A LAST WORD FOR DEFENSE

Will Be Heard In Trial of Calhoun This Morning

INTEREST REACHES CLIMAX

In the Trial Now Near Its End. Masterly Concluding Argument of Defendant's Attorney--Honey Will Close For the People Today.

San Francisco, June 16.—With men and women scrambling and wrangling for standing room in the courtroom, Calhoun's explanation of the bribery indictment against him was practically submitted to the jury tonight when A. A. Moore, senior counsel for the president of the United Railroads promised to submit his case during the first hour of tomorrow's session.

As the five months' trial approaches its climax, the dormant public interest is awakening to the point of eager demonstration and the behavior of the public at Carpenter's Hall today sorely taxed the patience of a dozen policemen stationed at the entrance. A still greater crush is looked for tomorrow when Moore concludes his address and the last argument is begun by Honey.

Moore's argument which has already lasted eight hours was pronounced tonight by adherents of both sides a masterly review of the case. His power of denunciation, his sarcasm and his flights into classical rhetoric evoked frequent murmurs of appreciation or laughter from the audience, and while the speaker openly confessed the weariness his hearers felt at the close of the long day, the attendance had not diminished when the hour of adjournment arrived.

Patrick Calhoun, whose wife, daughter and sons were present throughout Moore's address, relaxed his solemn deportment of the last few weeks and laughed openly at some of the speaker's metaphors. His friends, business associates, and the friends of his attorneys pressed him into the foreground but throughout the day he never ceased to observe the jurors and take full note of the scene in the crowded sections behind him.

"Suppose, for the sake of argument, that this money was shown to have been paid by Ford to Rief," said Moore when he made one of his sudden shifts of base. "Could any one here called as a witness say that this payment was anything more than a surety for peace? Rief was known to be the omnipotent power, not only controlling the supervisors but also in connection with the entire labor element of the city.

"However, this is all mere speculation. There is no evidence here that Rief ever received a dollar from Ford for any purpose. Should we then be forced to show what disposition was made of any sum entering into the transactions of the United Railroads? We are not here to account to Honey or any one else how we legitimately spend our money."

Moore referred to the immunity granted the supervisor witnesses as "a strange and sad story." "When we look for a reason explaining the strange artificiality of this transaction," he continued, "it seems that these men were taken into the fold of Speckels—under the outstretched wings of the grift prosecution—whatever that grisly horror may be. Gallagher and Nicholas were both swearing for their necks. There was a kind of bastard immunity given them—a sort of lunco game since pronounced illegal—that nearly approaches bribery itself."

At the time of adjournment, Moore had attacked every vital feature of the prosecution's argument paying particular attention to the alleged discrepancies in the testimony of the supervisors; to the claims that Speckels wanted a rival street railway system, and to the activities of the private agents of the prosecution.

JAPANESE AWAIT REPLY TO THEIR APPEAL

FOR AN INVESTIGATION OF THEIR WRONGS

Ambassador Takahira Will Also Await Further Information.

Honolulu, June 16.—With the leaders awaiting a reply to their appeal to Ambassador Takahira at Washington to make the arrest of four Japanese editors and the seizure of their papers last week by territorial authorities, the subject of an international inquiry, there have been no further developments in the Japanese strike situation.

Small groups of Japanese returned to work unmolested on some of the plantations, and numerous conferences were held today by the leaders whose preliminary examination on charges of conspiracy will begin on Friday morning. The precautionary measures taken by the police have not been relaxed, but so far there has been no indication of disorder.

FOR TAXING CORPORATIONS

President's Message Received in the Senate

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT

Mr. Gore Wants an Early Report by the Finance Committee on Latter Feature of the Message--A Threat by Mr. Bailey.

Washington, June 16.—Recommending a two per cent tax on the net income of corporations, and the adoption of an amendment to the constitution providing an income tax without an apportionment among the several states, President Taft today sent to congress a message embodying his views on the subject. The president spoke of the apparent inability of congress to agree to an inheritance tax, and as regards an income tax he refers to the decision of the supreme court in the case of Pollock vs. The Farmers Loan and Trust company, in which the court held the tax to be unconstitutional unless apportioned according to population.

"The amendment suggested provides for the imposition on all corporations and joint stock companies for profit, except national banks (otherwise taxed) savings banks and building and loan associations, of an excise tax of two per cent on the net income of said corporations.

The president points out that another merit to the tax on corporations is the federal supervision which will give the government, the stockholders and the public a knowledge of the real business transactions.

