DROPPED DEAD ON EL PASO STREETS

Ponder Childs, Health Seeker and Bisbee Resident, Meets Sudden End.

Word was received in the city yesterday that Ponder L. Childs, formerly employed in this city had dropped dead in El Paso.

Childs came to Bisbee in the latter part of March of this year, from Los Angeles, and was employed in the Wave confectionary store until the latter part of May. He then entered the employ of Barker on Brewery Avenue. He left Bisbee on last Saturday evening and the next heard of him he was reported dead in El Paso.

Childs was a native of Georgia, and several years ago suffered a severe illness which left him in a weakened condition. He came West and settled in Los Angeles where he remained for nearly a year. Not getting any better in California he concluded to try Arizona's climate, and came to Bisbee. After coming to Bisbee he did well for a while, and then began to fall again. He was very delicate and was subject to extended sick spells. He finally determined that he was never going to get better and made up his mind to spend his few remaining days with his parents.

On last Saturday evening he started from Bisbee and was very weak at that time, but said that the thought of going home would give him strength to make the journey to Georgia. Childs was 22 years of age. His relatives will be communicated with as to their wishes in the disposition of the remains.

FINDS DEATH BY LEAP, FAILING WITH A KNIFE.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Just nine years were required to convince Mrs. Samuel Greenberg, a pretty little woman 25 years of age, the mother of two babies, whose husband is doing a term of six months on the island for abuse and failure to support his little brood that life was not worth living. She first went to the room in which her children were sleeping, kissed them both many times, crooned over them and cried softly, then, taking a carving knife, she cut a great gash in her throat and lay down to die.

But the blood did not flow quickly enough for Mrs. Greenberg, so, springing to her feet while she had yet the strength, she hurled herself through the kitchen window of her flat and plunged down three stories to the paved court below.

Greenberg gave up a well-paying job to beat the races a year or so ago. He neglected his family and abused his wife so that she had to appeal to a magistrate, who sent her husband to the penitentiary.

That bathing suit dinner ought to put to rest all the rumors to the effect that Harry Lehr and his friends have also become safe and sane.

On last Saturday evening he started from Bisbee and was very weak at that time, but said that the thought of going home would give him strength to make the journey to Georgia. Childs was 22 years of age. His relatives will be communicated with as to their wishes in the disposition of the remains.

GOLL IS OUT FOR THE OFFICE OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

Tombstone Scribe Would Point the Way to the Young Idea in Cochise.

A communication received in Bisbee yesterday from Oscar K. Goll, city editor of the Tombstone Prospector, indicates in certain terms, couched in the fine style of the trained journalist that Goll has his eagle eye on the office of County Superintendent of Schools of Cochise county and that he will make a bid for the support of the Democrats of Cochise county in his aspirations.

Goll is a newspaper man of no mean ability and his standing in the leading newspaper offices of the country should make him a formidable opponent to any republican out for the honor he seeks. Mr. Goll has been a resident of the county seat for several years and has also resided in Bisbee at different times in the past.

It is evident from the tone of his communication that he has the backing of the Tombstone contingent in his effort to sit at the head of the county's educational department. He contemplates a fence building trip to Bisbee in the near future when he will interview some of the leading democrats and endeavor to enlist their support and sympathy in his latest aspirations.

Mr. Goll's mastery of style of English should stand him in good stead when he takes the stump in his own behalf and his oratorical ability a handy weapon in managing the school matters of the county.

LECTURED AT Y. M. C. A. ON MEXICO

Attorney Orfila Pleases Big Audience With History of Sister Republic.

The lecture on Mexico given by Hon. A. Orfila gave a very interesting as well as instructive talk on the early history, customs and language of the country. The descriptions of the old republics, which are numerous in the old republics, were exceptionally interesting and were well appreciated by the audience. Many points of interest were well illustrated from the stereopticon.

Mr. Orfila took up the history of Mexico from the occupation of the southern republic by its primitive inhabitants, the Toltecs, dwelling at length on the characteristics and customs of the people, the coming of Cortez in 1519, with eleven vessels and a band of 800 soldiery.

His forceful portrayal of the revolutionary war that terrorized Mexico and ended in the war of 1845 was perhaps one of the leading features of the lecture, and stimulated as keen interest as any other part of his program.

He dwelt at length on the reformation period and the war of 1857, leading up, in a pleasing manner, to the French invasion in 1861.

Throughout the lecture Mr. Orfila's talk was illustrated in a manner that added interest to his remarks.

The lecture, which was given under the auspices of the Camera Club and the Spanish class of the Association, was the first of a series of lectures in which Mr. Orfila is expected to figure prominently. Judging from the number present at last night's first number on the program, and the keen interest displayed, together with the applause that was given the speaker at the close of his remarks, the series will be among the popular and instructive events of the season.

INQUEST INTO DEATH OF MRS. CAMERON HAS A DELAY

Inability of Physician to Be Present Causes Postponement.

What drove Mrs. J. M. Cameron to take her own life on Thursday night is still a mystery, and will probably remain so for all time. The husband of the dead woman has not recovered from the shock which her death caused him. He knows of no other reason for her action, except as he said before, that she might have become dependent on account of the reduced circumstances in which they have been for some time.

The coroner's inquest was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at Coroner Hogan's court in Lowell. On the coroner's jury were Fred Goldschmidt, Ross Tolpin, Aleck Kennedy, J. J. Kent, Henry McMillan and T. H. Carter.

The principal witness was the husband of the dead woman. He testified that his wife seemed to be in good spirits when he came home from work, and that he had not had an inkling of the tragedy until he heard the shot. H. H. Warburton testified that he had entered the room a couple of minutes after the shot was fired, and at that time Cameron was leaning across the form of his wife. He was talking to her, but she made no reply. He said that he picked up the gun and took it to his room, where he kept it until the coroner arrived. Mrs. Grant and John Pringle, who were in the house at the time of the tragedy, testified as to the time the shot was fired, and to the position in which the dead woman lay. The inquest was then adjourned until five o'clock, to take the testimony of Dr. Baum.

