

CAMPAIGN FOR SIDEWALKS

proceeds and insure himself a good walk.

This is not provided for the purpose of making employment for the city engineer or his subordinates, for the specifications are so complete in the ordinance that the owner can act as his own inspector and see that they are followed. However, if he does not care to take this trouble, the city engineer will provide an inspector to pass on the work as it proceeds, if the owner of the property will pay the per diem of the inspector while so engaged. The point to be arrived at is solely, good workmanship.

The ordinance requires the approval of plans by the city engineer, a copy of which must be filed with the recorder. Quoting from it the following is given concerning materials and the construction of sidewalks, curbs and gutters. As the city builds the crosswalks, that section of the ordinance is not pertinent here:

Section 1. * * * * * The cement shall be Portland, of quality to be approved by the city engineer. The sand and gravel or crushed rock shall be free from loam and dirt. In all mixtures the materials shall be measured by bulk, the cement as packed and not loose. One bag of cement shall be considered to equal one cubic foot and four bags as one barrel. All work shall be laid on ground that is thoroughly compact and thoroughly wet. After completion of the work it shall be allowed to dry for approximately twenty-four hours uncovered, depending upon the weather, then covered with earth at least two inches deep and kept constantly wet for six days. The concrete shall be laid in three layers. When using river sand and river gravel the foundation layer shall consist of one part cement, three parts sand and six parts gravel. This shall be thoroughly laid and tamped until water flushes to the surface. The middle layer shall consist of one part cement, three parts sand and four parts gravel that will pass through a screen with a mesh of one square inch. The surfacing layer shall be composed of one part cement and one and one-quarter parts of coarse sand that will pass through a screen of one-quarter inch mesh and the sand to be rescreened with a screen of one-eighth inch mesh and that part passing through to be rejected. The sand so rejected, if free from dirt, may be used in the foundation layer. The surfacing layer must be thoroughly troweled. The foundation and middle layer may be laid as a single layer, but if so laid must consist of one part cement, three parts sand and four parts gravel that will pass through a screen of one and one-half inch mesh. Crushed rock may be used in place of river gravel, but when so used the proportions shall be one part cement, three parts sand and five parts crushed rock which may be used without screening in three layer work, but if used in two layer work then no crushed rock shall be used which will not pass through a screen of one and one-half inch mesh.

Sidewalks.
Sec. 2. All sidewalks shall be laid with a slope toward the center of the street fifteen-thousandths of a foot per foot of width. The total thickness shall be four inches. The foundation shall be two and one-half inches thick, the middle layer one inch thick and the surfacing layer one-half inch thick.

Gutters.
Sec. 3. All street gutters shall be thirty-three inches wide. The outer edge shall be formed of a railroad or street car rail, which may have had use as such, but which shall weigh not less than thirty-five pounds per yard. The total thickness of concrete shall be six inches. The foundation layer shall be three and one-quarter inches; the middle layer one and three-quarter inches and the surfacing layer one inch thick. All alley gutters shall be twelve inches wide, and the bottom shall be made on a twelve inch radius. In materials and thickness of construction they shall
