SUBSTITUTES FOR MONEY

Business men seldom pay an account in cash. They use checks both for convenience and because of the record of payment.

The use of checks by business men is a habit; the use of cash by wage earners and the smaller salaried men is also a habit.

Many employers pay only in gold as the easier to handle in making up pay rolls. Gold pieces do not stick together; greenbacks sometimes do.

Either form, however, saves time to the clerical force over the use of checks made out in small denominations.

According to an eminent French physician, yawning is healthful, and readers of the Congressional Record can now look forward to some improvement in their physical as well as mental condition.

"A horse," says the Wyoming Tribune, "may eat his head off, but he doesn't run up a bill for repairs."

Professor Lombroso has declared that Harry Thaw is insane, and Thaw's lawyers will find it comparatively easy to locate several other experts who will express the same opinion if paid for their trouble.

If a bank held as a part of its assets the bonds of any Arizona city, would any Arizona object in a time of emergency, if it deposited these bonds with the federal government and so secured the right to issue a certain percentage of their face value in currency?

Add to this the further requirement of an increasing tax if the issue was outstanding for more than ninety days, so compelling its retirement after such an emergency had passed as the crop movement, or a financial scare, and such asset currency would look pretty good to a people, who have found nothing to frighten them in a cashier's check.

The chain of friendship is no stronger than its weakest link, and that is often broken when a man's leg is pulled too frequently.

The people who are worrying over that trip of the fleet to the Pacific talk as if they expected to get a bill for the coal consumed.

In spite of the charge that George Washington was a tax dodger, it is believed that the country will celebrate his birthday as usual next February.

Among the men who are sure they can name the next president of the United States are very few who can name the presidents we have already had.

The other day a Seattle man playfully flourished a revolver on a crowded street car and everybody got off. Still, that's a pretty risky way to get a seat for your nickel.

A Stockton, Cal., woman committed suicide because her husband failed to come to supper when she called him. Some women will not stand for a knock on their cooking.

"A man is not always as rich as he feels," remarks the Punxsutawney (Pa.) Spirit. Quite true, and especially is this the case after he had stowed away his fourteenth drink.

The army is reported to be in need of more dental surgeons. This will give the Japs the impression that we are in the habit of biting the enemy as well as perforating him with lead.

A West Virginia baby eight months old weighs 110 pounds. When the father walks the floor with it at night he probably wonders why other people imagine they have troubles.

"Money talks through a woman's hat," avers the Charleston News and Courier, and most men will agree that its conversation under such circumstances gives them that tired feeling.

Now that cold weather is setting in, the end-seat hog may be found among the nonsmokers who crowd the rear platform so that passengers find it difficult to get on and off a car.

After the astronomers have definitely determined that Mars is inhabited, they should try to find out whether the Martians ever suffer from the morning-after-election feeling.

Mr. Bryan has declared that he finds greater satisfaction in talking on religion than on government. It is suspected that he also gives his fellow-democrats greater satisfaction.

Up to the hour of going to press we have heard of no Cincinnati people losing sleep over the claim of George Washington's heirs that the city is built on ground belonging to them.

A California professor was recently arrayed in fly paper for saying that women students smoked cigarettes. It may have clung to him, but we don't believe he was stuck on the suit.

An Alton, Ill., woman is said to have talked so much and so fast that her jaw was dislocated three times in half an hour. A woman like that can never hold her own at an afternoon tea.

Sanechez, convicted of murder at Phoenix, will go to the penitentiary for life.

A committee at Tempe is casting about for a site for the proposed new high school building.

In the face of the financial stringency a Tempe justice has raised the price of disturbing the peace to $30, and refuses to take clearing house scrip.

Mexicans are being forced out of the Chihuahua district at Bisbee, which will be converted into a business section.

The Southeastern Arizona Baptist association has been organized as follows: Rev. D. Carl Williams of Tucson as moderator; Rev. C. Wardlaw of Safford as clerk; H. A. Karlson of Tucson as treasurer.

In its final report the Cochise county grand jury submitted an indictment against Harry Daey on a charge of embezzlement, but as the foreman of the grand jury has not signed it, it will go over until the inquisitorial body reconvenes.

The El Paso & Southwestern will make a number of local improvements at Bisbee.

J. M. Hayden of Bisbee has been sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary on a conviction of forgery.

Van Wagenen, next door to the post-office, does a general painting and paper hanging business. All work guaranteed.

Entire change of program tonight at the Alexander.

We will not be responsible for any debts of our predecessors, Scoble, Soboy & Co.

Sewing machines for rent at J. P. McNeil's Furniture store, opposite the Miner's union hall, Globe, Ariz.

De Witt's Carbolyzed Witch Hazel Salve penetrates the pores—thoroughly cleanses—and is healing and soothing. Good for piles. Sold by Hanna's Drug Store.

How About Your Insurance? Don't wait until the house burns down before you think of insurance. See Moore & Feland about it at once, Home Printing Building.

Don't fail to see Reyro Brothers in their comic shooting act tonight at the Alexander.

Bring in Your Bronchos We have a new set of Barcus horse shoeing stocks and are prepared to shoe bronchos and all bad horses.

The postmaster of Gasconade, Mo., Daniel A. Rugh, says of De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills: "I am doing so well, and improving so fast in health, that I cannot say too much for your Kidney and Bladder Pills. I feel like a new man."

A woman would be willing to save all the money she spent for clothes that are out of fashion if she could get it back.—New York Press.

All retail stores in Douglas are to close on Sunday.

A forty-two foot vein of fine sulphide ore has been struck in the Eagle mine near Wickenburg.

A false report started by some malicious ignoramus caused a run on the Navajo County bank at Winslow. Business men joined with the bank officials in restoring confidence and the bank is now on a clearing house basis.

The Santa Fe yards and building at Winslow are now lighted by electricity.

Frank L. Moore has purchased the News at Williams. He has been connected with the paper in the capacity of manager and printer for several years.

A Winslow man declares that burros live forever, and is willing to back his statement with the offer of $100 to the man who will show him a dead white burro.

Yuma is making progress as a grape groving section. A single bunch of Malvoise taken from a clipping put in the ground last spring weighed ten pounds. From a number of year-old vines forty pounds of fruit have been picked.

A mountain lion, measuring seven feet and six inches from tip to tip has been killed on a ranch in Maricopa county. During the past year the beast has killed young colts valued at $1,000.

It is officially announced that the Denn-Arizona will resume operations as soon as the copper market makes a better showing.

The Shannon company has posted notice of a reduction in wages, effective November 15.

Della Pringle, an old-time Arizona favorite, is playing territorial towns in "The Chorus Girl."

Samples of oil from No. 1 well, at Virgin City, Mohave county, have been tested and found to have a large percentage of lubricant and a small amount of volatile oils, with an asphaltum base. Its gravity is about 22B.

James Brown, a well known cattle man of Mohave county, dropped dead last Thursday. The body was shipped to California for interment.

Yuma school girls have the basket ball craze.

Home grown pecans are being marketed in Yuma.

Yuma, with two daily newspapers and a weekly or two, has adopted a bulletin board for the transmission of news. Residents are supposed to post on this board any item of general interest. A snap for newspaper reporters and a gratifying medium for would be editors.

Maricopa county has already sent a string of thirteen prisoners to the pen and has another batch in brewing.

Mosquitoes have infested the Yuma valley for the first time in the history of that section.
