FIRESTONES AGAIN HELP WIN VICTORY

Word comes from Los Angeles that a contest was held recently in that vicinity which was conceded to be the greatest event of its kind ever held. Twenty-four motor trucks of various makes and classes were pitted against each other in a strenuous run of over 200 miles against the heaviest kinds of odds.

In laying out a route for this test, a committee appointed by the Motor Truck Dealers' association of California selected the worst roads to be found in that section, to make the affair a real test of endurance.

SPAULDING'S MAN PLEASED WITH PHOENIX

Gives Good News About Sporting Conditions

E. J. Orth, who represents the A. G. Spaulding Sporting Goods House on the Pacific coast and the southwest, is a visitor in Phoenix this week for the purpose of looking into the local prospects for outfitting baseball and football teams during the coming season.

The prospects for good American football this year on the Pacific coast are exceedingly bright, said Mr. Orth. The University of Southern California has broken away from the Rugby game and will take up the American football, which will add a great deal to the effectiveness of the schedule out there.

KILLING OFF BIG JUNE BUGS

White Grubs Likely to Cause Untold Losses in Certain States in 1915

The destructive May beetles, or so-called June bugs, as was previously predicted by the department, were extremely abundant the past spring in northeastern Iowa, southern Wisconsin, and northern Illinois, parts of Minnesota, the southern part of Michigan, and northern Ohio; also in northeastern Pennsylvania, southern New York, parts of Connecticut and New Jersey.

In the sections above mentioned the important economic species have a three-year life cycle; that is, beetles appearing in the spring of 1914 deposit eggs which hatch about a month after being laid. The young grubs feed on roots and decaying matter, but seldom do damage during their first year.

The beetles lay their eggs in land covered with vegetation at the time of their flights (May and June), consequently land in small grain, timothy, and such crops which cover the ground, as well as land overgrown with weeds at that time, are most likely to be infested the following year.

METHODS OF PREVENTING THE PEST

Fields likely to be infested with grubs should be thoroughly plowed between September 15 and October 10. The date of plowing will depend on latitude and the weather conditions, for the grubs go down as cold weather approaches and it is desirable to plow the fields just before they go down when possible.

The members of the church will give a chicken dinner on Friday in honor of the coming of the bishop and he has stated that he will remain over to attend it. The ability of the colored folk in Phoenix to cook chicken better than anybody almost, is well known.

Pastor W. H. Thomas has been preparing for the coming of Bishop Parks for some time and has been assured that the welcome the bishop will receive will exceed in warmth and hospitality anything that has been extended to the leading members of the race for some time.
