

FIRST GAME GOES TO CHINOS BEFORE BIG CROWD OF FANS

Huge Crowd Sees Local Team Get Theirs in Initial Game at Riverside Yesterday—Orientals Put Up Classy Ball

Five hundred wildly excited fans witnessed the downfall of the Phoenix "Pickaninny" yesterday afternoon on the Riverside grounds, when the Chinese students from the Hawaiian Islands took the long end of a 4 to 2 game.

The two teams were fairly well matched, although the impression gained circulation that the Orientals were playing low at times, and sort of drawing the Phoenixians on. The game was good all the time, and at times the plays came fast and furious. Strange to say, no special efforts were made to kill the umpire.

The first inning gave promise of what was to come later. Ayun slammed a hit over short, stole second, but died on third, when his team failed to bring him in. Pittman secured the only hit in this inning for his aggregation, and with the assistance of Barrett's two-bagger, came loping home for the first run. There ended the scoring on that side, only in the eighth did they even threaten to come across. But the hairy Kau saw to it that there was nothing doing then.

The first score for the Chinese came in the third when Kau circled the bases aided by sacrifices by Ayun and Chin and Lau's two-bagger. There was nothing more doing for them until the eighth was reached, when after Let had walked, Kau came up and helped him along with a single, the next man up struck out, but Ayun felt differently about it, and drove a long fly into the outcrovwood that grazes the horizon on the Riverside diamond. It is doubtful if the ball has come down yet, but Kau and Yap didn't wait for particulars, and romped in home with two more runs. Let made the next run for the visitors when he stretched his legs and roached second on a hot grounder, from where he easily scored on Yim's single.

Kau, the Chinese pitcher, was there all the time, at no time was he in the least awayed over the outcome. In the last of the eighth with the score 2 to 1, Brown came up and drove out a long fly, straight into the hands of Let, the little left gardener. Morris, the next man up, walked, and Pittman came along and sent a hot grounder into left field, sending Morris along to second. Barrett grounded to third and Morris was tagged there, and retired gracefully to the pit. Then along came Big Griffin, the husky first baseman, and sent a hot grounder through short, and stretched his legs far enough to land him on second, with Pittman sailing in from second for a run, making the last score. Barrett calmly reposed on third. Pomeroy then faced the big oriental and was presented with a ticket to first, making three on. About this time the crowd started yelling for a pinch hitter, and Leachey came to the front with a hot grounder to Kau, who looted it, but the ball went rolling straight into Lau's hands, who made a pretty throw to first, nailing Leachey there. So ended Phoenix' only chance to take the game.

Hall pitched his usual good game, changed his pace when necessary, and most of the time was feeding them to the chinks where they weren't. Pittman made a couple of classy stops, and scored the two runs for Phoenix.

The Chinese were a clean fielding bunch, several times the crowd was brought to its feet with the clever stunts pulled. They displayed the traditional Oriental calmness in the pinches, never batting an eye-bash when things looked bad.

One advantage they had over the English speaking players, came whenever Phoenix had a base runner on. Then they would release into their native tongue or tongues, and the base runner never knew what was on their minds. They left last night for Tucson, where they play today, from where they proceed on their journey through the east.

inhabitant of Fourmies from undoing the work of the Germans. Military trains used it exclusively, as they do most of the territory now occupied by Germany in France, though civilians with the proper passes are able to travel by rail.

Another bridge rebuilt in unusually short time is that over the Thon near Origny. This structure was destroyed by the French in 1870, and rebuilt only in three years. In the process of reconstruction, it is claimed, dynamite chambers were installed to permit of its easy destruction again in case of necessity. When this took place the gigantic blocks of stone were thrown into the valley, damming up the river and making a lake of the valley. This 238-meter-long, 29-meter-high bridge has been rebuilt in the space of 34 days, and is now available for all trains.

FOR BASEBALL ARBITRATION

NEW YORK, March 21.—To settle the differences between organized baseball and the Federal League, President David L. Fultz of the baseball players' fraternity, suggested that a board of arbitration be appointed by the warring factions to fix the territorial rights and players rights, outline a broad principle for the future government of baseball and assist in the information of a governing body representing all the leagues, players and the public.

