THE ARIZONAN MAN'S CASE TRULY STATED.

Up to his issue of Sept. 24, the editor of the "Arizonan," to the best of his trialing ability, supported and commended the action of Delegate McCormick in Congress. When there were doubts about Mr. McCormick's consenting to be a candidate for reelection, this same editor addressed a letter to him, requesting that he again run, and at the same time completely endorsed his career. In the course of mail, an affirmative reply was received by him, and this recent editor published an extract therefrom, and by way of preface declared:

"We feared at one time that he [McCormick] would decline the nomination, for reasons which, at the time, appeared sufficient in themselves, but having the interests of his Territory and constituents at heart, and yielding to the solicitation of people in every county of the Territory, he now comes forward to offer himself as a candidate. The people have cause for rejoicing at this conclusion."

This declaration was made Aug. 29, 1870, about one month previous to his attempt to extort $3,000 from Mr. McCormick. At the time this extortion was attempted, he, in a spirit of apparent sincerity, emphatically approved McCormick's whole public career; said he would rejoice at his reelection, etc., but that he could not, under any circumstances, aid in his reelection, or maintain the paper in a neutral position during the campaign, and the best he could do would be to suppress the use of the type pending the recovery of $3,000 cash. His honesty in the past, his avowed intention of final disengagement while volunteering his support, his bearing exhibition of ingratitude and treachery, and his total lack of personal influence, it was evident that $3,000, or a many cents, would be a price far above his worth, and it was not paid, but rejected with promptness, and the material of the "Arizonan" office, which he had the gratuitous use of so long, and which was the property of Messrs. McCormick and DeLong, was removed in a quiet and legal manner.

These are the true and salient points of the "Arizonan" man's conduct before Mr. McCormick's return and a few days thereafter.

We now ask the public when this shameless editor was honest? Is it possible he ever was? Is there a more infamous course on record of a man in journalism?

WONT WORK.—The pretended resolutions of the bogus Democratic Committee of Tucson, to the effect that attempts has been made to suppress the "Arizonan" or prevent its editor from going just where his business instincts tempted him deserve nobody. Everybody in Tucson well knows that the press and material taken from Dooner, after he had declared his treachery, did not belong to him, and that he had used them for about two years without cost. Everybody further knows that by its removal the office was not crippled, but that Dooner was simply compelled to return to the use of the old Mowry press, which still remained in his office, and it quite good enough for his now limited and feeble business.

BRADY has Mowry for spokesman. Mowry advocates sending the government freight through Mexico to the great injury of our freighters, farmers, station keepers and merchants; also the establishment of free trade with foreign States. Free trade with Mexico would destroy the business and property of every fair trader of the Territory. Do farmers, merchants, station keepers, and merchants want to place them in power to look to being about these wretched results?

APPROPRIATIONS FOR ARIZONA.

Next to direct personal abuse, the rule or ruin faction delights to deal in assertions to the effect that the increased appropriations recently made by Congress for Arizona were not the result of McCormick's efforts. It has even been openly denied that he had anything to do with the increase in the appropriation for surveys and for opening the surveyor general's office. The annexed documents show how false and unjust the denial is, and the letter of Hon. Thomas Fitch, the eloquent M. C. from Nevada, who has just been unopposedly re-nominated, is alike creditable to his sense of fairness and complimentary to McCormick:

Washington, June 29, 1870. — Sir: In connection with the Delegates from New Mexico, Idaho and Montana, I yesterday signed a communication to you regarding the appropriations for surveys of the public lands in the several territories represented. I delivered the same in the House on the 27th last, the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Dawes, chiefly opposing the same, to the effect that the amounts appropriated to our Territories upon that point that you had not recommended more, and stated that he would make no objection to an increase, and he presumed the Senate would not, if advised by you. In the joint communication sent you, we gave general, and I think good reasons why you should reconsider your estimate and make a more liberal allowance.

But desire to call your attention especially to the absolute need of a large appropriation for Arizona. I beg to enclose you a copy of my remarks made in the House of Representatives during the debate in question. From so small an appropriation as $3,000, comparatively little can be devoted to pay out for labor in the field. I earnestly hope you will recommend to the Senate an increase of the appropriation for surveys in Arizona for the year ending June 30, 1871, to at least $10,000. In connection with my remarks enclosed, you will find those of Mr. Dawes, and note how confidently he referred the Delegates to you for aid.

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedt Servant,
R. C. MCCORMICK,
Delegate from Arizona.

HON. JOS. S. WILSON,
Commissioner Gen'l Land Office.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
June 30, 1870.

HON. R. C. MCCORMICK, House of Representatives:
Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of yesterday's date, urging the increase of the surveying appropriation for the Territory of Arizona from $3,000 to $10,000.

In reply, I beg leave to state that your letter was this day enclosed to the Department, with a joint communication from the Delegates from Arizona, Montana, New Mexico and Idaho—this office recommending the desired increase, and asking that the same be held before Congress.

I have the honor to be,
Very Respectfully,
Your Obedt Servant,
JOS. S. WILSON,
Commissioner.

