"MOTTO" HANGINGS.
One of the Latest Fancies Among Needle Workers in a Prettypretty Ornament.

The "motto" hanging curtain or portiere is the latest fancy among the guild of needle workers. To make it the woman who knows her business procures a number of lengths of two-inch ribbon in her favorite colors, or varying shades thereof, and upon these ribbons she induces her friends to inscribe their autographs, together with the date of inscribing, the motto or watchword which is supposed to rule and dominate their life and character, and any other fragments of similar nature likely.

The lettering is done in sepia, oil colors, colored or even black ink, according to taste. Sepia looks especially well upon yellow, golden brown or certain shades of green; black ink is striking upon scarlet or blue; purple writing fluid is lovely upon lavender or other pearly tones. If the maker of the portiere is doubtful concerning the ability of her friends to do the lettering artistically she merely asks them to write upon slips of white paper, and herself copies the legends thus obtained upon the ribbons. In rare cases the names are embroidered instead of written.

When ready for making up the ribbons—varying from six to ten feet in length—are attached to and suspended from a wider ribbon as long as the portiere is to be wide, and upon which is emblazoned the name, motto and other particulars concerning the fair owner. Fringed, scalloped or pointed ends of similar or the same ribbon, a line of painting or em-broidering, may serve to conceal the method of joining. Once attached the loose ends of ribbon are arranged according to the location of the motto.
If this is near the top or bottom of the ribbon the portiere is connected midway; if passing along most of the length the waving ribbons are allowed to hang free. "Rainbow" portieres of this order are much liked.

A gloriously bit of color and a delicious sentiment hanging in the result, however they are fastened. "Purple and gold and the glory thereof" are as nothing compared to the color scheme and beauty of a really well made and artistically arranged "motto portiere."—Chicago Times-Herald.

GO SLOW ON WIDOWS.
That Was the Piece of Good Advice
One of Them Gave a Smart Young Man.

A score of us were sitting in the shade of the depot building waiting for the train, which was an hour late, when a yoke of oxen attached to a queer-looking cart turned the corner.
They were driven by a woman about 50 years of age, who was barefoot and wore a man's straw hat.

"Get up there, duck!" she exclaimed, as she laid the "bug" on the off ox with a resounding whack. "You, there, Peter, what you skittishun 'round that way fur? Whoa, now! Both of you stan' still!"

She turned them up to the platform, threw down some hay taken from the cart, and came up among us to inquire of the depot agent about a barrel of salt. He was busy then and she was waiting around, when the smart Alick of the crowd, who was traveling for a wine house, remarked in tones meant for her to overhear:

"I have always said if I married at all, I'd marry a woman who could drive oxen."
"Is that meant for me?" she asked, as she walked straight up to him.
"Are you a widow, ma'am?"
"I am. Bin a widder ever since a sawlog rolled over Jim nine years ago."
"And you'd marry again if you had the opportunity, would you?"
"I would. When Jim lay a-tyin' in the house he told me to marry agin if I had a show."
"Ahem! I see. Could you love a second husband?"

"I could. It runs in our family to love. We be a sippy and keep it up to the grave. What's your proposition?
I'm a plain woman, full of bizness, and never do any foolin'. If you've got anything to say, spit it right out afore you all."
"—I don't want to marry just now," he stammered.

"Don't eh? Then what's the use of gettin' me on my tiptoes about it? You man, you jest the same as asked me to have you, and I jest the same as accepted you!"
"Oh! No, no! I merely made some inquiries!" he replied.

"Them inquiries was about love, sir, and my heart's a-thumping away like all git out! I said I'd marry agin, and I will. We are engaged. When do you want me to be ready?"
"Madam, you have totally misunderstood me, as he turned all sorts of colors and appeared to grow small. "I asked you a few questions out of curiosity."
"Mebbe the jury will call it curiosity, and mebbe they won't," she said, as she set her jaw.

"They don't allow no foolin' 'round in Posey county. When a feller goes as fur as you hev it's a hitch or damages. I'm a-tremblin' all over like a girl, an' my heart's a-tryin' to jump out. It's regular love or I don't know the road hum. You don't leave here, young man, till this case is settled."
"But, ma'am you see—"

"I don't know nuthin' but marriage or damages. You've asked me to have you. I said I would. Will you marry or settle?"

