GENERAL NEWS.

A Fatal Prize Fight.
SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—It has just transpired that a prize fight occurred across the bay near Sausalito, in Marin county, yesterday. The contestants were Chas. Oram, an Englishman, and George Warden, an American, both heavy weights, boatmen of Sausalito. The fight grew out of a dispute as to the pugilistic merits of Sullivan and Tug Wilson. The match was made for $250 a side, two weeks ago, and both went into training. The matter was kept very quiet and only a few spectators were present. The rules were a modification of the Queensbury and London prize ring. The interval between the rounds were reduced to twenty seconds. The gloves used were a mere pretext, being hardly thicker than driving gloves, Emerson weighs about 175 and Oram ten pounds less. The fight began at 3 p. m. and lasted about three-quarters of an hour, seven rounds being fought. Oram was overmatched and would have withdrawn after a round or two had he been permitted. He was terribly punished and Emerson was also considerably used up. When Oram was whipped to a stand still his seconds threw up the sponge. He complained of pains in the head and chest, and against the advice of friends took a stiff glass of brandy. He was taken to his home near the scene of the fight where he lived alone, and early in the evening, feeling better, sent away his attendants. This morning Charles Dexter, steward of the Pacific Yacht Club, which has its club house near Oram's cabin, sent a messenger to inquire as to his condition, he was found dead and cold in his bed, having evidently been dead at least six hours. Emerson was arrested and jailed and officers are seeking the other parties to the affair. Not a person could be found in Sausalito to-day who witnessed the fight, though all admit that they have heard of it.

LATER.
SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—The dispatch from San Rafael of the reported prize fight at Sausalito is a hoax. Two ancient vagrants were induced to put on the gloves by some sportive citizens, but neither of them was in the least hurt. Oram died during the night of heart disease. The coroner's jury found a verdict in accordance with the above statement. No arrests. The hoax was perpetrated on the city evening papers by the fun-loving citizens who instigated the sparring match.

A Hornet's Nest.
SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—Louis A. Garnett and John Hewston, Jr., have each brought a libel suit in the sum of $100,000 against F. F. Low, president of the Anglo-California bank, on the ground that on the day of the failure of the Bank of California defendant said that during the preceding night bullion in the San Francisco refinery, under charge of Garnett and Hewston, and belonging to the depositors, in value between $600,000 and $700,000, was feloniously taken to the Mint and sold, and that W. C. Ralston, president of the Bank of California, was also vice president of the refinery of which Garnett was the manager and Hewston superintendent, and that most of the bullion belonged to Flood & O'Brien, or to the mining companies which they controlled.

Another Chinese Muddle.
WASHINGTON, August 26.—A member of the Chinese Legation visited the State Department to-day and informed Acting Secretary Davis that a party of Chinese play actors from Panama had been denied permission to land at San Francisco. Secretary Folger called upon Secretary Folger in reference to the matter, and the result was that Secretary Folger telegraphed the Collector of Customs at San Francisco that the Department did not regard play actors as laborers within the meaning of the Chinese Act, and suggested that the facts in the case might bring it within the late decision of Judge Field, that the law did not apply to Chinese who had shipped before the passage of the Act.

California Republicans.
SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—The Republican primaries here to-day are hotly contested. Several tickets are in the field and a large vote is being polled. All parties are apparently taking a hand. Reports from the interior, as far as received this evening, indicate that county conventions are very generally disposed to endorse the Sunday law.

NEW ORLEANS, August 26.—A. J. Dumont, president of the Republican State Central Committee, writes a letter endorsing the candidacy of W. P. Kellogg for Congress, and predict his election. These Indians had previously refused, but received no reply from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and resolved to act upon their own responsibility.

Singleton's Sincerity.
CHICAGO, August 26.—A Quincy, Ill., special says General Singleton publishes a letter to the voters of the Twelfth Congressional district, explaining and vindicating his independent candidacy, but though tacitly endorsed by the Greenback and Republican conventions, he makes no allusion to them or promises as to his independent action in Congress. The letter is rather directed to a vindication of his democracy in battling the regular nomination.