San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1870.
MY DEAR SAYSFORD:—I observe by the "Arizona Miner" of the 31st inst. that I am credited with increasing the appropriation for surveys in Arizona to $10,000. As a matter of fact I had nothing to do with it. I did all I could, of course, to have a separate district made, and to assist in securing Watson's appointment; but it was so late in the season before we could pass the bill creating the district, that I did not believe anything could be done toward increasing the appropriation, and made no effort. Our friend, McCormick, more hopeful and more energetic, succeeded by his efforts in the Senate in securing the increase at the eleventh hour, as also the appropriations for surveyor's office.

I do not know how your political affairs are running in Arizona, but certainly, if the people there care anything about their own interests, they will not fail to return McCormick. He is very efficient, very energetic; is popular in Washington, and I will personally testify that he will never allow us to have an hour's quiet so long as Arizona is in want of anything in the way of legislation.

Yours truly,
THOMAS FITCH.

POSTON AND MCCORMICK.—One of the weakest inventions of Hinghamman Mowry was the strategy of the relations of Poston and McCormick. Instead of McCormick being in Arizona during the campaign of 1869, he was in the East. Instead of his doing anything to support Goodwin for Delegate at Poston's expense, he knew nothing of Goodwin's being a candidate until election time, and had no hand whatever in bringing him out. Instead of Poston's finding fault with McCormick at this time, it was when a sitting Governor he gave Goodwin his certificate of election to which he was highly entitled. Instead of McCormick's trying to conciliate Poston, they have not met since or exchanged a letter!

COL. LALLY, a life-long Democrat and formerly well known in this Territory as Superintendent of the Cerro Colorado mine, is now a resident of Washington. He has seen much of our Delegate during the last year and although at first (as he says) he was prejudiced against him he now esteems him very highly. Wishing to aid, if possible, in the reelection of the Governor, he voluntarily addressed a letter to P. R. Brady, in which he stated, as a friend of the Territory, that a new man could not be as useful, that the Governor was a faithful, able, earnest representative, and that he, Lally, although an ultra Democrat, would vote for him if living in the Territory—and advised all his friends to do so.

When Mr. Brady received this letter he seemed to approve its suggestions and exultingly showed it to various gentlemen; but of late we have not heard of it. As it was intended for the public eye and Col. Lally so informed Mr. Brady, it would be but proper that the latter gentleman should let it be published. If he is a fair man he will not conceal it.

CONSISTENCY.—Before McCormick spoke in Tucson, his critics were constantly asking what he had done. When he answered this question, by a clear statement of facts, taking no undue credit to himself, they expressed surprise at his speaking so much of himself. Good-bye to a Jew!

SENIOR CURE'S OPINION.—A late letter from New York says:

"Senator Cole was just in our office and enquired particularly after Mr. McCormick, and expressed an earnest desire that he be re-elected."

P. R. BRADY, a candidate for Congress by a small faction of Democrats in Tucson, started north on Monday last; he is right in going about and seeing the people ones more in an official capacity.

IDAHO AND MONTANA.

Some of the hot-headed members of the Brady faction have been insisting that Idaho and Montana, having sent straight Democratic Delegates to Congress, have fared far better than Arizona.

Such is not the fact. Those Territories have really had more trouble than any organized by the Government. Each year they have asked of Congress large appropriations for deficiencies and many of their laws have been annulled by Congress. In one instance all the laws passed by a Montana Legislature were disapproved, and for several successive seasons a portion of those of Idaho. Moreover, both Territories are now largely in debt, while Arizona will not owe a cent and have $5,000 in the Treasury by January next, and would have been in such condition in the first of January last but for the conduct of some of the law-abiding, non-tax paying faction now supporting P. R. Brady. In the matter of appropriation at the recent session of Congress, we find that in proportion to the number of inhabitants, Arizona fared better than either Idaho or Montana. The Indian appropriation for Arizona is equal to those for Idaho and Montana combined, while the legislation for Arizona is more extensive than that for either of those important Territories.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.—Mowry has been trying to stir up party feeling in the Territory, and to urge action by the Democrats by the assertion that next Congress would be largely Democratic. The report from his lips should not admit itself, but has any been so misled by it we ask attention to the following letter from Hon. S. B. Axtell, Democratic Member of Congress from San Francisco, which appeared in the Daily "Chronicle," of that city, of Sept. 2.

Wherever Mr. Axtell is known his word will certainly be taken in preference to that of Mowry, and he should be good authority in the matter of which he writes:

Was, Richfield, Ohio, Aug. 23, '70.
Dear Chronicle: I have just returned from a short trip to Niagara and the Great Lakes. Crops very good. The country is greatly prosperous. There is no marked political feeling—certainly no great up-coming of parties. The new House will stand about as the present. Your idea that the war will aid the Republicans is correct.
Very truly,
S. B. AXTELL.

In this connection we may say that Colorado has just gone Republican by a largely increased majority, and Wyoming has for the first time elected a Republican Delegate. These statements are only made to illustrate how utterly false are the public declarations of Mowry, and he is put forward as the oratorical mouthpiece of Brady.
