

FOR SALE—Nice 6 room modern brick cottage Small payment down, balance in monthly payments, like rent. E. E. Pascoe, loans and notary public, 110 North Center street

THE ARIZONA REPUBLICAN

House in Churchill Addition Wanted: I have a cash customer that wants a small home in this addition. Come in quick. E. E. Pascoe, 110 North Center st.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

10 PAGES

PHOENIX, ARIZONA SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 10, 1904.

10 PAGES

VOL. XV. NO. 52

SUPERSENSITIVE MR. PARKER

He Shook the National Democratic Convention From Stem to Stern

Unless It Should be Construed That He Was Standing Upon a Gold Standard Platform He Would Leave the Ticket Headless—He Was Allowed to Rule the Party. Henry G. Davis of West Virginia Made the Running Mate and the Convention Adjourned.

St. Louis, July 9.—The last day of the democratic national convention was marked by a whirlwind of excitement. It began with a little breeze to which rumors lent strength until it became a tornado threatening the destruction of all that had been accomplished in the last three days.

The vote was overwhelmingly against a recess, but Mr. Clark declared with a thump of his gavel that the motion was carried, and at 3:30 p. m. the convention was declared in recess for two hours.

Chairman Clark was in the Coliseum ten minutes before the hour fixed for the convention to resume this afternoon. Not only were there many vacant seats in the galleries, but a number of absentees were noticed among the delegates and alternates.

A report that an attempt might be made to re-open the platform and insert a financial plank spread rapidly through the hall.

THE FIRST HINT.

A report that an attempt might be made to re-open the platform and insert a financial plank spread rapidly through the hall. It created consternation among the most of the delegates who saw an end to their hope of leaving St. Louis tonight or early tomorrow, should such a coup be attempted.

THE GATHERING STORM.

As the nominating and seconding speeches proceeded the storm that seemed inevitable was gathering. Leaders hurried to and fro with anxious faces, and the news from Esopus spread rapidly.

CHOOING THE RUNNING MATE.

It was 5:37 o'clock when the first sign of opening the session was made. Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi moved that nominating speeches should be limited to fifteen minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes.

A LOUDER MUTTERING.

The first rumble of the approaching storm was heard at just 7 o'clock. Senator South, of Arkansas, broke in on the roll call with a motion that in view of the rumors that were disturbing the convention, a recess be taken until 8 o'clock.

A QUIETING STATEMENT.

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

C. Robertson of that state who spoke for ex-Senator George Turner. There was considerable confusion in the aisles by this time, and Mr. Robertson was not able to begin his address for about two minutes.

He spoke as follows: "My friends, you have had a portion of the ticket. You have gone to the east for your president. Now come to the west. You men who listen to the tickers at Wall street come across the continent to the great Pacific slope and to the state of Washington.

The Pacific coast will be the battlefield. Rally here around your merciless leader. You men in the south have memories of the past to cement you to the democratic party. You men in the east have the historic action of your leaders. We men in the west are building a temple of democracy and from the state of Washington, we produce a keystone of the arch and all of the western states will say that it is a perfect creation.

By this time the report that a telegram had been received from Judge Parker, declaring his position on the financial question had become general. Little conferences began to occur, and the orators did not receive much attention except from the galleries, and small fry who did not know that a public sensation was ripening all about them.

Delaware gave her place on the call to West Virginia and the chair recognized John D. Alderson, of that state, who placed in nomination Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia. A vigorous round of applause came from the delegates when Mr. Davis' name was mentioned, but little from the galleries.

Senator Dubois, of Idaho, was the next speaker and he rose to second the nomination of Mr. Turner, of Washington.

David Overmyer, of Kansas, placed ex-Senator William A. Harris, of that state in nomination in a brief speech from the floor.

THE GATHERING STORM.

As the nominating and seconding speeches proceeded the storm that seemed inevitable was gathering. Leaders hurried to and fro with anxious faces, and the news from Esopus spread rapidly.

CHOOING THE RUNNING MATE.

It was 5:37 o'clock when the first sign of opening the session was made. Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi moved that nominating speeches should be limited to fifteen minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes.

A LOUDER MUTTERING.

The first rumble of the approaching storm was heard at just 7 o'clock. Senator South, of Arkansas, broke in on the roll call with a motion that in view of the rumors that were disturbing the convention, a recess be taken until 8 o'clock.