How many people this notorious woman has victimized, it is at present impossible to determine. She was on Saturday arrested for uttering a forged check on a pawnbroker for goods she had pledged. She was afterwards released, the money being made good by her friends. Further important developments are expected should the merchants victimized institute proceedings against her.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., August 28.—Prof. R. B. Welch, formerly principal of the Pontiac school, writes from Topka that his life is in danger from the liquor men there, because as Assistant United States Attorney, he has been prosecuting the violators of the State law. They have within a day or two cut his buggy in pieces, disfigured his horse, and threatened his life. He had to call a meeting of citizens to prevent being robbed.

Train Captured by Roughs.
TOLLEDO, Aug. 28.—Excursions were run yesterday to Grand Rapids ten miles from here, on the narrow gauge road. On the return trip in the afternoon five or six desperadoes with drawn revolvers, captured the train and committed daring robbery and outrage. One citizen lost seventy-five dollars, one was thrown from the platform. The conductor was used up trying to arrest one rough. All escaped except Larry King, a notorious character whom the police secured when the train reached the city.

At present the agency is in the hands of Pollock, until the matter is settled.

FOREIGN.

The Egyptian War.
WOLSELEY'S ACCOUNT.
LONDON, August 26.—The war office has received the following from General Wolseley:

"ISMAILIA, August 25.—Evening.—I pushed on again this morning at day-break. The enemy were strongly entrenched in their position at Mahalla. They withdrew their guns, however, last night. The pivot on my left, at the dam, we took yesterday, and swung around my right to take the enemy's position in the flank and drive them into the fresh water canal. I also sent cavalry completely around their position, to occupy the railway in their rear and if possible capture their engines and rolling stock. This operation was very well carried out. Major General Lowe attacked the rear of the enemy, who had a large camp at the railway station, which he took, routing the enemy with considerable loss, taking five Krupp guns, seventy-five railway carriages laden with provisions, and a large quantity of ammunition and rifles."

NOT CONFIRMED.
LONDON, August 25.—War officers have not firm the report of the capture of Tel El Kabir.

THE ENGLISH ACCOUNT.
ISMAILIA, August 26.—The enemy's loss is estimated at 4,000. The first shell fired by the enemy passed a few feet over Gen. Wolseley's head and took off a leg of a horse ten yards behind him. The enemy throughout the fight declined to come to close quarters. The two gunners killed were struck by shrapnel near Wolseley's position.

THE BATTLE.
ALEXANDRIA, August 26.—The troops behaved well. They were all day without water or food, after marching ten miles through a heavy sand. The enemy's cavalry swept around the British right flank, but did not come within striking distance. The Egyptian fire was too hot for the Life Guards to cross the open space towards them. The British infantry passed the day lying down behind banks and in ditches. After the engagement Gen. Wolseley rode to Ismailia and returned late in the evening. Reinforcements arrived during the night, but guns not until early next morning, having had great difficulty to get through the sand. At daylight it was found, to the great disappointment of our men, that the main body of the enemy had withdrawn. The Egyptian artillery fought well and fired much more accurately than at Kafr El Dwar. The infantry were contemptible and the cavalry little better. Many of both these arms were observed breaking from the ranks and dispersing under our fire of shells.

EGYPTIAN DISCONTENT.
ALEXANDRIA, August 26.—An alarm has been given by two Tunisian prelatons who escaped from Kafr El Dwar and arrived here. They declare the country generally is thoroughly discontented with Arabi Pasha, and anxious for peace. This applies particularly to Cairo.

THE HORRORS OF WAR.
ISMAILIA, August 28.—The troops are continually advancing, and it will not be long before Tel El Kibir is attacked. Between Ramleh and Mayoum the ground is good for marching, but the canal is full of horses and dead bodies of Arabs. Some of the latter were thrown there by their comrades, while others were corpses of men shot while attempting to escape.

Sir Garnett's Account.
LONDON, August 28.—General Wolseley telegraphed from Ismailia Sunday: Just returned from the outpost and saw our action on Thursday and Friday. Had far more important results than I was aware of. Yesterday the enemy was completely routed and fled towards Seagi, throwing away arms and accoutrements. A large amount of camp equipage and munitions were captured. Mahomet Fehmi, Arabi Pasha's chief engineer and military adviser, is now a prisoner in my camp.

An eye-witness of the disturbance says he saw the disemboweled body of a Mahomedan infant lying on the ground with its arms torn off, the headless corpses of Mahomedan men and women lying on every side, the houses of Mahomedans burned, and the principal mosque almost razed to the ground. The heads of pigs have been thrown into wells with the corpses of Mahomedans. A hundred troops still patrol the streets. The Mahomedans are a small minority of the population.

