The Court will adjourn this evening until May, when all cases not heard this term will be finally disposed of.

Last Thursday and Friday were regular street cleaning days. A good many unthinking people grovel about the high winds and disagreeable weather, but to the observant man these winds are a blessing in disguise.

Look at the streets now and see how clean they are. All the dust and refuse has been taken up by the wind and carefully deposited out of sight in the houses and back yards.

And the city is clean once more. It will take weeks to get it all out into the streets again, and then will come another windy day and sweep it back where it should be. What a beautiful dispensation of Providence.

SOME attorneys, whose tail-feathers were probably plucked by Judge French during the present session of Court, has seen fit to complain of that Hon. gentleman's lack of dignity.

Somehow, though, the people who are so fortunate as to get into court always seem pleased when a lawyer is set down upon, and after the experience in hung juries, &c., for the past month we incline to the opinion that the learned counselors are lucky in not having the people generally sit down upon them.

Pima District. Yesterday J. McC. Elliott, one of the oldest prospectors in the Territory, took a bond on three claims in the above district for $5,000, paying $1,000 down.

Assays from two of the claims show $74 and $128 respectively per ton. This district is thirty-five miles southwest of here on west side of the Sierras, and near the mines lately sold by James Lee and Mayor Leatherwood.

MAYOR LEATHERWOOD made a desperate effort early in the Spring to make the public square presentable by planting a few trees and shrubs in it; but we are afraid they will all die if a better system of irrigation is not adopted before the warm weather comes on.

How is it Mayor, can't you induce the fathers of "this ancient and honorable pueblo," to put up a wind-mill?

"BLAST my luck," were the words uttered by a young man, as he emerged from one of our principal gambling houses last evening.

Feeling somewhat interested in the young man, we asked a bystander the cause of the young man's trouble, and were informed that he "recently made a sale, and had invested his last dollar in trying to beat the tiger." He is probably around today looking up a grubstake.

AN eight-year old girl in one of our public schools has for some time been unfortunate in finding her ink bottle empty when she wished to write.

Finally the ink and bottle both disappeared, whereupon she complained to her teacher, who, in order to pacify her, told her that she "supposed it had evaporated."

"Well," says our little girl, "did the bottle evaporate, too?"

The Bullion Stream. The following shipments of bullion arrived at Wells Fargo's office last evening:

From the Contention Mill—Four bars, value $8,000.

From the Tombstone M. & M. Co.'s mill—Three bars, value $5,000.

From the Arivaca mill—One bar, value $500.

Our local artist, Mrs. H. D. Gilbert is gradually enlarging the sphere of her operations and meeting with much success.

She is now engaged on a life-size portrait of Mr. Edward Scheffelin and will no doubt turn out a highly creditable work of art.

What's the Matter.

One of the most remarkable features about this bustling city of a little under 10,000 inhabitants is that there are no concerts or musical or theatrical entertainments.

Not even a variety show or a minstrel troupe. What's the matter? Where are they all? Where are the circuses and Pinafore troupes and the museums and the menageries and free and easy?

There's a panorama on Meyers street, but it has got a hand organ that was played when Washington crossed the Delaware and it caught cold and has never gained its harmony; and besides, the scenes are just too awfully thrilling for anything.

Come on with your pantomimes and Pirates of Penzance. Bring along your minstrels, and dog-shows, and sacred concerts, and opera troupes, and gaitesses, and one-legged men. Give us music by the full band; charge high prices if necessary, but give us some fun.

And don't forget that THE CITIZEN'S office is the best place to get your job work done. We only mention this for your own good.

Personal. J. B. Love returned from Harshaw last evening and started for San Francisco by this morning's train.

Mr. Love is an old mining Superintendent of the Coast, and expresses himself as highly pleased with the prospects of the Patagonia mines.

N. C. Carter of the Semi-Tropic, California, is visiting our country in the interest of his publication.

U. S. Grant, Jr., returned from Patagonia yesterday. We have heard it whispered that there is now pending some very important negotiations for mines in that locality.

Mr. Grant represents eastern capital, and if he says the word, "it goes."

Mart Maloney and Charles Minick are in from Harshaw, and Lieut. W. J. Ross arrived yesterday from Oro Blanco.

PARTIES visiting San Xavier church with tickets of admittance from the Bishop, which are supposed to admit visitors to any part of the church, complain that the usher charges an additional dollar for the privilege of seeing the upper part of the building.

We are inclined to the belief that this is unauthorized by the Bishop, but the abuse should be corrected or a larger fee of admittance charged, which would admit visitors to all parts of the church.

Our Postoffice. The postoffice authorities of this prosperous metropolis of Arizona mean to keep well on top of times.

The new office in the east end of Lord & Williams' block, is rapidly being fitted up, and will be all that could be wished for.