A QUIETING STATEMENT.

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

Mr. Williams spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention: All of us were very much surprised and excited this afternoon, to hear that copies of a telegram published in this city had been sent by our nominee to Mr. Carmack and others in this city. I want to tell you that but one telegram has been received. Mr. Carmack not only received no telegram today of any character that was published, but never received a telegram from Mr. Parker in all his life. And nobody received a telegram containing the language in that famous production."

all the delegates here, it seems to me that we ought not to proceed at this time to nominate a candidate for vice-president, and I therefore move that the convention adjourn. Here a cry of "why, why?" interrupted Senator Culberson.

"I think the delegates understand what I mean," he proceeded.

Chairman Clark interjected: "Proceed."

"And I repeat," continued Senator Culberson, "that in the present exigencies, which confront the convention it ought not to proceed to the nomination of a vice-president."

"Right, right," greeted this statement. "We want to know before a candidate for vice-president is nominated why will be the candidate for president." (Applause and cries of approval again interrupted the senator.)

When he could be heard, he made his motion for a recess until 8:30 p. m. The excitement increased while the senator was speaking and he was cordially invited both to "keep on," and to "sit down."

His motion was put by the chairman. The vote was, in the opinion of most people lost, but Chairman Clark loudly langed his desk, declared it carried and quickly left the platform before the convention recovered from its amazement.

Confusion was great before Culberson rose, and was intensified greatly when he intimated that Parker might possibly vacate the head of the ticket. As soon as recess was announced the delegates instead of leaving the hall, rushed into conferences. In an instant there were fully twenty groups in the hall, in the center of which there were two or three very much excited, and gesticulating men who discussed the Parker telegram vehemently. The police again and again passed along the aisles endeavoring to clear them, but the delegates refused to move and the excitement greatly increased as a dense throng, through which it was impossible to pass, gathered in front of the chairman's desk and strove desperately to learn the exact import of the message. Their efforts were unavailing, however. The leaders disappeared and the session closed with expectancy as to what would occur when the convention reassembled at 8:30 p. m.

EXPECTED PYROTECHNICS

A Crowd Gathered to Learn the Extent of the Disaster

St. Louis, July 9.—The convention did not go into session promptly at the time appointed, although the greater number of delegates and alternates were in their seats, keyed up to a high pitch of excitement over the possible events of the night.

The news that there would in all probability be all sorts of political fireworks had spread rapidly through the city and the people commenced to pour into the building.

At 9:10 o'clock Chairman Clark pounded vigorously with his gavel and asked that the delegates be seated and the aisles cleared. He did not formally call the convention to order, but as some people were quiet had been seen to what this rumor is," he concluded, that has created all the disorder in this hall. Let the gentlemen from New York to whom the telegram is addressed read it; let it be read. Let the truth be known and then let us proceed to business. Loud applause followed this declaration and continued as the governor took his seat.

Chairman Clark replied: "It is my appointed duty to report to you the member of that delegation who has the telegram that has been bruted about this city—and if he has such a one, produce it and read it to this convention."

George Ruines, of New York, asked that the motion be deferred until the chairman of his delegation could be heard from. Governor Vardaman acquiesced.

The conference committee reached the hall at 9:35 and filed slowly along the crowded aisle in the center of the hall.

Delegates thronged about them asking: "What shall we do?"

"ORDERED TO BEHAVE"

"Keep your heads and behave," reported Senator Tillman with emphasis and he repeated the injunction at numerous intervals.

John Sharp Williams, Governor Vardaman, Senator Tillman and Senator Carmack made their way to the platform with the mysterious message in their possession. A short conference took place among the four and Chairman Clark, while the delegates sang "My Old Kentucky Home."

have heard it, you will note that there is not in it one word about requiring or demanding, or asking, or requesting that anything should be placed in the democratic platform. (Loud applause.)

"You will also note that if there is any error in it at all it is an error of judgment proceeding from a too sensitive spirit of honor. (Applause.) A too sensitive idea not to be misunderstood or placed in a false or in a double position.

I shall now ask Governor Vardaman to read the telegram to you. (Loud cheering and applause.)

