

VISITORS' DAY AT P. U. H. S.

Exhibitions of Domestic Science and Mechanical Art Departments Open to Relatives and Friends of Students at School

The annual visiting day of the art, the domestic art and science, the commercial and the mechanical arts departments of the Phoenix High School will be held on Wednesday afternoon from 2:00 to 6:00 at the high school. While visitors are welcomed on any day of the year and patrons are urged to call at any and all times, on this particular day, an especial effort is made to have those interested in the industrial side of modern education to come to the high school and see for themselves just what is being done. These comparatively new branches in modern secondary education have taken a wonderfully stronghold in schools all over the world and all are urged to come and see that Phoenix is making an honest effort to keep abreast of the times.

The art department is under the able direction of Miss Cordelia McLain. Its exhibit will be seen in room 121 of the domestic science and arts building. Miss McLain is one of the very ablest teachers of art in the west, and is a recognized authority in her line of work, having had charge of classes of teachers at a number of state institutes in the past.

Miss Worthy Johnson and Miss Camilla Franklin have the domestic science and art and their exhibit will be on the first floor of that building. Miss Johnson is a graduate of Columbia university, where she specialized in the above-named line of work, and few schools anywhere can boast of a teacher better qualified by temperament and training than can Phoenix High in Miss Johnson. Miss Franklin hails from North Dakota and springs from an illustrious line of prominent educators, her father being the present state superintendent of public instruction of that state.

The exhibit of the commercial department on the second floor of the "old building" will be well worth visiting. During the afternoon there will be a number of speed tests by the present state champions in shorthand and typewriting and cups and medals won by various teams will be on display, together with specimens of the work done in this and previous years. Professor Michael, ably assisted by Mrs. Jay and Mr. Fulton, are instructors in this department. They are too well known and established in their reputations here to need any introduction to patrons of the Phoenix High.

The exhibit of the mechanical arts department will be mainly in the temporary quarters across the canal to the north of the commercial building, though owing to lack of room a number of pieces will be placed in other buildings. This is the last of the industrial departments to be established here, being only in its second year, but it has already outgrown its present quarters in the "tin shop across the canal." While a number of the students have had benchmark in the grades, this is new to a majority of them as is the handling of

BISPHAM SEATS GOING QUICKLY

Quite Large Number of Church Members Availed Themselves of Opportunity to Buy Tickets for Benefit of Church

The sale of seats to the Bispham concert scheduled for the 26th at the Elks' theatre was very satisfactory today, and quite a substantial revenue was derived by the churches that took an interest in the twenty per cent donated by Mr. Redewill on today's sales.

David Bispham, America's greatest baritone and Metropolitan Opera House artist, has announced his intentions of giving one of his very best performances in Phoenix.

Throughout his present tour he has been working hard keeping up his many dates (Bispham fills nearly twice as many dates as any other artist) and the result is that he arrived in San Francisco quite tired. But the two following weeks he took easy, and now his manager states that the artist is in the very pink of condition, and those who are fortunate enough to arrange to attend the concert on the 26th will hear a voice which even the Metropolitan Opera House scarcely hears owing to the overworking of all their artists. There are still a good supply of the cheaper seats and some of the good ones left, but it will be wise not to wait until the last minute. Some of the out-of-town people are sending in orders for tickets in bunches and if this keeps up very long the entire house will be sold out before the appointed time, a week from tonight.

YUMA COUNTY NEEDS TWO COUNTY JAILS

Yuma county is so situated from the standpoint of railroads and distance that two jails are necessary, one regular county jail at Yuma proper and the other a branch jail woodworking machinery to all. Nevertheless, the boys have made a rather good showing and some fairly creditable prices have been turned out. Mr. P. I. Turner, who has charge of this work, is a graduate of the state university at Tucson and has had a number of years of experience in trade schools and high schools in California. He sends out an especially urgent invitation to patrons to visit the shop that, among other things, they may see and recognize its present limitations and need of larger quarters and better equipment. At present only woodwork is afforded, whereas there is a need of, and a growing demand for, forge work and machine shop practice, but for which at present there are no facilities.

The exhibit in all the departments is free to all and members of pleasant-faced young people will be on hand to escort visitors through and to answer questions. The work is theirs and they are modestly proud of their achievements and cordially urge patrons and friends to come.

NEW COLUMBIA OPENS TONIGHT

The Columbia theater opens its doors to the public for the first time this evening. It claims for itself the name of Phoenix's newest and best playhouse, and from the amount of work that has been done on the building the claim will in all probability be good and if not be made good before the present active and energetic management is through with its activities. The construction of this model house has been made in almost record time. From the wrecking of the building in late January last until the opening in May is quite a scant three months and a half is not so long when the fact is taken into consideration that "Safety First" has been the motto under which the house has been constructed.

The aisles are wide and the seats far apart that there is none of the cramped, jammed-in feeling. A fire-proof curtain as an additional security and plenty of exits make the place an ideal one.

So much has already been said about the nature of the opening performance that it is generally taken for granted that the show tonight will be really worth while and vaudeville quite in the advance of anything that has been essayed by any Arizona theater up to this date. Four big acts, one of them an Orpheum headliner, three reels of first-run exclusive pictures and a ladies' orchestra, is just a little bit of all right. The doors open at 7:00 and the first show is at 7:15 with the second show at 9:00.

at Parker. The occasion for this is the simple fact that Yuma and Parker are so located that every prisoner has to be taken to the county seat from Parker by way of Phoenix, even though the man is to serve but a short term on a justice of the peace sentence.