We shall give the matter more extended notice upon completion of the change. Altogether, the administration of Assistant Postmaster Drake is very efficient and satisfactory.

SANDERS and Fye, the water men, are having a new water cart made, colossal in proportions and elegant in architecture.

It will have a four-inch hand team and will be as far in advance of the old time water carts as the city is in advance of the olden times.

What with the new water works at the spring and multiplication of carts our water men are well up with the times.

Col. Wm. G. Boyle. The capitalist and mining operator, is expected here shortly en route to his field at Shakespeare, New Mexico.

We wish the Colonel had stayed with us instead of going over into New Mexico, for there isn't a pleasanter or better hearted man in the country than that same Col. Wm. G. Boyle.

JOHN ALLEN, who is in from Washington camp, informs us that in order to accommodate the increased travel to that camp, he has decided to add ten more rooms to his lodging house, which is already one of the most neat and comfortable stopping places to be found in the mountains.

CALIFORNIA baled hay, is being offered for sale by some of our produce dealers. Why not keep this item of expenditure at home, by baling, or otherwise securing our own crop of wheat and barley hay? What are our enterprising farmers doing?

FRESH fish is now a luxury in Tucson at the modest cost of 65 cents per pound. But nearly everybody here, abouts is either rich or owns a rich mine, so that it is a question of fish, not of price. It is consoling in many ways to be rich.

New Store. We understand that a new store is soon to be opened in the Old Hat District, on the summit, at the old Weldon House, which will be a center of supplies for the surrounding country.

ANOTHER large invoice of canned fruits, fresh vegetables, and a line of groceries such as cannot be found in any store, other than the cash store of Pierce & Wood.

DAVE HARSHAW left for his station at Davidson's Springs yesterday with a four-horse load of supplies. Dave don't believe in starving people who come his way.

MR. WITHERELL is in from Arivaca. He has great hopes of the future of that district, which is now beginning to ship bullion.

Down, Down. Comes the price of fresh O. K. butter. Go to Felix & Co., only seventy cents per roll.

Grand Summer Opening at Welisch's.

There has long been felt in this place a lack of certain ability—only acquired by years of experience—in the selection of such a stock of fancy dry goods and millinery as would meet all the requirements of the season, and at the same time be, as regards price, within the reach of all.

By the completion of the railroad to this point, the enterprising proprietor of the White House, on Main street, has been able to purchase a stock—conjointly in San Francisco and New York—such as has never before been offered in Arizona, and has set Thursday, the 8th, as the day for opening.

His long experience in the business and his familiarity with the wants of the people, has enabled him to select such articles as will give satisfaction as regards quality and price.

The millinery department contains a large variety of elegant hats, bonnets and artificial flowers imported direct from New York, and unsurpassed by any house west of the Rocky mountains.

We cannot describe all that there is to see and admire, and can only advise our lady friends to attend the grand opening next Thursday.

Amusements. We understand that the Novelty Troupe, which is under the management of Mr. Koraback, has engaged Levin's Hall for a series of theatrical entertainments.

Mr. Koraback is pronounced as the finest tenor on the Pacific coast, while Patti Ross is too well known for comment; the balance of the troupe are said to be fine actors.

The Novelty Troupe performed at Los Angeles, and with such success that the whole house was in such a state of commotion from laughter, that everything had to be stopped for the audience to regain its equilibrium.

The entertainment, while it is ludicrous, is said to be very chaste; so much so that even the most fastidious cannot find fault. We bespeak for the Novelty Troupe a prosperous season in Tucson.

There is a report that the Star is shortly to be changed to a religious daily. If so, it will be the first daily of the kind ever published in Arizona.

Such an enterprise would seem rather premature at this stage of events, but we believe the eminent parity and Christianlike character of the editor of the Star would ensure success in such an undertaking.

PARTIES who have lately visited the Papago Indian reservation report the crops as looking well. This tribe of Indians, which we believe has never asked the government for a dollar, but who have repeatedly fought our battles with the Apaches, are self-sustaining.

They are a virtuous and industrious people, and have ever been the friend of the white man.

MESSRS. PEABODY and Whitton have leased and are fitting up the room opposite Japp's & Co.'s store for a wholesale liquor house.

These gentlemen come to us well recommended, and we bespeak for them a prosperous business career.

Yesterday was one of the days that make our "Italy of America" so delightful. You might travel a long distance before you would find a climate with another such day.

It was truly pellucid—we think pellucid is the proper word—or is it bellucid?

FREIGHT has been received for the following parties: Arizona and California Lumber Co., J. W. Walters, Pacific Improvement Co., C. E. Watkins, Zeckendorf & Staab.

The critic of the Carson Tribune was so well pleased with the leading lady of a company that recently played there, that he says he would like to see more of her.

