At a recent meeting between the British chancellor of exchequer and Italian minister of the treasury, an agreement was reached to pool resources just as Great Britain, France and Russia had previously agreed.

WATCHMAKER REPORTS DAYLIGHT-ROBBERY

Mysterious Thief Makes Way With Sixty-five Watches and Ninety Dollars

One of the most mysterious of any robbery that has been reported to the police in many a day, came to light early yesterday forenoon when George Robinson, who conducts a watch repair shop in the M. H. Shelton real estate office, 215 West Washington street, called for officers and announced that he had been robbed of a box containing $90 in cash and sixty-five watches that had been left with him to be repaired. The robbery had been committed in broad daylight and was apparently so carefully planned that there was not the slightest clue.

Robinson, who rooms at the West End rooming house, carried the watches and money with him to his room on Saturday evening. Yesterday morning before leaving for his place of business he examined the tin box containing the valuables and found them intact. Arriving at the store, he set the box down to wait on a customer who appeared almost as soon as he had opened the doors. The customer left and Robinson leaving the box behind the counter, went into a rear room where he remained three or four minutes. When he returned the box and its contents were gone. There was not the slightest clue as to who had entered the front room during the absence of Robinson. The police were unable to locate the early customer nor could they learn from any of the other business houses in the vicinity whether any person had been seen to enter or leave the place during the few minutes that Robinson was in the rear. Last evening the affair was as much of a mystery as at the time it was reported.

Generals Are Executed
BROWNSVILLE, June 7.—Three Mexican generals and ten other Mexicans, connected previously with the army of General Gutierrez, were executed by Indians composing part of the Carranza army under General Nafarrete, according to Carranza advices made public at Matamoros tonight. Carranza officers said the party was being sent by Gutierrez to the United States with a million and a half pesos to be used in organizing another revolution in Mexico.

To Take Out Refugees
VERA CRUZ, June 7.—American Consul General Arnold Shanklin and British consul at Vera Cruz, John Hutchison, departed on a special train for Pachuca, where they expect to meet foreigners whose departure from Mexico City has been arranged. Among the refugees, according to advices received by John R. Silliman, the president's representative in Mexico, are one hundred destitute Americans, 127 Spaniards, and forty-four Englishmen. They probably will reach Vera Cruz on Friday.

Says Peace Near
NEW YORK, June 7.—Gustavo Mireles, private secretary to Carranza, who reached here on his way to Washington, in what he terms "a very important mission," issued a statement that peace seemed near in Mexico, and that the campaign of Carranza against Villa will not be prolonged more than three months. He said he had received confirmation of an Obregon victory, and that Carranza troops, under Pablo Gonzalez are about to take possession of Mexico City.

"Before my departure from Vera Cruz, the first chief ordered the governors of the central states to prepare trains for the cereals which are in readiness to be taken to the capital as soon as it is occupied by our forces. This will solve in a thorough manner the Mexican situation."

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID DEAD CHIEF

Solemn and Impressive Funeral Ceremonies Held for Peter H. Sullivan in Which Citizens and Officials Participate.

Solemn and impressive were the funeral services held for the late Peter H. Sullivan, chief of the Phoenix fire department, yesterday morning. Tribute was paid the memory of one of the most popular city officials of Phoenix, both by those with whom he had in life been intimately associated and by the citizens generally.

From eight o'clock until nine o'clock the body lay in state in the corridor of the city hall building. None of the offices were opened until after the body had been taken to St. Mary's church. Resting in a handsome, steel gray casket, with flowers and floral pieces banking the way, and with flags, Elks' colors and ferns forming an effective background, the departed chief presented an appearance of peace and contentment after a losing fight in the battle for fully five hundred citizens passed through the north doors of the city hall, during the hour that the body remained at the city hall.

Then with the Pioneer band and about 150 volunteer firemen in the lead, followed by the fire department apparatus, draped in black, the hearse started for the church while the big bell in the city hall tolled thirty-nine strokes, one for each year of the age of the deceased executive of the department. During the hour that the body was in state a guard of honor consisting of four firemen and four policemen, all in uniform, stood at attention. Part of this guard of honor, together with two members of the Elks lodge, acted as pall bearers and walked at the side of the hearse.

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at the church by Father Martin, who departing from the usual custom, delivered a brief but most scholarly and impressive address upon the necessity of preparedness for death. He said it was not given to the priest upon such an occasion either to praise or condemn the dead, but he said that in the deeds of him who lay before him and in his death there was an example that all who knew him could well heed.