FIRE INTO SWITZERLAND

Fighting Comes Uncomfortably Close to Swiss Territory

GENEVA, March 21.—Some of the fighting between the Germans and French has been so uncomfortably close to Swiss territory, that in an artillery engagement recently five shells fell in Switzerland.

Two Swiss engineers, who were working nearby, were knocked down by the concussion, although not seriously hurt.

TRAIN SERVICE SUSPENDED

EL PASO, March 21.—Passenger and freight service on the railway south from Torreon to Aguas Calientes, Queretaro and Guadalajara, is temporarily suspended on account of Negras has been opened to the interior connecting with the main line through Torreon, Monterey and Saltillo.

HORRELL AND SWIFT

boy in the afternoon. Bailey's strong right arm and Christie's good headwork turned the tables on the visitors in the third set, which was fought to a 5-3 finish, the score being in favor of the El Paso pair. The match score was Horrell-Swift beat Bailey-Christie 6-2, 3-6, 10-8, 6-2.

Poor Old Swift

In spite of rapidly approaching exhaustion, Swift, the 19-year-old wonder, took Christie to a cleaning in the opening match of the afternoon. This left Swift nearly at the fainting point, but the crowd had known the crowd expected a regular exhibition out of him, with Horrell, so with less than five minutes' rest, he went into the most interesting match of the series. Jommu Lawton himself occupied the umpire's pedestal when the two victors faced each other across the net. The wind had risen to a gale, the dust was flying, but there was some beautiful tennis on tap from the moment the game started. In the second set, Swift seemed to pull himself together, and although obviously suffering from fatigue, forced the score four games to a game against Horrell, before the favorite got back his stroke. Horrell then went after the youngster and raised the score to seven games before he could claim the set. The finals were: 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

Grand Old Men's Doubles

The idea of having a separate match for men who openly admit having forty or more years, took on nicely at Tucson, and one of the interesting features of the tournament was the match which was won by Neff and Gordon after a hot argument with Butler and Lawton. Among the G-O-M matches was one that might have been called historic, for it was postponed from 1894.

Way back there, the Phoenix and Tucson tennis fans got up a match in which "Doc" Jessup was to meet Wright of Tucson, and the game was postponed. Today it was played off, and from now on will be an annual feature between these two grand old racketeers. Wright won the tiny cup that was passed out as a special inducement for the old chaps to get in the game.

Among the other contenders in the G-O-M doubles were Atha, Moore, Bristow, Bailey. Atha had beaten Lawton, Neff had crunched Wright and Moore and Butler had taken in Atha and Neff and Butler were scrapping it out on the east court when we hurriedly departed with this dispatch. The way Honorary President Neff was joshing President Lawton, it looked as though the El Pasos were having the time of his young life of several scores or ten years. The final result will be the subject of a future tennis yarn.

The Presentation

Tutored by Jimmy Lawton, Little Miss Theora Kitt presented the cup and a huge and ecstatic kiss to each winner. Horrell, who had won a brace of matches, created a lot of jealousy by swiping an extra carress from the one who presented him with his rewards.

HAYDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hoyt are preparing to leave here, with the intention of going to Cochise county, where Mr. Hoyt is interested in farming. Mr. Hoyt was given a farewell party by the men of his shift Monday evening.

Judge Studley, returned from Phoenix several days ago, laden with a goodly supply of rose bushes. The intention is to plant them around the Studley home, greatly beautifying the place.

Thursday was ladies' day at the Vocay club. The event was enjoyed by those taking advantage of the special day. The club is an enjoyable place to spend idle hours. The Victrola and other amusements make things interesting for the members.

BOY SCOUTS LISTING LOTS

Over 1000 Property Owners Will Receive Notice to Get Busy and Join Big Clean-up Campaign This Week

Checking up the vacant lots in the city that need to be cleaned up, the patrol leaders of the Boy Scouts made a tour of Phoenix Saturday with Chief of Police Brawner, and listed over 1000 different spots that need clearing off. Today the names and addresses of the owners will be secured at the county recorder's office and by tomorrow they will receive delicately worded letters from P. C. Gettins, chairman of the public utility committee, urging them to do the work themselves, instead of leaving it to the boys.