THE Los Angeles Herald says that "for one passenger who went through Los Angeles a year ago en route for Arizona, it is hardly an exaggeration to say that twenty now go." This is all very natural.

People are getting their eyes opened as to the real value of the Territory. The steady and continued shipment of silver bars from our principal mining camps begins to have its effect.

Give us but a little more time and we will send out such a report in the shape of silver bars and bullion as will astonish the whole country.

A rush for Arizona will take place before long. Mark what we say.

Freight Work Along the S. P. Railway. Passengers inform us that the Southern Pacific Company is doing a large amount of ditching along the line of its road in Arizona and on the Colorado desert in California, to protect the track from washing away by the sudden dashes of rain on the adjacent mountain and hill sides.

Near Mohawk Summit there are now many miles of ditches, so made and arranged as to divide the water and conduct it to sluice ways under the track.

On the Colorado desert there must be nearly 100 miles of ditches for the same purpose, but they are mostly cut like the single row of a house, the apex being some distance from the track.

For many miles there is no interruption in this kind of ditches, reminding one of an old rail road fence, but made of dirt. The expense of this work has been large, but experience shows its necessity.

The Company is still boring for artesian water on the desert west of Yuma, and at last accounts had reached a depth of over 1500 feet.

A New and Important Enterprise.

One of the most important undertakings ever engaged in in this part of Arizona has lately been quietly perfected. A company has been incorporated under the name of "The Southern Arizona Railroad Company," to build and operate a railroad from the crossing of the San Pedro by the Southern Pacific road to Tombstone.

The company is organized under and in accordance with the laws of the United States and Arizona, and is composed of the following officers: W. W. Williams, President; Hugh Farley, Secretary; and Messrs. Williams, Farley, Wm. Zeckendorf, and Fitch, Farley & Pomroy, Directors.

The amount of capital is $1,300,000. A preliminary survey is already under way under supervision of Mr. W. S. Edwards. After the completion of this final survey will be made, and work on the road is expected to commence as soon as circumstances and the well known energy and means of the undertakers will permit.

The road will be about forty miles in length, and will run from the San Pedro intersection via Contention and Charleston to Tombstone.

There is a fine field and urgent need of just such a road, and while we are glad to see the public spirit and enterprise manifested in this undertaking, we are the more pleased because there is every reason to believe it will result in great profit to its originators.

Postal Matters. Hon. J. M. McCusick, Special Agent of the Postoffice Department, left for Patagonia this morning for the purpose of examining into the necessity of mail service for that locality.

There is but a limited appropriation for new mail roads, and after talking with some of our best informed citizens as to the needs of that locality, Mr. McCusick was so favorably impressed that he immediately telegraphed the Department at Washington to reserve a sufficient amount to establish service from Tucson, via Harshaw, to Washington Camp.

We have no doubt but that Mr. McCusick will make a favorable report, in which case service will be put on at once.

Long Haired Gentry. There won't be any more trouble about the Pima and Maricopa Indian Reservation. Those pleasing and long haired gentry have struck the softest kind of a snap.

They get aboard a passing train on the Southern Pacific now and ride free to Tucson. The first invoices of them were so well pleased that the whole tribe have concluded to take possession of this place.

They ride home once a week or so, and fill up with beans and jerky and then come back again. They are not quite so fond of "duty free" mescal as some of the Papagos, but they haven't had time to yet develop that pleasing weakness.

It Makes No Difference. Although the times are hard and money is scarce, the proprietor of the Red House, Sacramento, Cal., never pays any attention to the outward appearance of things, but goes right on in a straightforward business way.

In sunshine or lowering weather, whether the times are flush or depressed, there is no change in the purchase or supply of goods at the Red House. During the past week this house, no doubt, received the largest invoice of goods ever received in any way by any other goods house in California.

Woolen and staplestuffs increase, and every one conversant with the amount of goods received at the Red House are amazed and bewildered as they witness the unloading of immense quantities of boxes and bales.

Where these goods are stored and what becomes of them are still greater sources of bewilderment. Did they not know of the great number of goods that are constantly engaged in packing goods for shipment to all parts of California and Nevada?

The display of goods is very fine, and the large stock to select from and the extremely low prices, give the purchaser such advantage at the Red House that all who feel the necessity of economy and the value of money flock there to supply themselves.

We have found another pay-streak and after surveying it have concluded to tell everybody and divide. We can recommend it to the soberest and shrewdest as a mine well worth working.

We are in receipt of the new 48-page price-list of the Red House Trade Union, of Sacramento, California, and wish we could put it into the hands of every man and woman in Arizona.

Buying goods through orders to this great house is now a leading feature of California and Nevada trade and we can not see why Arizona should not find it equally advantageous. Every one should send for their price-list, which is mailed free.
