecedentedly favorable. The subsequent deterioration was then portrayed. He deprecated the laws which permit cattle raised by peon labor in Mexico and allowed to enter free of duty and compete with American sheep.

Referring to the $1,100 which ex-Gov. Murphy is charged with having drawn illegally, he said that Chief Justice Baker had expressed a legal opinion previous to the issuance of that warrant, that Gov. Murphy was entitled to it.

The merits of honest Jim Doran who came into Arizona before the railroads with his burro, pick and rifle and helped to pave the way for civilization were eloquently pictured. His experience in the Arizona legislature was adduced as an argument in favor of his election. Mr. Millay closed by an appeal for support for the county ticket.

Judge Street who had been announced as one of the speakers, was unable on account of a painful affection of the throat to be present. His warm Republicanism and his intimate acquaintance with public affairs have made him a figure at Republican meetings and last night his absence was consequently a matter of deep disappointment. He gives assurance though that he will be seen and heard by a Phoenix audience before the close of the campaign.

Perry Wildman, of Tempe, candidate for the legislature, made an earnest party speech. It was the speech of a thoughtful, modest, educated gentleman sure of his ground and firm in his conviction. Like the good business man that he is, he placed the matter of the selection of county officers before the people in a business way and guaranteed each of the Republican candidates to be all wool, a yard wide and warrant not to shrink nor shirk from duty.

J. A. Marshall, also candidate for the assembly, beginning at the top of the county ticket enumerated the candidates and the special merits of each one, nor omitting a modest plea for Blacksmith Marshall, representative of the laborer and mechanic.

C. W. Crouse, candidate for probate judge, spoke upon the subject of special fitness for office. His eighteen years of experience in the school house should be thought ought to count for more even than that he is a Republican. Mr. Crouse promised, in the event of his election, an improvement in the schools of Maricopa county, in the method and system of their management.

W. F. McNulty, who is making the race for sheriff, has a good voice. He started off with a few humorous allusions to his own personal beauty which pleased the audience. He promised to be no kid glove sheriff if elected but to do the work of the office and to go wherever duty called. His talk caught on and he was loudly cheered.

Judge Priest's hair and whiskers are white as snow but that did not prevent him from opening his remarks by a direct bid for all the ladies to use their influence in his behalf. He soon got down to a businesslike statistical talk about county affairs, than he with which no one is more familiar, and successfully refuted some of the arguments of the benighted Democratic brethren. Upon the subject of free trade, Mr. Priest touched lightly before closing. He related that he remembered the time some forty-five years ago when England entered upon her free trade career when farmers of that country were receiving as high as $1.74 a bushel for wheat and that now it is quoted there at 50 cents.

Frank H. Parker, also for the board was the final speaker. He dwelt upon the preference which supervisors who reside in Phoenix should have over those who reside at a distance.

Gardiner's hall proved to be a great improvement upon the open air rallies previously held. Nearly all the crowd were comfortably seated and remained to the end.

Bruce Perley's solo "Frank Hense" an original parody made a distinct hit.

MAY KNIFE OWENS.

Dear Willie Not a True Party Man.

Fears Entertained by the Friends of Owens That Breckinridge May Try to Defeat Him.

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 22.—The friends of Mr. Owens here are becoming alarmed at the growing strength of the Republican candidate, Judge Geo. Denny, and are casting about for a way to conciliate the friends of Col. Breckinridge, who hold it in their power to defeat the Scott county man.

That a large part of the Breckinridge people will knife Mr. Owens seems now almost certain, and should Mr. Denny poll the full strength of his party, which seems probable, a Republican may represent the Seventh district in the next house.

A prominent politician in this city who fought bitterly for Col. Breckinridge said today: "If Mr. Owens' friends do not wake up from their lethargy and do some tall hustling, their favorite candidate will be defeated. I figure that the vote will be cast as follows: Owens, 15,000; Denny, 16,000. The total Democratic vote in the district is between 18,000 and 19,000, and the total Republican vote about 13,500. Now, I believe that a moderate estimate of 300 Democrats in each of the eight counties of the district will vote for Denny, and this means 2,400 votes to be taken from the total Democratic vote and added to Denny's vote. Whether this will be borne out on election day or not remains to be seen, but one thing is certain, Mr. Owens has no cinch on the congressional chair."

Then the Breckinridge man winked and said yes, he intended to vote for Mr. Owens, but his friends were very sore, and he could not answer for them.

INFECTED CATTLE.

Kansas Sanitary Commission Brings Criminal Proceedings.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 22.—The Kansas state live stock sanitary commission was in session today, and ordered the attorney general to institute proceedings against Peter McMullin, of Burlington, and Phillip Bulger, of Baxter Springs, for shipping diseased cattle into Kansas, in violation of the quarantine regulations heretofore imposed by the commission. The cattle were shipped from Newton county, Mo., and the offence charged is the shipment of diseased cattle to a point within the district. The cattle were quarantined immediately upon their arrival at Burlington and Baxter Springs.

A suit is already pending at the instance of the board against the Missouri Kansas & Texas Railway company, for transporting diseased cattle into Linn county, consigned to J. C. Wannick, of Goodrich. A criminal proceedings will also be commenced against Wannick for shipping cattle known to be afflicted with fever. The board also considered the Chase county cattle case today and will probably order the release in November of cattle quarantined in that county.

TILLMAN'S DILEMMA.

Can He Confiscate Spirits Stored in Bonded Warehouses?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Governor Tillman of South Carolina, was at the treasury department today and had an interview with Commissioner Miller of the internal revenue bureau, in regard to a question on which there seems to be a conflict between federal and state authorities. Under the dispensary laws of the state of South Carolina, distilled spirits in the custody of the United States in bonded warehouses belonging to parties who have violated the provisions of the dispensary law by selling them within the state are declared to be a nuisance, and on conviction the state officers are authorized to seize and confiscate the liquor. In all such cases the governor proposes to tender the tax due to the government and confiscate the spirits, contending that the federal officials have no right to interfere in the matter. Commissioner Miller took issue with the governor and cited several decisions of the courts, among them one by the supreme court of the United States, wherein it was held that goods in bonded warehouses were not subject to any process or proceeding issuing from a state court and that so long as the government retained control of the goods its jurisdiction and authority was supreme. No final decision, however, was reached, and it is probable that in deference to the wishes of Governor Tillman the question will be referred to the attorney general for an opinion.