Beside the four patrol leaders, Harold Tovey, Arthur Winship, Rufus Boring and Harold Watson, who have their squads in readiness to rally forth on "Clean-Up day" and assist in beautifying the city, there will be plenty of others who will take part in the campaign. The Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Charities and the Phoenix free employment bureau all have long lists of men in need of work, who can be had during The Republican's Clean-Up campaign at $1.50 per day. Citizens are asked to phone any of these organizations and, by so doing, will not only assist worthy persons by giving them employment, but also secure efficient service for the big clean-up campaign.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS SOUND

MOSCOW, March 21.—A report issued by General Sandetzki, military governor of Moscow, indicates that a very large per centage of men brought to the hospitals from the front to be entirely sound upon examination. In one hospital out of 1135 patients, only thirty-three were seriously in need of treatment. The report contained a reprimand to the hospital authorities for allowing men capable of continued service to become inmates of the hospitals.

Hire a little salesman at The Republican office. A Want Ad will see more customers than you can.

The Knights of Pythias assisted by the ladies are preparing a minstrel show to take place soon. The second rehearsal took place Friday evening.

The post Lenten hall to be given by the Catholic ladies of Hayden is looked forward as the coming social event liable to pass all others. The imported music will be the feature of the evening. Refreshments will be served during the evening, and the proceeds from the affair will go toward buying an organ for the church. Tickets are $1.00 and may be secured at the Hayden Drug store.

AMUSEMENTS

Craft vs. Love at Lion

The feature picture at the Lion Theater today is a two-reel Thanhouser drama entitled, "Craft vs. Love," and Flo La Badie, well known in Phoenix through her part as Florence Gray in the Million Dollar Mystery, takes the leading part in this. Miss La Badie has the support of a splendid cast and "Craft vs. Love" is interesting in plot and presentation. A comedy drama called "The Double Deception" by the Majestic players is a worth seeing, while the Keystone comedy "Hogan's Wild Oats," with Chas. Murray in the lead, will bring forth roars of laughter. Keystone comedies are made for laughing purposes only and they certainly fulfill their mission. They are big drawing cards at the Lion.

Cecil Spooner at Lamara

Numbers of the old time theater goers saw Cecil Spooner at the Lamara yesterday in the well known and delightful old circus story, "Nell of the Circus." Time moves rapidly but it has not effaced the memory of the theater-goers of former years who were used annually to enjoying a visit from the Spooner Stock Company, where all the Spooner family, a very talented family at that, used to combine to give excellent presentations of old time favorites in the way of plays. It brought back these times largely to many to see Cecil Spooner galloping through the story of "Nell of the Circus." That it was Cecil Spooner all right could be evidenced from the conduct of those who knew her as soon as the picture began to run. The story is well worth seeing however apart from the connection it has with former years. It will be shown again today and tonight.

Coliseum's Comedy

One of the largest splashes in the "pool of mirth" will take place at the Coliseum theatre tonight when the Ellis Musical Comedy company will present for the first time in Phoenix, J. M. Morton's farce comedy "Captain O'Scuttle" owing to a misunderstanding it was announced that the bill for the coming week would be "Not Me," but as this bill is under preparation and will be presented in the near future the announcement, though a little early can be looked upon as one of the Coliseum's coming comedies.

At the Empress

Today and tomorrow will be fielding days at the Empress. Mr. Fielding will again appear in a comedy entitled "Kid's Nap." There is also a stirring Essanay masterpiece, known as the Fulfillment. This feature is one of the most intensely interesting pictures that has ever been shown at the Empress.

injured. The girl's reason was for a time disordered, but at last the injured man in known, and as she looks on him her mind is restored, and the other rival makes a confession that he had known all of the time that his rival was living. All ends happily. There are also two other good reels making a show of six good reels.

At the Columbia

When Eugene Walters wrote the "Wolf" he gave to current dramatic literature one of the most vital and gripping stage stories of the decade. Its locale, the unpathed forests of the great country known as the Hudson Bay trading tract, of Canada, is the only spot on the western continent where the pioneer is yet the master.

The Wolf is a great play. It is a piece that took New York in the grip of its splendid story and stayed at the Astor theater for many months to take the road and find favor from coast to coast with several companies.

Mr. Redmond, it is said will give the play a most careful setting and Minor Reed, the talented young artist, who is to do the sets lately painted for a stock company in Edmonton, Alberta, right on the skirts of the Hudson Bay country wherein Walters went for his type.
