

Julian Hawthorne's Ideas.

Mr. Julian Hawthorne, the novelist, was recently interviewed by a Chicago Daily News reporter.

"Do you think the American novel is growing in popularity abroad, and what are its distinctive features thought to be by foreigners?"

"The American novel is certainly growing in popularity abroad, especially in England, as will be seen by the frequent English reprints of our better novels."

"I am not myself in sympathy with that school. 'Mental vivisection' is easy writing, but hard writing."

"I think it has nothing to do with the progress of the time. It only indicates that our novelists make less use of their imagination than any other class of our community."

"Do modern novelists make their men and women do nothing but sit still and talk because there is nothing else for them to do?"

"I shall rather say because it is easier to write clever dialogue than to portray characteristic action."

"What are your methods of working? Do you depend principally upon your observations or on your imagination?"

"Observation is always of assistance in imaginative work if it can be sufficiently emancipated from individual instances. On the other hand, nothing spoils a fictitious character so surely as to make it conform too closely to any real model."

"Do you have regular hours for work or do you wait for an inspiration?"

"I never wait for an inspiration, and am not aware of having ever been visited by any. I generally take a walk in the morning and write in the afternoon and evening. But I keep no strict rule in such matters."

"Do you know what the 'terrible secret' of 'The Marble Faun' was, or what the 'mystery that surrounded Miriam'?"

"If I knew I would tell with pleasure. My father never explained it, because it did not come within the design of the story that the 'secret' should be anything but a typical secret—a human being polluted by involuntary association with the sin of others."

"The best and most elegantly appointed restaurant in the city. All the delicacies of the sea on served, strictly First Class."

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER. To All Wanting Employment.

We want live, energetic, and capable agents in every county in the United States and Canada to sell a patent article of great merit, on the merits of an article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every house-owner it might not be necessary to make an 'extraordinary offer' to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it so, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $500 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a 'dry days' trial, and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, above all expenses, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 above all expenses, in return at once and get their money back. No other employer or agent ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed, and by two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to every one out of employment who will send us three one-cent stamps to secure postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine collectors and carriers in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who sees a false offer, to send at once the name and address of all such their know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to make money. RENE MANUFRANCO, 116 Smithfield St., Pittsburg, Pa.

NOTICE.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Cochise, held December 1st, 1884, the District Attorney in and for said county was ordered and directed to immediately proceed by suit or action against all persons in said county, and doing business therein, who have not paid their licenses.

In compliance with said Resolution, I hereby give notice to all persons who have not paid their licenses as required by law, that on January 10th, A. D. 1886, I will proceed to collect all unpaid licenses in the manner provided for by section 15, Laws 1883, which reads as follows, to-wit:

AN ACT To amend Section 15 of Chapter XLIX of the Compiled Laws of the Territory of Arizona:

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Arizona: Section 1. That Section 15 of Chapter XLIX of the Compiled Laws be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 15. Whenever any person shall violate the provisions of this Act, by transacting any business whatever for which a license is required by the provisions of this Act, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not more than three hundred dollars and not less than the amount of such delinquent license tax, together with costs of suit, and the judgment imposing such fine shall specify that in default of the payment of the fine imposed thereby, the defendant shall be imprisoned in the County Jail for the proper county for a definite period of time, which in no event shall exceed the period of three months, and out of the money received from such fine the officer before whom the case is tried shall pay the amount due for such license to the County Treasurer, and any residue after payment of all costs, shall be paid into the County Treasury for the use of the General Fund of said county.

Sec. 2. All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 6th, 1883. W. H. SAVAGE, District Attorney.
