"Einer Muss Heiraten" Title of Funny Farce to Be Presented at High School Auditorium.

Extra! Extra! Latest news from the front. The German club of the Phoenix high school has taken the school auditorium this evening to give their German entertainment this evening at eight-fifteen o'clock. "A trip—ladies and gentlemen—through the land of sauer-kraut and limburger cheese for the small sum of the price of admittance to this entertainment," says the Bally-hoo man.

Imagine a trip to Germany minus the great war, and with peace and fun making every one happy. This is what is going to take place at the high school auditorium this evening when the Deutscher-Berein club puts on the entertainment which is a combination German comedy and the beautiful dances and songs.

The playlet, "One Must Marry" will be the hit of the evening. The cast is the best in the school, and each one in it knows how to bring out the fun. Max Bousquetier has been working hard with his part, and says when he practices that George Washington and Abe Lincoln who stand at either side of the stage begin to laugh and they have to stop rehearsing till Miss McDaniels can pacify the statues of these great men. If Max can make an image laugh, he can surely amuse the everyday honest to goodness men and women. Then there are Joe Doron and Marjorie Kingsbury, who are known far and wide for their acting ability. Then there is Elma Tolleson—well any one who wants to know what she can do can see her at the play tonight. The playlet does not take up the whole evening, but there are several other acts that will surely please the audience. The play starts at eight sharp in the high school auditorium.

A Washington program will be given this afternoon at one o'clock in honor of the birthday of the hero of the Revolution, which comes on Monday. There will be no school held on Monday, much to the delight of the student body.

COLORADO TO BE SPANNED

Central Span, Assembled On Arizona Side, to be Floated Into Position in Less Than Hour, Movies to Show it

To float a steel span, 336 feet long, half way across the Colorado river at Yuma, and to lift it into place, as the first bond between California and Arizona—all within the space of an hour, is the task to be assumed by the contractors with the aid of moving pictures, either next Monday or next Tuesday. Through the Phoenix chamber of commerce, the Yuma chamber has got in touch with Ralph Earle and R. E. Barron, Pathe Week-by-men on the coast, and the bridging of the muddy Colorado will be accompanied by a real publicity stunt.

The proposition that the Yuma chamber of commerce has put up to the film-folk is that the largest steel span on the Colorado bridge, covering a space of 336 feet, is to be sent into midstream on barges and hung in place with the aid of immense cranes. The span is already assembled on the Arizona side. The people who have the contract were unable to maintain any false-work in the river bed, owing to the rapidity of the current, and the recent high stages of the stream. So they had to resort to the large idea to complete the bridge.

The great feat will be successfully accomplished, according to a statement by the engineers in charge. Less than an hour's time will be necessary for the entire proceeding, which will make it, indeed, a triumph of engineering skill.

Secretary L. W. Alexander of the Yuma chamber of commerce says: "This bridge is the connecting link of the Borderland route—being the one wagon bridge on the Colorado river within 1200 miles. It is being built by the United States government, the states of California and Arizona, at a cost of over $75,000. It is constructed on a natural bridge site, which places the span high enough to permit our largest river steamers to pass under, even when the river is at its highest point."

COMING TO LOCATE

P. P. Thompson of Oklahtoma, will arrive here about the first of March to engage in real estate. Glendale continues to be prosperous, while some communities are complaining of quiet times. Glendale is increasing her population and her merchants are enjoying a good trade.

RAILWAY IMPROVEMENT

The Santa Fe Railway company has just finished putting in a crossing at Lincoln street. This is a great improvement and convenience to the people on the west side of the railroad.

The almond blossoms are in bloom in the Glendale section, this is a sure sign that spring will soon be here.

SHEEP ON DESERT

N. J. Ritter, a large sheep owner of the Prescott country was in town yesterday from his camp on the desert, north of Glendale. Mr. Ritter states that there are 200,000 sheep on the desert, that the feed is excellent and that the price of fifty per cent better than it was last year. These sheep camps are a big help to the Glendale merchants and we like to see them winter on the desert.

LETTUCE SHIPMENTS

The Glendale lettuce growers expect to have their first car ready to ship about the twentieth of this month. The local lettuce is all looking fine and as the market is holding up real well, they expect good returns. The first car will be shipped to Chicago and diverted from there.

GLENDALE NOTES

Mrs. W. H. Clark is slightly ill at her home on Fifth avenue. Mrs. E. J. Flock is a shopper in the central city Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cortmel and daughter Gertrude were dinner guests at the J. J. Gump home Sunday. W. W. Richards is sick at his home southwest of Glendale. Mrs. Robert Logue was a Phoenix visitor Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Webb Griffin of Phoenix spent Sunday at the R. E. Stauffer