The expense involved in this work has been such as to become a great item with the taxpayers of Yuma county and finally the board of supervisors decided to put in a branch jail at Parker. F. E. Elliott, chairman of the Yuma county board, was in the city yesterday en route to Parker, where he goes to select the site for the branch jail.

POPULAR ENGINEER SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

Horace A. Cook Passes Away at South Central Avenue Home.

Horace A. Cook, one of the best known structural engineers in the southwest, and for some time a member of the firm of Streitz, Cook & Smart, passed away at his home on South Central avenue, south of the bridge, on Sunday evening, after an illness of several weeks. Arrangements have been perfected for the funeral to be held this morning at 10 o'clock, from the Mohr, Driscoll & Moss undertaking chapel. His widow, a daughter and two brothers, Roy E. Cook, of this city, and C. R. Cook, now in Alaska, but formerly a resident of this city, survive.

It was in 1909 that Horace Cook came to Phoenix. He immediately gained recognition, not only as a capable engineer, but as a man of sterling integrity and friend-making qualities. In and about Phoenix he will be remembered by the general public through his efficient supervision of the paving of the Central avenue bridge, as well as of the greater part of the street paving in this city. His plans were those accepted for the recently completed Pratt-Gilbert building and for the later buildings erected as extensions of the Northern Normal school at Flagstaff.

Mr. Cook was a graduate of the Valparaiso and Purdue universities and an associate member of the Society of Civil Engineers. He was prominent in Masonic circles and a member of the Lafayette Lodge No. 123, of Lafayette, Ind. The news of his death came to his friends yesterday as a distinct shock.

PLAN BETTER CHURCH WORK BY ORGANIZATION

Fifty Members of Federated Brotherhood Meet on Y. M. C. A. Roof Garden to Plan Big Things

Bigger and better churches, greater cooperation and teamwork, more interest in religion and allied works, are the purposes of an organization effected last night in plan by members of the Federated Brotherhood of the Phoenix churches. It was at a roof garden social on the tip top of the Young Men's Christian Association that the meeting was held. Over fifty delegates attended it.

Dr. W. W. Wilkinson, president of the Federated Brotherhood presided. After the vials had been made but memories, the business proceeded with rapidity and directness.

After a snappy discussion of the topic, the meeting elected to set Monday night June 1 as the date for the organization meeting. At that time there will be three delegates from every church organization, young men, young women and older people. The more effective working organization, to be made possible through the new association, is expected to create a new regard for churchly things in Phoenix, and to promote the higher cooperation of church organizations.

LOCAL AD CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Phoenix Branch of Powerful Organization Starts Out With Twenty Live Ones As Members; Officers Elected

The organization of the Phoenix Ad Club as a branch of the National Association of Advertising Clubs was perfected in this city last night with a charter membership of twenty and with the following gentlemen as officers of the organization:
President, A. G. Dulmage, of the Arizona Gazette, vice president, Garth W. Cate, of the Arizona Republican; secretary, Roy Murray, of the McDougall-Cassou Co.; treasurer, C. J. McElroy, of Greene and Griffin; directors, S. W. Marlo, W. R. Leecraft, Henry Myers, Joseph M. Levy and Lebbeus Chapman.

Following this the delegates to the International convention to be held in Toronto in June resulted in the following: C. A. Stauffer, A. G. Dulmage and Roy Murray. It is understood they will all attend the sessions.
The purposes of the organization are well stated in the following brief paragraphs:
First--To develop the science and art of advertising, and to assist in the formation of local advertising clubs for the benefit of merchants, manufacturers, buyers of advertising, sellers of advertising, writers of copy and kindred interests.
Second--To encourage the interchange of courtesies between various local organizations and their members.

Third--To disseminate information regarding the possibilities of non-advertised enterprises.
Fourth--To exchange creative ideas in advertising and salesmanship.
Fifth--To promote cooperation between the sales and advertising departments of business enterprises.
Sixth--To endeavor to harmonize conflicting interests.
Seventh--To bring about a greater realization of the importance of advertising.
Eighth--To assist the development of the small advertiser.
Ninth--To compile and publish from year to year general statistics of the comparative growth of advertising.
Tenth--To furnish data regarding localities, population and conditions, to the end that the advertiser, buyer or seller, may be enabled to formulate campaigns more intelligently.
Eleventh--To collect available rate cards.
Twelfth--To furnish to members from time to time important and useful information by bulletins and other means.

Thirteenth--To keep on file all available statistics of the circulation of advertising mediums.
Fourteenth--To gather other available statistics not obtainable by individuals without great expense and inconvenience.
Fifteenth--To define abuses and cooperate for their correction.
Sixteenth--To expose fraudulent schemes and prosecute their perpetrators.
Seventeenth--To maintain a bureau for the registration of advertising men, and to furnish to employers, upon application, lists of those available.
The Associated Advertising clubs of America today form one of the strongest organizations on the continent, including in its membership practically every newspaper and magazine, every large manufacturer and representative of all departments of industry.