The Patriots Repulsed.

Death of a Pasha.
ALEXANDRIA, August 29.—The report of the death of Youlba Pasha is confirmed.

Affairs at Cairo.
PORT SAID, August 29.—Yusef Bey, who recently escaped from Cairo, asserts that the Turkish and Circassian residents of Cairo are being arrested daily and never heard of again. Turkish and Circassian pashas, with the few Europeans remaining in Cairo, are guarding the citadel. They seem well prepared to hold their own until the British arrive.

The Turks and Greeks.
ATHENS, August 29.—Yesterday morning the Turkish troops attacked the Greeks all along the front, from Zarbos to Semail. Fighting was continued to-day. The Greeks lost four killed and ten wounded. The government dispatched 10,000 infantry, artillery and gendarmes to the frontier.

The Irish Peasants.
LIMERICK, August 29.—Fifty-seven of the constabulary resigned. The men are in receipt of telegrams from comrades in various districts, expressing a determination to resign in three days, unless five dismissed sub-constables are reinstated.

A Plague Spreading.
ST. PETERSBURG, August 29.—The Siberian plague has made its appearance to an alarming extent in the most widely separated quarters in Europe and Russia. One death from the disease occurred at Odessa.

Queer Franks of Cannoeists.
The last race was a quarter-of-a-mile paddle, half-mile sail, upset, and come in with all gear. The entries were the indefatigable Heighway in the Nina, Whitlock, of the New Yorks, in his big Pearl Ripple, and Cook, of the Lake George club. Heighway won, with Whitlock second, and after finishing the race the contestants performed some apparently impossible feats in the water. Whitlock, running forward on deck, climbed half way up his mast before upsetting. Cook upset his boat and righted her while remaining inside concealed beneath the gunwale, and Heighway capsized his canoe and righted her without allowing any water to enter her. This latter feat was accomplished by the aid of a false cockpit of canvas made fast to the coamings of the regular cockpit and provided with handles on the bottom, by which it could be quickly lifted and what water it contained, thrown out.

Ex-Gov. Gosper was next escorted forward, and he made things lively. His tone and action indicated that he was very sore, and he claimed the indulgence of the convention until he could explain the position of his candidacy. Not until three months ago, said he, did I consent to renounce my intention of not again entering public life, until after a rest of one year, and when I did conclude to become a candidate for Congress it was at the earnest suggestion of Gov. Tritle and Mr. Churchill. When he returned here it was to find Mr. Churchill espousing the cause of some one else. Mr. Gosper stated that he did not expect to receive the nomination, "the thing is all fixed," but a number of representative Republicans of the Territory wanted to go down under his banner, and with them he would "suffer defeat like a little major, with his colors flying." He endorsed the platform.

Churchill arose amidst cries of "no!" "no!" "Set down!" "We want no personal fight here!" and like remarks.—Gazette.

The above described scene constituted a part of the proceeding of the late Republican convention, and is thoroughly illustrative of the exquisite harmony, existing in the ranks of the Republican party. Gosper accused Tritle and Churchill of being political liars, and had the sense to recognize the fact that "things were fixed. You are exactly right, Mr. Gosper. Things were harmoniously fixed, on a basis of the legislative apportionment, and you were not counted in. Still, what are you going to do about it?"

The political caldron is red hot in Cochise County. The Independent is slashing it into Purdy and his whole outfit.

Mr. Hamilton, go for them. There are plenty of these birds all over the southern part of the Territory, who would fust themselves on the dear people, and cry "Good Lord, good Devil," anything for an office.—Democrat.

"Purdy" is obliged to Mr. Master-son, but as he is not an aspirant for office, the force of the above brilliant piece of wit, is somewhat obscure. We, of Southern Arizona, sometimes accept office, when it is tendered to us, but, unlike the gentleman of the Democrat, who lives in the north, we never accept a seat in a convention for the purpose of securing our own nomination. We, of the south, have sensibilities, while you, of the north, have only census.

We are curious to know what action Hon. M. W. Stewart will take, in the coming campaign. Porter did more than any other man, to defeat Stewart, two years ago, for Congress, and now the former is an aspirant. Party allegiance cut no figure with Porter. He thought of nothing but vengeance, and worked bitterly to that end. Yet there was no reason why Mr. Stewart should not have received Judge Porter's support. He is a good man, and had never done anything to gain Porter's enmity, except to defeat him for the Republican nomination.

