

senators took the position that the reservation would disqualify Canada and Australia from voting on any question. Among the republicans, however, there was a feeling that if article ten qualification could be smoothed out the issue over voting power easily could be disposed of.

Much the same opinion seemed to be held on suggested changes in regard to Shantung and in the preamble requirement that the other powers must accept the senate's action affirmatively.

HALF SISTER PROVES NEW'S BEST WITNESS; TRIAL TO END SOON

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 31.—Except for expert testimony, the defense finished presentation of its case late today in the trial of Harry New, alleged murderer of his fiancée, Freda Lesser. Adjournment was taken to Friday morning.

Eight witnesses were called during the day, of whom the most important was Miss Edna Clancy, half sister of New, who testified she believed an innocent act of hers was indirectly the cause of Miss Lesser's death. In addition, Miss Clancy as did other witnesses of the day, testified that New was mentally unbalanced.

Miss Clancy told the jury she had introduced New to Miss Lesser while the three were working for a business house. When she learned several months later they were engaged to be married, the witness said, she urged New not to marry, as he was not a fit man, mentally or physically, to be a husband and father.

New ignored her request, Miss Clancy stated, so she urged Miss Lesser to break the engagement, but to do so tactfully, deferring the wedding from time to time, and to use care not to hurt New's feelings.

It is the theory of the defense that Miss Lesser broke the engagement immediately and that New, enraged, shot his fiancée. Miss Clancy said her conversation with Miss Lesser occurred only a few hours before the latter's death.

George Gallagher, county jailer, said he thought New was "insane at times."

H. L. Anderson of Venice, a nearby beach resort, testified that New attempted to borrow $100 from him to defray the expenses of marrying Miss Lesser and he lent him $10 for this supposed purpose a few hours before New's fiancée was killed. This witness said New was insane in his opinion.

Several others testified briefly they considered New mentally unbalanced, "mildly insane," "irrational," and "irresponsible," were some of the descriptive terms used.

PRESENCE OF TROOPS HAS QUIETING EFFECT

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
PUEBLO, Colo., Dec. 31.—No new developments in the steel strike situation occurred here today. The reports from Colonel McCunniff, in charge of the national guard troops here, is to the effect that there was no disorder at the plant or in the vicinity of the mills today. He has conferred with the district attorney's office as well as with the chief of police regarding the restriction and registration of the sale of fire arms in the city of Pueblo. There is a state law on the subject and it is understood that the law will be rigidly enforced.

No additional information concerning the alleged plot to assassinate a large number of prominent business men was uncovered today.

CRIMSON READY FOR GAME WITH OREGON TODAY

Both Squads Finish Training For Intersectional Battle—Lineups Given By Coaches Show Both Squads Will Have Full Strength in Field

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 31.—Harvard and Oregon university football squads tapered off their training today for the east. The most football game here tomorrow. Bot teams did enough work to keep them in condition. Coaches expressed satisfaction with the condition of their men. To all appearances Harvard players lost a little weight without sacrifice of condition in training here, while Oregon players laid on a trifle of flesh, this tending to equalize the weight of the opponents.

The weather today was cooler and more like that the Harvard players have been accustomed to. The prediction for tomorrow is fair and cool.

The game has created the greatest interest yet shown in the annual east-west classic here. Every one of the more than 32,000 seats in the Tournament of Roses park has been sold.

Coaches Fisher of Harvard, and Huntington of Oregon, today announced their line-ups for New Year's day. No last hour changes are expected and barring the unforeseen, the men will take the field as follows:

Harvard	Anderson
Desmond	L. E.
Sedgwick	L. E.
Woods	L. T.
Havemeyer (A. Horween)	L. G.
Hubbard	"Butch" Leslie
Kane	C.
Steel	R. G.
Murray (C)	"Spike" Leslie
Humphries	R. T.
R. Horween	Howard

FIND POISONOUS WHISKEY PLANT

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—United States Marshal, James J. Connelley, tonight that he believed he had discovered the wood alcohol "whisky" manufacturing headquarters of John Romanelli, Brooklyn undertaker, and Samuel Saleeby, Brooklyn druggist, held here in connection with the distribution of poison liquor throughout New England. The place was a Brooklyn garage, he said.

