

THE FLORENCE TRIBUNE

BY FLORENCE PUBLISHING CO. FLORENCE, ARIZONA, JULY 14, 1906. TERMS: One Year $3.00, Six Months 1.50, Three Months .75, Single Copies .05

For President, William J. Bryan. For Vice President, Adlai E. Stevenson.

It is apparent that something must be done to provide water for the Indians. In order to demonstrate our ability to govern new peoples we must show a better record for those now in our care.

Those who have least to pay have most to say.

R. C. Brown, of the Globe Times, is said to be negotiating for the Nogales Vidette.

A vast difference exists between reputation and character. Yet how few seem to realize it.

The Tribune hoped that representative Florence citizen, Hon. George A. Brown, would become its first mayor, but fates decreed otherwise.

To Hon. J. M. Murphy, of Mohave county, is given the credit of incorporating the arid land and statehood planks in the national democratic platform.

The Con. Virginia, at Virginia City, Nevada, is in big ore and the stock of that company is taking an upward trend for the first time in years. The strike was made in the 1950 level.

Tomestone, Chloride and a number of other Arizona towns are far more anxious to disincorporate than they were to incorporate. Let us hope that Florence may not have reason to regret the steps taken for incorporation.

And now comes the Florence Tribune and accuses the present administration with being responsible for the condition of affairs in China. The democratic convention somehow overlooked this.

We don't remember saying any such thing, but if we did say it, will stick to it.

It makes one tired to read republican editorials about what the last democratic administration did, when it is considered that all that is left of the Cleveland administration is now in the republican party, which is now carrying out the Cleveland policy to the letter.

Utah has just sold $300,000 in state bonds at par. The bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States. The sale of these bonds shows the fallacy of the gold bug contention that a gold clause is necessary to make bonds marketable.

The Honolulu Republican, with Edwin S. Gill editor, is a bright and newsy eight-page newspaper recently established in the capital of our new Territory of Hawaii. It has already secured a good advertising patronage and bids fair to become the leading paper of the islands.

Ex-Governor Stone of Missouri touched a popular chord when he paid a glowing tribute to the silver republicans. He said republicans like Teller and Towne who marched out of the republican convention four years ago on a question of principle were deserving of more consideration than demagogues like Hill who marched out of the democratic convention. But the 'branded democrats' don't happen to think so.

Had it not been for the personal influence of Teller and Towne the silver republican convention would not have endorsed Stevenson—the 'tail of the Cleveland kite,' as one delegate expressed it. As Senator Teller well said, 'This is a matter of principle and not men—the very existence of the republic is involved—and every true patriot should be willing to lay aside his individual preferences.'

POLITICS IN IRRIGATION.

The question of the reclamation of arid lands by the government has become so vital that many of the State political platforms in the arid region have declared in favor of such a policy while at Philadelphia the national platform of the republicans contained the following plank: 'We recommend adequate national legislation to reclaim the arid lands of the United States, reserving control of the distribution of water for irrigation to the respective States and Territories.'

While it may argue well for a cause that is considered of sufficient importance to declare for it in the platform of a great political party, the question itself is not one that should be dragged into politics. The National Irrigation movement is one which can be, and is being, combined upon by all parties. It is a question as vitally interesting to the western Democrat as to his Republican or Populist neighbor, and no matter what difference of opinion may be held upon other issues, all can agree upon the proposition that the reclamation of the arid lands of the West is a subject for consideration and solution by Congress. It is to be hoped that the movement looking to the building of storage reservoirs by the government and the conquest of arid America will stand upon a strictly non-partisan basis.

Plans for the democratic national campaign of 1906 were outlined and practically agreed upon at a protracted conference between the leaders of the party at Lincoln, Neb., on the 9th inst. The plans include the appointment of a campaign committee as agreed upon between the representatives of the democratic, silver republican and populist parties at Kansas City. This committee will include the members of all three parties and perhaps also democrats not members of the national committee, but who are prominent in the councils of the party. This committee will, it is said, have charge, in a measure, of the practical working of the campaign and will work for fusion on state and congressional tickets, wherever possible. The press and executive committees, it is expected, will with one or two exceptions be the same as last year. The personnel of all the committees was left in the hands of Chairman Jones.

Following is the arid land plank adopted by the silver republicans at Kansas City last week. A similar resolution, though not so explicit, was passed by both the democratic and republican conventions:

We believe that the national government should lend every aid, encouragement and assistance toward the reclamation of arid lands of the United States, and to that end we are in favor of a comprehensive survey thereof, and an immediate ascertainment of the water supply available for such reclamation, and we believe it to be the duty of the general government to provide for the construction of storage reservoirs and irrigation works, so that the water supply of the arid region may be utilized to the greatest possible extent in the interests of the people while preserving all rights of the State.

The Tribune got in a 'scoop' on its esteemed contemporaries last week which was of some account. One hour after Adlai Stevenson was nominated for vice president at Kansas City this great family journal was on the streets, and the newsboys were calling out 'all about the nomination of Bryan and Stevenson!' We feel somewhat better about that dentistry 'scoop.'

Nobody seems to want office in Pinal county this fall—at least no one has announced himself. It is to be hoped we will not be obliged to go outside the county for our officers.

Dr. McNaughton tendered his resignation as Principal of the San Jose Normal School, which was accepted. It is to be hoped that the Dr. will again locate in Arizona, as he is an able educator and a good citizen.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

SONORA.

The Empire State of the West Mexican Coast.

