

THE CITIZEN.

Price per Year, $5; Six Months, $3

TUCSON, ARIZONA

Saturday, - Oct. 4, 1873.

ACCORDING to late accounts at hand, the late Congressional election in New Mexico resulted in the choice of S. B. Elkins by a majority of nearly 4,000 over the present Delegate—J. Gallegos.

IN a letter dated August 13, Lieut. Geo. M. Wheeler writes from the White Mountains, where a part of his force had been engaged for nearly a month: "The new discoveries are certainly promising, and eastern and central Arizona I feel assured may to a great extent be occupied at no very late day by a people prosperous as agricultural producers and as stock growers. The view from the summit of the Sierra Blanca gave one of the most delightful landscapes that has ever been my fortune to behold. Our matters progress and we hope to bring out maps and matters of knowledge the coming winter."

JUDGE J. T. ALSAP writes Gov. Safford that their new school-house is well advanced to completion. The doors, windows and floors are yet to be put in, all of which is expected to be done by the 15th instant. The building is 20x30 feet clear on the inside, and will be so finished as to make it very comfortable and attractive for pupils. The Phenix people are to be commended for this good work, and Judge Alsap especially.

Joseph Collingwood also writes the Governor that the public school-house at Florence is nearly ready for occupation, and that it is large and will be very comfortable. The people of Florence are justly proud of their efforts to educate their children, and we have no doubt but they will be more and more pleased as their labors and the fruits of the same increase. In fact, the most cheering accounts come from all parts of the Territory regarding the people's interest and progress in promoting public schools.

THE military telegraph is progressing well and no doubt exists of its entire completion in 1873. Parties are now working eastward from San Diego, eastward and westward from Yuma, from Prescott southward, and another is expected soon to work westward from Maricopa Wells. The expectation is to make the connection from Prescott and San Diego with Maricopa Wells at the same time and thus afford the earliest possible telegraphic communication between Department Headquarters and Washington. After this is done, and possibly before, the line will be put up from Maricopa via Florence to Tucson. Gen. Dana, Department Quartermaster, is using his best endeavors to complete the whole line by the last of November, and all hands on the job are hard at work. Lieut. Trout in charge of the construction party from Prescott had the line completed to Wickenburg last Monday evening.

Uncle Sam Exhibiting his Elephant.

Agent J. H. Stout started east via San Francisco about ten days ago. He took with him six representative men of the Pima and Maricopa Indians and J. D. Walker as interpreter. The object of the trip is to show the Indians Indian Territory with a view to get their tribes to move thither for a permanent home. Although the said Territory lies far west of the Mississippi Valley, it is likely the route by which it will be reached will take in New York, Washington and other prominent cities. Although conducting Indians over the country is not enviable work, we still congratulate Messrs. Stout and Walker for they will or can have a "good time" at Uncle Sam's expense; and this old relative is accustomed to fooling away his funds on many other as unpromising ventures. But the noble red man is an elephant which our kind Uncle feels obliged to exhibit now and then at his own expense. This exhibition will probably not cost more than $50,000, and that's not much considering the imaginary good which most likely will follow.

ANOTHER YEAR CLOSED.

This number closes the third year of THE ARIZONA CITIZEN. Like the business and taxable property and population of Pima county, it has about held its own during the last year. What profit it has made for the proprietor has been expended in adding new material to the office. We would cheerfully enlarge and print a daily, if such steps in advance were warranted. But they are not and the business of publishing a newspaper can only be maintained by observing those principles by which merchants, mechanics, farmers and professional men of sense and success are governed. If anybody thinks the newspaper business alone has so swelled in Pima county as to justify a larger expense than that incurred by us, he or they can try it on and can have our concern for what it has cost us in cash; and it is with pleasure we can state that this office has good presses and an abundance of new news and job type and of fine variety. Last May we purchased one hundred and ninety-three pounds of new nonpareil type, thinking to at once mainly use it in place of our larger type, and thereby give about one-quarter more reading matter in the same space; but upon its arrival here, it was apparent that it would be an unprofitable increase and deferred it till the beginning of the fourth year. In pursuance of that decision, hereafter all letters, extracts from other papers, locals and the body of advertisements will appear in the new and smaller type, thereby giving, as before stated, about one-fourth more matter within the same space, thus adding to our expense in proportion. Men often talk glibly of what others should do for the public, especially when they are to receive the benefit without a cent of expense to themselves. If we should suggest to a business man of any sense and shrewdness that he ought to enlarge his business, he would regard it as an impertinent act, or at best as one that good taste and business sense would justify silence; and we likewise regard matters from our stand-point.

So far as we know now, this concern will continue to be conducted in the same manner and by the same proprietor as at present. THE CITIZEN is firmly established and will be enlarged and otherwise improved as rapidly as the legitimate support for a local paper in Pima county will justify. With "these few remarks" we close the third volume of it.

Ended.

The shipment of freight to Arizona via Guaymas is necessarily ended. THE CITIZEN stated as much on August 30, and now we are definitely advised that the Mexican government has annulled the order of November 8, 1872, and hereafter will require a strict compliance with the law which makes it obligatory on the part of American shippers to procure a permit from the City of Mexico before a free transit of freights can be made. It being 1500 miles from Guaymas to the City and poor means of communication between, the time and expense of procuring a permit—assuming one would always be granted on application—will effectually close out all freighting that way.

WE are in receipt of cards which show that Dr. H. Bendell and Wilhelmine Lewi were married September 16, in Albany, N. Y. The parties have our wish that they may find life more pleasant than ever before and live to see and experience the "good time coming."

SEPTEMBER 3, the War Department issued an order extending a leave of absence granted Captain V. M. C. Silva, Twenty-first Infantry, April 2, 1873, until November 15, 1873, and his resignation will take effect on that date.

A LETTER written at Ehrenberg, September 13, says the firm of A. Frank & Co. has dissolved and gone out of business.

SEPTEMBER 25, Lieutenant C. P. Rodgers, 5th Cavalry, was granted a leave of absence for thirty days with privilege to apply for an extension of sixty.