The New York Herald goes for the Republican party as follows: "The past Congress has almost entirely neglected the necessary public business. The Supreme Court ought to be reconstituted in the interest of the whole country, but this important business got no attention; a new bankrupt law was urgently demanded by business interests, but none was passed. * * * In fact almost every important business before this Congress was neglected, and the net results of its operations is that it has spent $294,000,000 of the people's money, refused to reduce the taxes with an immense and increasing surplus staring it in the face."

Judge Porter, the Republican nominee for Congress, desires that the people of Arizona rebuke the Administration for having removed him from the Territorial Supreme bench. His election is to constitute the rebuke. As he attempted no defense against charges preferred, it is to be concluded that he had none to make. Therefore, as he could not fight his own battle, it is hardly to be expected that either Democrats or Republicans will fly to his rescue.

The 30,000 inhabitants of Yavapai county, recently called from spirit land for the purposes of a census, refuse to be resurrected for registration. Better have the chairman of the Board of Supervisors and, Churchill, with some other Republican witch, deliver an incantation to the gods of fraud.

Politics is the bane of an editor's existence. Each individual candidate believes that the head of a newspaper must be able to foretell his success or defeat. The fun of the matter is that, if successful, he generally forgets the newspaper, and, if defeated, he never ceases to curse it.

TOMBSTONE DISTRICT is to be congratulated on the settlement of the Bon Ton-Addie case, by judgment of the referee. In all mining camps, legal complications constitute the most dreaded affliction. In this instance, over $100 per day have been lost to Tombstone, which would have been spent in the development of the Addie mine during the year past. Therefore Judge Dibble's decision is beneficial both finally and in the direction of a check to questionable litigation. There is no doubt of the correctness of the findings, as the ablest lawyers in Tombstone sustain, in pronounced opinions, the solidity of the legal deductions of the referee. By his determination, in the premises, one of the most promising mining properties in the district is declared unclouded in title. The Addie shows every indication of being a permanent mine, by virtue of situation and prospects. It adjoins, on one end, the Flora Morrison, which is an acknowledged leading mine, belonging to the Contention Consolidated Mining company, and is surrounded by good properties. A number of men will be put to work at once, by Mr. R. Cohen, the owner of the Addie, thus assuring an increase of revenue and prosperity to Tombstone. Judge Dibble's decision is thorough and voluminous, ably covering every point of law and fact embraced in the case.

REPUBLICAN papers are generally apologizing for the nomination of Judge Porter. No need to do so. Porter is as good material as there is in the party, and deserves some credit in the fact that he is the only representative Republican in Arizona, who had the courage to fight the old corrupt federal ring.

It is stated that Leslie F. Blackburn and Clark Churchill, are constantly in active correspondence. Blackburn owns the Republican party of Cochise county, and Churchill rules the whole Republican Territory.

The Republican candidate for Delegate to Congress is like unto a fly struggling in a bowl of syrup. Porter's race for the ultimate edge of political success, is too heavily oiled by his record to cause Democrats any uneasiness.

Some of the representative Democrats of Maricopa County, showed much courtesy to members of the Republican Convention. It is a good idea to always treat your enemies better than your friends.

It is understood that a half-dozen men have agreed to divide the county offices, from justice of the peace up. It is usual for the people to have something to say about such things.

An honest expression of the will of the majority always satisfies the minority. No one can consistently growl at losing a fight, if he has been given fair play.

The Democratic County Central Committee met Tuesday night. It took decided action in the matter of fraudulent Ward registration.

The registration, in Yavapai county, does not keep up to the census, because the County Recorder is a Democrat, and honest.

Every safeguard against fraudulent votes, should be placed about the polls on the day of the primaries.

An Independent is a needle in the political hay stack. There is only one in the whole of Cochise county.

DEMOCRATS all over the county, are taking an active interest in the approaching primary election.

The Republican candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, will not carry his own county.

It is not characteristic of the American people to stand bull-doing with equanimity.

CLARK CHURCHILL is the Blue Beard of Arizona politics.

MR. OURY's friends in Tombstone are anxious to see him.

GOSPER's friends are, seemingly, a long way from home.

Who can cast a stone at the honesty of Grant Oury?

Voters should register, or they will be disfranchised.

A close mouth breedeth political success.

Do not fail to register.