"How—how much?" he gasped, as he looked around and failed to find any sympathy.

"Wall, Saginaw salt is a dollar and a quarter a bar'l," she replied, as she glanced at a row of barrels down the platform. "I guess the oxen kin git hum with two bar'ls. Make it two and I'll call it squar'."

Everybody grinned except the young man. He realized that he was done for, and got out of the box by planking down the 22.50 to the agent. The cart was driven around to the spot, the barrels loaded up, and then the woman came back to the young man:

"I've settled this case, and the ax is in the cart, and I jest want to remark that if you happen this way agin and you happen to feel so awfully sunny that you can't hold yourself, you'd better go slow on widders. That's 16 of us 'round here, an' we all drive yer oxen hitched to carts, an' we all go b'arfoot in the summer and sigh to get married agin. The regular feller is three bar'ls of salt and a pound of tea, but, owing to your youth and that thunderstorm comin' up, I've let you off easy. Good-day, bab; good-day all!"—N. Y. Herald.

How Quick Can a Man Wink?—Experiments have been going on with an ingenious machine which shuts over a about a sixth of a second.

Red light is not the lowest kind visible to the eye. When a body is heated up it emits first a "gray" glow and then a red glow. Herr Lummer finds that this gray light is produced by the "red" formation and the real light by the "cone" formation in the nervous structure of the eye.

Oysters are now being sent to Europe from New Zealand, being frozen in solid blocks. The oysters are opened and then frozen in blocks 12 inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. The blocks are wrapped in paper and packed eight in a case. Should the experiment prove successful, a new industry promises to be started in the colony.

The Soldier Boy at Home.
When the soldier boy, still in camp, came home on a two-days' furlough his blithe sister scared up a tin plate somewhere, which she set at his place at the table with a tin cup beside it.
She wanted to have it look natural, she said. And the soldier boy laughed, and said the plate was all right, but he didn't want to drink out of a tin cup.
The barbs of this feeling could not even be guessed by the boy's father, who had himself in other days carried a tin cup tied to a haversack; but he didn't ask about it, nor did anybody else.

They gave the boy a china cup, as they would have given him anything else they had for the mere asking.
And before the food was brought the blithe sister removed the tin plate and substituted for it the best china plate that the house contained. And then they led him to the fattened calf.
They'll bring out all the crockery and kill the whole menagerie when the boy comes home.—N. Y. Sun.

DOMESTIC OLIVE OIL.
The Demand for It Is Steadily Increasing—Valuable as a Medicine.

There is a general growing demand in all the markets of our country for the California pickled olive. The California olive grower is able to compete with the foreign market in this direction, as the pickled olives admit of no adulteration; consequently each stands on its own merits.

The superiority of the California olive has called attention to the California olive oil, which is as good as the pickled olive. Here the competition is difficult, as the foreign oils are nearly all adulterated. Were they brought here pure they could not be sold at the price the California oil can be made for.

There is reason to believe that the government will do something for the protection of its home olive growers similar to that which it has done for the prune, raisin and orange growers.
There are at the present time 2,500,000 olive trees in California, and about three-fourths of these are in southern California. It is said that the latter place can grow enough olive-trees to make all the olive oil and pickled olives that this country can consume.

The California raisins, prunes and oranges had to fight for their recognition in the United States, and even though the superiority of these was admitted the government had to lend some aid.

The pure olive oil is an excellent remedy for stomach troubles, and is also prescribed by doctors for all diseases of the nerves. A tablespoonful taken every night has been known to effect a speedy cure in cases of chronic indigestion. The first taste may not prove agreeable, but after a few doses one learns to like it.—N. Y. Tribune.

Pipe Smokers.
Men of strong fiber smoke pipes.
This assertion is based on critical observation, and the longer I live the stronger is my conviction of its truth.
After watching a gang of Italians eating their midday meal, I picked out nearly every one who would smoke a pipe, my selection being put to the proof as soon as bread and pork were gotten out of the way. Do not understand me to say that all men of strong fiber smoke pipes. By no means. Some of the strongest men as well as physical material do not smoke at all, and I think there are a few water-fellow who inhale cigarettes. But take men as they go, here, there and everywhere, in all the walks of life, the pipe smokers are generally Harveyized steel plate.—N. Y. Times.

ried?

my face came from stumbling over a barbed wire fence in the dark."—Pearson's