ITS RECEPTION IN THE SENATE

Washington, June 16.—The message of President Taft to the senate today recommending the incorporation of a provision in the tariff bill for the taxation of the earnings of corporations and the adoption of a resolution looking to an amendment of the constitution to permit the levying of an income tax was regarded by senators of such importance as to place in the shade all questions pertaining strictly to the tariff schedules.

The message was received early in the afternoon and was referred to the committee on finance. Senator Root occupied the chair when one of the president's secretaries appeared with the message, but it was not presented until Senator Burton, who was speaking had concluded his remarks. A full senate was present and the document was given the most careful attention.

Mr. Gore attempted to have the committee instructed to report on the income tax feature of the message by next Friday when, under a general agreement, the income tax question is again to be taken up for consideration. His motion was, however, voted down and for the first time in many weeks the division was strictly along party lines.

During the informal discussion of the reference of the message, Mr. Bailey gave notice that he would demand that provision be made for a graduation of any income tax that might be provided, and he intimated that much time would be necessary to get through a provision which did not carry that qualification. The senate adopted the finance committee's recommendations regarding the admission of Philippine products but not until after two or three amendments had been voted down.

Mr. Foster of Louisiana opposed the free admission of any Philippine sugar. Mr. Aldrich presented the finance committee's substitute for the house zinc schedule and it received a major portion of the attention of the senate during the afternoon. The committee amendment which was adopted, places a duty of 50 cents a pound on zinc in sheets, and 2 cents on zinc sheets plated or coated, and one cent a pound on old worn out zinc metal. This action concluded the consideration of the zinc provision and the metal schedules. The committee suggestions for changes in the silk schedule were also adopted.

CABINET'S EARNEST CONSIDERATION

Washington, June 16.—For more than two hours today President Taft consulted with the six lawyers of his cabinet regarding the message he sent to congress on the subject of a tax upon undistributed net earnings of corporations and the proposition to submit to the states the proposal for an amendment to the constitution to

THE PROGRESSIVES UNCHANGED

Washington, June 16.—The fight for an income tax will be continued. Five progressive republicans, Senators Borah, Bristow, Cummins, LaFollette and Clapp, conferred tonight to determine what their attitude is to be in relation to the income tax amendment to the tariff bill in the face of President Taft's special message to congress today favoring the submission of the question to the states for a constitutional amendment and the enactment of a law taxing the net earnings of corporations.

They decided the president's plan is not inconsistent with their demands, for the adoption of the income tax amendment to the tariff bill, and that both may be adopted in harmony. They assume that the president's plan, endorsed by leading republicans on the finance committee, is destined to "chloroform" the income tax amendment, but nevertheless they announce that they will continue to fight for its adoption.

THE PRIMARY LAW OF THE SUCKER STATE

HELD TO BE AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL ACT.

The Third Attempt of Illinois to Enact One a Failure.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—In a decision handed down today the supreme court of Illinois declares the district primary election law unconstitutional. This is the third primary law so declared by the highest tribunal in this state.

In the workings of the law, objections were made that it was cumbersome and laden with too much machinery. The restrictions placed upon voters regarding eligibility and the powers granted committees were other grounds.

It is believed this will necessitate the calling of a special session of the legislature next fall. The decision may invalidate the indictments against Chicago west side politicians, who are charged with fraud in the primaries last August.

QUITE UNABLE TO NAVIGATE

THE GOSSIP OF SERVANTS

Under the Influence of Liquor They Said Unutterable Things Fell From Tongue of the Plaintiff in the Separation Suit.

New York, June 16.—Howard Gould did not go on the stand today to testify against his wife, Katherine Clemmons Gould, whose suit for separation he is opposing. Instead there was a continuation of the servant's gossip accounts by menials of their former mistress' eccentricities; humiliating details, as sworn to on the stand, of Mrs. Gould's alleged fondness for alcoholic beverages and her manner at such times when what the witnesses said was influence of liquor brought from her lips remarks ill suited to a woman's tongue.

It was but a reiteration in some respects an amplification of yesterday's testimony, the basis of which was that at various times at Castle Gould she had been intoxicated and had abused the servants and given arbitrary and unreasonable commands and had used rather severe language in altercations with her husband.

An occasion when she would have fallen from her carriage but for the protecting hand of a coachman, her attempt to drive through a closed gate, a time when a footman saved her from falling while intoxicated, as he testified, were among things alleged.

A carpenter, Herbert Trotter, was the last witness of the day. He said that while he was working in the servants' quarters, Mrs. Gould rushed in and swore at the servants. Her voice was shaky and incoherent, her hair disheveled, and she was very profane. She was decidedly drunk," said the witness.