ADD CAMERON

The funerals will take place at the Palace Undertaking Parlors this morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Harvey M. Shields officiating. The interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

REPORT AS MADE ON FIRE FACILITIES

Detailed Report of Department Committee Shows Estimated Cost of Work.

The report of the committee from the fire department, detailed to look into the cost of constructing tanks and water mains for better fire protection for the City of Bisbee, as turned into the department at Thursday night's meeting, contains much of importance and interest to the taxpayers who may be called on in the future to vote for or against the project. The fire department is determined that, sooner or later, Bisbee will have a better fire department and better equipment with which to battle against fire. The report as given below contains the essential features taken up by the committee and discussed at the last meeting of the department, at which time a committee was appointed to confer with the City Council with a view to securing the much needed improvements.

Report of Committee.

Bisbee, Arizona, July 25, 1906
Mr. C. M. Henkle, Chief Bisbee Fire Department, City:

Dear Sir:—Your committee appointed for the purpose of arriving at the cost of complete fire protection as laid down by the rules and regulations of the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific Coast, begs to submit the following estimate:

Three steel tanks with storage capacity of 1,068,550 gal. (356,500 gals. each) installed, $16,081
About 4500 feet 10-inch pipe ... 9,000
4-inch laterals ... 10,000
200 hydrants ... 4,000
Gaseous fire alarm system with boxes ... 2,500
Combination wagon ... 2,000
Horses and harness ... 1,750

It will therefore be seen that an expenditure of approximately $50,000 will be necessary.

From information obtained, your committee decided that tanks built of steel would be preferable to tanks of wooden construction, with very little difference in the cost. Mr. Sherman also furnished an estimate of $17,840 on a concrete reservoir with a capacity of one million gallons, but advised the use of steel tanks instead at even cost, and especially as the steel tanks were $1600 cheaper.

Your committee wishes to acknowledge the great assistance rendered by Supt. Gerald Sherman, of the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Co., who placed his engineering corps, headed by W. G. McBride, chief engineer, at our disposal to work in conjunction with City Engineer McNeish.

Yours very truly,
GEO. E. BUNTON, Chairman,
J. J. COUGHLIN,
M. NEWMAN.

RIGLER INQUEST FREES ENGINEER FROM ANY BLAME

Pin Used to Hold Clutch Lever, Jarred From Hole and Let Bucket to Bottom.

The inquest into the cause of the death of Jake Rigler at the Shattuck-Arizona property on Thursday night, was held in Coroner Murphy's court last evening.

On the corner's jury were: T. J. Jones, Thomas Dickson, Fred Roanay, Duncan Chisholm, T. Kirkpatrick and Edward Peak.

The witnesses before the jury were: L. Brisbane and James Trevena, the two men who had been working on the crosshead with Rigler and had just stepped off before the accident occurred; Ed Barnett, the engineer; George E. Talbot, the master mechanic at the mine, and A. Westerland, who was working on the surface.

The principal witness was Ed Barnett. He explained that he had lowered the men to the depth at which they were working and had then pulled back the clutch on the engine and inserted the pin to hold the clutch tight. He said that he then turned to attend to the other drum on which he was hoisting. He said that he thought the jarring from the drum with which he was hoisting had gradually worked the pin out of its place, and as soon as the pin fell it released the clutch and the accident followed.

The jury remained out about twenty-five minutes and then brought in their verdict. The verdict was as follows: "We, the jury, from the testimony, find that the deceased came to his death accidentally and attach no blame to anyone concerned."

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Rigler home in the Johnson Addition, the Rev. Harvey M. Shields will conduct the services. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias.

NEW LIGHT ON CASE OF HOWARD

The latest developments in the case of the Territory against Ed Howard, charged with the theft of a calf, the property of Rancher Jake Shearer, puts an entirely different aspect on the action of Justice Hogan in binding the man over to the next session of the grand jury.

From such information as was obtainable from the testimony adduced at the hearing at Lowell Thursday, it would appear that Hogan's action was strange, but it now appears that while Howard would not take the stand in his own defense, he has talked freely with Shearer and with the cowpuncher, Echols, who trailed the lost calf to the Howard corral and fixed the act of its killing on Howard.

Howard has never denied that he killed the calf, but has steadily maintained that he did not think it the property of Shearer.

While the statement was not brought out from Shearer, Echols, the cowboy in Shearer's employ, testified that Howard had told him he thought the calf one of the Hysham and Neal herd, or an "B" calf, thus giving the ranger force a line on what they say is his thieving propensities.

From the information obtainable after the hearing of the case at Lowell, it appeared that Hogan's action was based on something more than testimony adduced at the hearing, but this point seems now cleared in the face of the Echols statement.

Echols testified that he took up the trail of the calf from the place where the cow was found, and that he trailed the same from this place right up to Howard's corral. Though he was subjected to a severe cross-examination his testimony was not broken down on this point. That he had a conversation with the defendant on July 14 in Douglas and the defendant told him he supposed he was taking an "A" calf, which, according to the testimony, was the brand owned by Hysham and Neal.

Mr. Shearer approached him and told him he understood it was believed that he had taken one of his calves; that if he did so, it was through mistake, as he did not know whose calf it was. He then paid Mr. Shearer a sum of money in settlement of the matter, and the fact of the passing of the money was testified to by Echols also.

Mr. Kenny, a butcher at Lowell, testified that a day or so prior to the 14th the defendant had sold him a slaughtered unbranded calf. No testimony of any kind was introduced by the defendant.