Receipts and chemicals used in the manufacture of liquor and perfumes, several empty barrels which "had contained wood alcohol," and some burned sugar were found by federal officials, the announcement said. These were seized and persons on the premises were taken to the United States district attorney for examination.

Accuses Widow of Murdering Brown

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 31.—A statement again directing the attention of the authorities toward Mrs. Ruth Prevost Brown, widow of J. Stanley Brown, who was shot to death a week ago, was made to the prosecutor and sheriff today by Mrs. Cecil Vester, who was brought here this morning under a warrant charging murder.

After a lengthy examination the sheriff reiterated his belief that Mrs. Vester did not kill the young man, but stated she would be held temporarily owing to her apparent intimate knowledge of Brown's affairs.

Sheriff Caldwell said Mrs. Vester told the officers that Mrs. Brown had once attempted to buy poison at a drug store here. The sheriff quoted the Vester woman as saying that Mrs. Brown intended the poison for her husband.

Mrs. Vester stated she was with Brown when his will was drawn up last Thanksgiving day. Brown told her later, she said, that he planned to add a codicil providing that if he died suddenly payment should be withheld from his wife until circumstances of his death were cleared up.

Brown's will was filed today. The home was bequeathed to his widow and the income equally to Mrs. Brown and the elder daughter.

NOTED SOCIALIST LEADER ARRESTED

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 31.—Dr. Anna Reinstein, wife of Boris Reinstein, formerly a leader of socialists here and for two years represented high in the councils of Lenin and Trotsky in Russia, was arrested here today on charges of criminal anarchy. She was arraigned in police court with 16 men held on similar charges. All entered pleas of not guilty and will have hearings on Friday with 25 others arraigned Tuesday.

The Lusk legislative committee, investigating radicalism, completed its local hearings and adjourned to meet at Utica tomorrow. Most of the testimony today was from police officers and agents of the committee and related to the papers and documents seized in a raid on communist headquarters. From these Charles D. Newton, attorney general, sought to show connections between various revolutionary organizations in this country and the Russian soviet.

DAIRY TALKS

No. 67 Start the New Year right—make a resolve to own an efficient dairy herd before 1921. Share in the prosperity of 1920 by owning a dairy herd now.

The year of 1920 promises to show greater results in dairying than in other lines of agricultural endeavor. This is predicted by the universal interest which is being shown by farmers and business men generally, and the plans that are being made for improving dairy stock, and the foundations for new herds that have been laid.

During the year 1919, it was necessary to reconstruct many industries as after the war conditions made themselves felt. This was especially true of the dairy industry. The cow population of the world had been decreased far more in proportion than the human population, and the principle source of supply of dairy products had shifted from European countries to the United States.

Europeans have always been big consumers of dairy products, and as a result, one of the greatest industries was the production of great quantities of dairy products, much of which was exported to the United States. It is now almost impossible to purchase any imported cheeses, and will never again be possible as far as former conditions are concerned, as the demand far exceeds the supply in the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Switzerland and Italy from whence most of the supply was exported.

This alone places a load upon the dairymen of the United States in addition to further demands for cow products, caused by increased knowledge of the food value of milk and cream.

It can readily be seen that the dairy business is only in its infancy, and the farmer who goes into the business now on a solid foundation will reap a profit for all the years to come, which cannot be approached by any other farm endeavor. In other words, a solid and substantial market at excellent prices for every ounce of butter fat produced, with no possibility for many years if ever, of there being an overproduction.

Dairymen from other states are making strong endeavors to get into the dairy business in the Salt River valley on account of the ideal climatic conditions that obtain here, and are receiving more encouragement than formerly because of the fact that land owners realize that the real hope of prosperity for the valley lies in diversified farming and dairying. This belief is concurred in by bankers and business men and every assistance will be given the farmer who desires to embark in the dairy business.

Let this department assist you in getting into the dairy business.

Our farm experts are practical men who "KNOW BY DOING" just how best to care for stock and arrange crops, buildings and all other farm matters. They will be glad to assist any farmer or dairyman free of charge.
