An Interesting Letter.

A teacher in a Texas public school received the following letter the other day: "Sir: will you in the futur giv my son easier somes to do at nite? This is what he's brought hoam to or three nites back: "If fore galins of bere will fill thirty 2 pint bottles, how many pints and half bottles will nine galins fill?" Well, we tried and could make nothin of it at all, and my boy cried and laughed and sed he didn't dare to go back in the morning without doin it. So I had to go an buy a nine-gallin keg of bere, wich I cud ill aford to do, an then went an borred a lot of wine an brandy bottles. We filt them an my boy put the number down fer an anser, I don't know wether it's right or not as we spilt sum by doin it. P. S.—Pleas let the next somes be in water, as I am not able to buy any more bere."

A Valuable Medicine for Coughs and Colds in Children.

"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the city dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale at Cotter's drug store.

Woeful Waste."

Johnny was an idle boy at school. One day he made a potato popgun out of a goosequill. Then he cut several potatoes into slices for ammunition, put the gun and the slices into his pocket and took the outfit to school with him.

While the grammar class was in session he loaded his popgun by pushing the ends through a slice of potato and discharged the gun with a loud report by pushing a slate pencil through it.

The teacher kept him in after school.

"Johnny," she said, with tears in her eyes, as she laid the switch about his legs with great energy, "I am not punishing you for being disorderly in school, but for your reckless extravagance in wasting potatoes."

MOTHERHOOD
The greatest ambition of American men and women is to have homes blessed with children. The woman afflicted with female disease is constantly menaced with becoming a childless wife. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception; does prevent miscarriage; does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Wine of Cardui gives women the health and strength to bear healthy children. You can get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer.
WINE OF CARDUI
143 Market Street, Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901.
In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my house again. Mrs. J. W. C. SMITH.

Dog Dies of Broken Heart.

"He died of a broken heart." His name was Dandy, and tho' but a pug dog, he could not survive the death of his mistress, whose constant attendant he had been for nearly eighteen years.

This faithful animal was owned by Sallie Welkel, the wife of the superintendent of North Cedar Hill Cemetery, in the Thirty-fifth ward, who died suddenly ten days ago. Mrs. Welkel died of heart disease while walking through the cemetery to the trolly cars. Dandy was greatly attached to her, and repeatedly showed his grief by a whining bark.

On the day of the funeral Dandy was put in one of the greenhouses for safety, and when one of the funeral party returned the dog was found dying.—Philadelphia Press.

Prepared for the Worst.

A good story is told of a digger who had ridden into a western Australia town to consult a doctor. Having done so, he went to have a prescription made up.

"How much is this lot?" he asked the chemist.

"Well, let me see," was the reply. "There's seven-and-sixpence for the medicine and a shilling for the bottle." He hesitated, uncertain whether he had charged for everything.

"Oh, hurry up, boss," said the impatient miner. "Put a price on the cork, and let us know the worst."

A convention of the leading modistes of the country, held in Chicago last week, decided that that city, and not Paris, London or New York, should set the fashions for American women. This may cause disappointment to the superseded cities, but coming from Chicago, it ought not to cause surprise.

The Chinese government is now establishing legations in Italy, Austria and Spain, in pursuance of the new policy of closer relations with the outside world. Heretofore the ministers to England, Russia and the United States have looked after all foreign interests.

Whatever else may be said of Cecil Rhodes, it must be granted that he was one of the greatest makers of empire that ever lived. He epitomized his great ambitions in his dying words: "So little done! So much yet left to do!"

The improvement of Spanish trade with this country shows that the recent war served to make the two countries better acquainted—in more ways than one.

An attempt on the part of the English tobacco trust to get the retailers to boycott American tobacco has failed, as the dealers are unwilling to give up their best-selling brands.

The French government has just passed a subsidy bill for her merchant marine, similar to the shipping bill now before the United States congress.