The Elks took charge of the funeral after leaving the church and burial was made in the firemen's plot in Greenwood. The ceremony at the grave was distinctly impressive. A large number of citizens and city officials including Mayor Young, Manager Craig, the commissioners, Chief of Police Brisbois and others were at the cemetery. The pallbearers were Ted McDonald, of the paid department; James G. Simpson, of Pioneer company, representing the volunteer department; E. G. Crooks and E. N. Barnum, of the police department, and Claude W. Chesney and Elmer Warren, of the Elks lodge. The volunteers paid final tribute to their friend and chief by tolling the bell in the tower of the firemen's monument in Greenwood.

PROJECT COST

are allowed to present arguments and briefs supporting their contentions. When the discussion ends, Taylor, as chairman, decided.

Secretary Van der Veer of the water users' association said last evening that he didn't believe it would be raising false hopes in the breasts of the water users to say that there is a strong probability that the final cost of the project will be reduced three million dollars or more. In the power division, where there has been a great waste due to a deal of experimental work, the cost cuts ought to be deep.

Kibbey New Counsel
At the very last moment, the board took up the matter of the annual appointments, with the result that both the secretary and assistant secretary were retained in the office, the engineer re-appointed and the new legal advisor and treasurer selected. Judge Joseph H. Kibbey, who drafted the original articles of incorporation, and for six years filled the position of legal advisor, was named for that position. George D. Christy, being city attorney, was dropped.

John H. Wilson, rancher in the Western canal country and formerly connected with the Phoenix National and Valley banks, was chosen treasurer to succeed George H. Lutgerding. The salary allowances were all made the same as heretofore.

About Farm Advisor
While in perfect accord with the office of the farm advisor, and recommending his work, the board voted not to renew its appropriation of $1000, made to match similar sums secured from the county for the maintenance of the office. The resolution suggests that the county put up the money until the state legislature can get back of the movement, as it was expected it would, and set aside the fund whereby the benefits of the Smith-Lever bill could be secured for this section.

The original appropriation was committed by the council on the ground the board has no right to initiate such movements, resulting in the appropriation of money. This opposition is thought to have effected the board's attitude yesterday. No new appropriation would have been needed had the extension work of the university received the support anticipated from the legislature.

NOTE TO GERMAN

live assurance from a friendly government, notwithstanding any report to the contrary.

The recent von Jagow note, it is pointed out, was predicated on the view that the Lusitania was an armed ship, but did not assert the principle that unarmed passenger ships should be similarly sunk. It maintained therefore that the principle of immunity to unarmed passenger ships was one which would be accepted by Germany as consistent with her attitude up to this time, and would give the largest measure of protection to Americans in the future.

Such an agreement on the status of the Lusitania and the principle to govern unarmed passenger ships, if generally admitted, would pave the way to a much wider adjustment of all various conflicts which have arisen over American ships and the safety of the seas, and the hope is expressed that this larger adjustment might even in turn lead to the supreme question of bringing the warring nations to peace.

Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence has arisen to delay sending the communication. One of the president's closest advisers declared there has been no intentional delay but that the note required much scrutiny and careful consideration. When the document is finally made public, these officials stated, it would not only satisfy the American public opinion but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law in its maritime warfare.

NEW YORK, June 7.—By more than a two thirds vote the stockholders of the Amalgamated Copper company ratified the plan of the directors to dissolve.
The Amalgamated ceased some time ago to be more than a holding company, having turned its active operations over to the Anaconda Copper Mining company which it controls through stock ownership. John Ryan, president of the Amalgamated, was elected president of the Anaconda.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

During a tour of Scotland, an American, thinking to get a rise out of an old Highland minister, remarked: "Don't you think, if a man left enough money to your church, he'd get into Heaven?"
"Aweel," was the cautious reply, "I wadna say that for a fact, but it's weel worth tryin."

testing against a further appropriation, were probably the deciding factors in the matter.

At the May meeting it was resolved to request those owners of the excess lands, who had prepared their fields for water prior to the report of the survey board, to list their holdings that excess water now stored might be apportioned to them. At yesterday's meeting, it was reported that but 1200 acres of the 20,000 had been listed, and the original committee on this matter, President Orme and Governors Hanson and Dobson were named to verify the preparedness of the lands to receive water.

It was also decided not to allow school and homestead lands the exemption from percentage penalties on deferred assessments, previously allowed.