The Tribune is in receipt of an elegant brochure published under the above title by the Sonora Railway Company and edited by our fellow journalist, Allen T. Bird of Nogales. The pamphlet is very attractive typographically, and the matter interesting and well written. The illustrations are especially superior, embracing full page sketches of Guaymas and its bay as well as several other scenes in and about that city of 10,000 inhabitants, with electric street cars, water works and Americanized hotels, with its beautiful bay bountifully supplied with game fish and luscious bivalves. The sketches of Hermosillo are also full page. This city is the capitol of the state. It has a population of 15,000 and contains several expensive and handsome public buildings, beside many fine residences. In its vicinity are numerous thoroughly cultivated orange orchards and other attractions for the tourist. In the publication under consideration the mining developments of the section of country tributary to the Sonora Railway are fully referred to, and also the agricultural possibilities, making the pamphlet one of real value to the intending tourist or prospective investor. The Sonora Railway is now a part of the Southern Pacific system. It connects with the S. P. at Benson, Arizona, running thence 353 miles nearly due south to Guaymas, crossing the Sonora line at Nogales. The line was built as a part of the Santa Fe system in the heyday of its prosperity. However it has since been acquired by the Southern Pacific and the system has under the able and energetic direction of Manager J. A. Naugle become an important factor in the development of the vast and varied resources of the section it traverses. The roadbed has been largely rebuilt and the equipment throughout been brought up to a first class standard. Now a luxurious ride of fourteen hours in a Pullman coach suffices to carry the traveler from Benson to Guaymas, while the traffic, both passenger and freight, is largely increasing continually. This result is largely attributable to the unwavering confidence of Manager Naugle in the natural wealth of the country tributary to the road and to his ability and energy, supported by the capital of the Southern Pacific. A copy of 'Sonora, the Empire State,' may be procured by application to J. A. Naugle, Guaymas, Sonora, or to an agent of the Southern Pacific at all prominent stations.

A New Empire. To reclaim all the land possible in the West will involve the spreading of water over a surface as large as New England and New York combined. Standing now at the birth of things and looking down the vista of the future, we can see in the course of western rivers the dim outline of a mighty civilization, blest with peace and crowned with a remarkable degree of prosperity, in case wise laws and just irrigation policies shall prevail in the years of the immediate future while institutions are forming.

A Kansas yarn: 'In Kansas barbers die of starvation. When you see a wagon on the road looking as if it were loaded with silk, it's only the old man's whiskers stacked up behind him; most of the streets are paved, the grains of corn being used for cobblestones, while the cobs are hollow out and used for sewer pipes. The husk, when taken off whole and stood on end, makes a very nice tent for the children to play in. It sounds queer to have the feed man tell the driver to hitch up and take over a dozen grains of horse feed to Jackson's livery stable. If it were not for the soft deep soil here, I don't see how they would harvest the corn as the stalks would grow as high as a Methodist church steeple. However, when the ears get too heavy their weight presses the stalk down in the ground on an average of 32 feet, thus bringing the ear near enough to the surface to be chopped off with an ax.'

A Good Cough Medicine. Many thousands have been restored to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. If afflicted with any throat or lung trouble, give it a trial for it is certain to prove beneficial. Coughs that have resisted all other treatment for years, have yielded to this remedy and perfect health been restored. Cases that seemed hopeless, that the climate of famous health resorts failed to benefit, have been permanently cured by its use. For sale by Brockway's Pharmacy.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—Mrs. CURTIS BAKER, Bookwaite, Ohio. Sold by Brockway's Pharmacy.

Bald Spots. With-out help, a bald spot never grows smaller. It keeps spreading, until at last your friends say, 'How bald he is getting.' Not easy to cure an old baldness, but easy to stop the first thinning, easy to check the first falling out. Used in time, baldness is made impossible with—AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It stops falling, promotes growth, and takes out all dandruff. It always restores color to faded or gray hair, all the dark, rich color of early life. You may depend upon it every time. It brings health to the hair. $1.00 a bottle. All Druggists. Write the Doctor. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the Doctor about it. Address, Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

The Deadliest Poisons.

Most people don't realize how deadly some poisons are, said one of the leading druggists. The discoverer of prussic acid was instantly killed by inhaling one whiff of his own handiwork. Pure prussic acid is never sold nor handled. The smell of it is always fatal. It kills, not in three minutes or half an hour, but the instant it enters the lungs as a gas. The mixture ordinarily sold as prussic acid is ninety-eight parts water to two parts of the drug. Even in this form it is very deadly. A 20 per cent mixture of the acid would kill nearly as quickly as if pure.

Atropine, though it has no harmful odor, is so deadly that as much of it as would adhere to the end of a moistened forefinger would instantly cause death. Cyanide of potassium has a pleasant smell, which is not injurious, but a small quantity swallowed kills at once. Pure ammonia if inhaled would cause death almost as quickly as prussic acid.

When a carboy of nitric acid is broken some one has to suffer. It will burn wood, eat through iron plates and destroy whatever it touches. Such an accident once happened in an acid factory. Every one ran away, leaving the acid to amuse itself by setting fire to things. Soon it was seen that the building would be destroyed and hundreds of people thrown out of work, and four men volunteered to put out the fire in the acid room. They succeeded, and came out feeling all right. Five hours later all were dead.

Does the Baby Thrive. If not, something must be wrong with its food. If the mother's milk doesn't nourish it, she needs SCOTT'S EMULSION. It supplies the elements of fat required for the baby. If baby is not nourished by its artificial food, then it requires Scott's Emulsion. Half a teaspoonful three or four times a day in its bottle will have the desired effect. It seems to have a magical effect upon babies and children. A fifty-cent bottle will prove the truth of our statements. Should be taken in summer as well as winter. Sold by Druggists.
