The Three Gospels.

(Communicated.)

"See how the monarchies of Europe are delighted in our present imperial expansion policy. They know that our present policy is not republicanism at all; they know that it is monarchy in essence, if not in name; they know that it means bondage, debts and slavery at home and abroad. This Philippine war is nothing but wholesale murder; war is never justifiable except in self defense. We are not fighting to defend the life of the republic. Every 'Philippino' killed is murdered by our government. It is humiliating; it is a shame; yet, it is horrible. It makes my blood boil with indignation to read of the murder of those poor Philipinos who are fighting as we did in 1776 for independence."—[Extract from a sermon by Rev. D. Oglesby.]

"The theory that there can exist in any indefinite body of people the right to substitute their own will or self-constituted form of government for the regular constituted sovereignty of any particular territory is contrary to reason and to all international practices."—[The gospel according to Saint Grigg, mouthpiece of the Imperialist manager, as reported in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat June 23rd, 1890. (Aside). So then, our republic rests on a theory contrary to reason and all international practices. The clause within brackets may be true.]

"The theory that there can exist in any so-called constituted sovereignty, masquerading behind the name of government, the right by reason of their superior destructive power, under the false plea of manifest destiny, to subjugate and assume jurisdiction over the rights, the lives and the liberties of weaker nations, is a theory that can emanate only from the lowest dregs of hell, endorsed and approved only by bands and fools."—[The gospel according to the Only Crank.]

Pay your money and take your choice.

George T. Blair, superintendent of the Mammoth mine, was in Florence Wednesday. He reports everything moving along smoothly on the great gold property under his charge. The capacity of the mill will soon be increased by an additional battery of twenty stamps, and the electric power generated on the Arivaipa will be transmitted some fifteen miles to run mill and hoisting works. The building of the dam will cost more than $100,000, to say nothing of other improvements proposed which will add much to the taxable wealth of our county. When completed, more than double the men now employed will find work with the company.

Andy Hunter, a well-known miner and prospector, was brought up from Casa Grande Wednesday evening and placed in the county hospital. He was thrown out of a buggy the day before, and the entire lower portion of his body was paralyzed. Death came as a welcome relief Thursday morning, and his remains were buried in the cemetery in the evening. Hunter was highly spoken of as honest upright man.

Cornelio Angulo was over from Tucson this week investigating the business outlook of Florence. It proved to be so good that Cornelio has concluded to go into partnership with his brother Simon, and together they will put in a more extensive stock of general merchandise, including a fine line of dry goods, notions, hats and shoes. These young men are out for business and will doubtless get their share.

Born—In Florence, August 10, 1890, to the wife of Frank Shields, a son, weight eight pounds. Mother and child doing nicely and the senior member of the firm of Shields & Price slowly recovering. If the boy grows up to be as good a man as his dad, with the sweet and gentle disposition of his mother, he will be all right.

The Board of Equalization was in session this week hearing complaints of parties who thought (or seemed to think) they had been unjustly treated. The Board is composed of fair-minded men who are disposed to listen to reason.

Who Will be our Next President? Politicians are now planning for the presidential campaign of 1900, but the war has so overshadowed all other matters that politics is almost unnoticed. Many people are of the opinion that the candidates will be the same as in 1896, but there may be a "dark horse" who will win the race. Popularity has much to do with candidates. This is also true with medicine. The most popular remedy to-day is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and it has retained this for many years. Science never discovered the equal of this medicine for stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It builds up solid flesh tissue, imparts vigor and vitality to all organs, and makes life worth living. A bottle will make a big change for the better. Try it.

Brady's Dilemma.

"It is said that one must go away from home to learn the news, which is sufficient excuse for publishing the following from the Tucson Frontier:

Word comes from Florence that the ex-county treasurer is in jail. He was contemplating a trip to the sea coast and had his passes, but the route was changed. His bondsmen got tired of his actions and talk and withdrew from his court-bond. A short time ago we wrote to one of the Florence surties on the ex-treasurer's official bond and suggested that he examine the sworn report of the supervisors and district attorney as to the amount and kind of cash-on-hand at the previous examination, about April 1st. That six thousand dollars could have been stolen between April 1 and July 1 seemed incomprehensible, and, in the light of other events, absurd. Having failed to make his shortage good for the July examination the question occurred, how did he fix things in April? The statutes of Arizona provide that county treasurers must keep county funds in the safe provided for them by the supervisors. This is one of those dead-letter laws, but usually the money is within reach in the bank. Florence has no bank, so Pinal's cash, to a great extent, was deposited in Tucson. By allowing the treasurer to ignore the law, the supervisors and other examining officers were compelled to break it, in enumerating the "cash-on-hand," the board accepted and counted a "statement" from the bank. This gave the treasurer his opportunity. All he needed to do was to alter the bank statement to suit the deficit. Information is received that the bank report of the treasurer's balance on April 1st was raised about $5,000. This is a good sample of the style of examinations by grand juries and boards. In the first place, the bank statement should never have been considered. If considered, then the board should have taken extra precautions to protect the county. If lack of express and railroad facilities made it unduly dangerous to bring or keep all county funds Florence, then the law should have been changed. A certified check, a cashier's certificate of deposit, —verified by wire on the day of examination—is the least the board should have been satisfied with under the circumstances. That they took a mere "statement," without verification, and with changes in it by an unexpert hand, goes to condemn the "simplicity" of the examining officials. The democratic board and district attorney of Pinal almost equalled the feat when they counted tax receipts in the hands of our county treasurer as cash, in January a year ago. Public business will, however, be run right, and on the same principles as private business, eventually. That is, when the people get it in the neck so often and hard that the neck will get unbearable sore. Then it will change—forn brief period.

Joseph Pheby, of the Silver King mine, was in town this week on business before the Board of Equalization. Mr. Pheby recently returned from a voyage around the world, during which he witnessed some of the fighting near Manila. He is a skillful raconteur, and hence his story is an interesting one.

APPOINTED DELEGATES.

The People Again Betrayed by His Royal Accidenty.

[From the Phoenix Enterprise.]

His accidenty made some characteristic appointment yesterday. To the irrigation congress that meets at Missoula, Montana, next month, he appointed the following: A. J. Chandler of the Consolidated canal, J. K. Doolittle of the Rio Verde canal, W. A. Hancock of the Agua Fria canal, G. J. Halliday-recoverer of the Arizona canal, and Andrew Kimball of the Enterprise canal of Graham county. These corporations also have a right under the call for the convention to appoint one delegate each, so that the canal will be well represented. But where do the people get a chance to be heard? In other states and territories the governors have heretofore selected the delegates to be appointed by himself from the ranks of the people. But our accidenty no doubt thinks the people have no rights or interests in the matter that corporations are bound to respect. The governor has shown by these appointments that no interests in the territory except the canal interests should be represented; the people should not be considered. But then it would be folly to expect a corporation to recognize any other but corporation interests. How long, O Lord, must poor old Arizona endure this accidental affliction.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering.—Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. BURDICK, Liberty, E. I. For sale by Brockway's Pharmacy.

Harry E. Layton has purchased a half interest in the Border Vidette. Mr. Layton is a well-known correspondent in Arizona and Sonora and until recently was connected with the Los Angeles Herald.

During the civil war, as well as in our late war with Spain, diarrhoea was one of the most troublesome diseases the army had to contend with. In many instances it became chronic and the old soldiers still suffer from it. Mr. David Taylor of Wind Ridge, Greene Co., Pa., is one of these. He uses Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and says he never found anything that would give him such quick relief. It is for sale by Brockway's Pharmacy.