Mr. Williams' words were heard in silence so deep, so intense that, notwithstanding his weakened voice, his every word was distinctly audible in all parts of the hall. He then handed the telegram to Governor Vardaman, who, after requesting absolute quiet, read the telegram as follows:

THE MESSAGE ITSELF

"Hon. William F. Sheehan, Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis:

"I regard gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention of today shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it proves to be unsatisfactory to the majority, I request you to decline the nomination for me at once, so that another may be nominated before adjournment.

"A. B. PARKER."

Mr. Williams continued: "Mr. Chairman, I think you will bear me out in what I said. This was the first time in the history of the United States that a man already nominated for the greatest office on the surface of this earth has been so supersensitive about a matter of personal rectitude and honor as to send a telegram to a friend asking him to decline the nomination for him, if as he seems to have been informed, there is something in the platform, which is not in accord with his opinion.

"Now, my friends, Judge Parker expresses this opinion for fear somebody might think that you did not know it. There was not in all this vast assembly one single solitary man who did not already know that Judge Parker was a gold standard man. I have been one of the most consistent, persistent and perhaps radical silver men in the United States and I know that he was a gold standard man, and he never made any attempt to conceal it from anybody. He had supported our candidates and had said that, although he did not agree with us upon this plank, he was still a democrat. (Applause.)

"Now, my friends, we purposely made the platform, so far as the monetary standard is concerned, upon which W. J. Bryan could have stood or Grover Cleveland could have stood, or anybody else, who was with us in the leading live campaign issues could have stood." (Applause.)

THE REPLY.

His declaration that Parker's views were known to every man in the convention was received with faint applause. He asked Senator Tillman to read a message to Mr. Parker in reply but there was a short delay owing to the difficulty experienced by the senator in deciphering the handwriting of Mr. Williams.

He then proposed to read, when Mr. Williams, interrupted him with the remark that it was a typewritten copy.

"For which I thank Almighty God," returned the senator. He then read the following message to Judge Parker: "The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of the monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in this campaign, and only campaign issues were mentioned in the platform. Therefore there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertaining them from accepting the nomination on the said platform."

As Mr. Tillman concluded the reading of the message Representative Richardson, of Alabama, rose as he said "to passionately discuss the message to be sent to Judge Parker." Chairman Clark explained that he had recognized Senator Tillman, who also desired to discuss the same matter.

Mr. Richardson bowed and retired at once and Mr. Tillman proceeded.

"Tillman's remarks were followed closely by the whole audience. His vehement declaration, "I swore by Almighty God that I would not endure to be trifled with" brought forth applause and cheers. As Senator Tillman was endeavoring to answer the question injected into the discussion by Former Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota in to whether Mr. Hill had not stated in committee that he did not know Judge Parker's views on the financial question, Mr. Bryan came into the hall.

Mr. Bryan then proceeded to answer some of the statements made by those who had followed his first address. Great applause followed his assertion that lack of harmony in the party could not be laid at his door.

APPEARANCE OF MR. BRYAN.

Instantly there was an uproar. Calls of "Bryan, Bryan" went up and the galleries cheered. Mr. Bryan first went to his place in the pit, but as the cries of the Nebraskan's name, coupled with the words "platform," "platform," continued, Mr. Bryan made his way to the stage.

His face was chalk white. He walked rapidly up the side aisle. His lips were compressed to a thin line, and his brows were drawn straight. He nervously fanned himself and paid no attention to the hands that were held out to him as he passed. When Mr. Bryan came to the front of the rostrum, his face was pale and drawn with illness. His voice was weak and hoarse. He spoke with a great effort, but quietly and with self control.

As the speaker went on his voice grew stronger and clearer, and as he narrated the story of his efforts to secure the insertion in the platform of a financial plank a flush of excitement covered his face and his gestures became more frequent and more emphatic.

His declaration that the sending of the telegram to Judge Parker was a declaration for the gold standard side, and his statement that if the democracy was to adopt such a view it should be honest and say so frankly, was greeted with shrieks of applause from the galleries, and one man with a strong voice yelled: "That's right."

Ex-Senator Pettigrew interrupted to know if the Parker telegram did not declare that the gold standard was firmly and irrevocably fixed. He was informed that he was correct. Loud applause greeted Mr. Bryan's remark that it was a mainly thing in Judge Parker to express his opinions before the convention adjourned, but his statement that it would have been a manlier thing had he spoken before the convention met was again cheered.

He announced that he would propose an amendment to the message and took his seat amid loud cries of "Vote," "Vote," "Hill."

Senator John W. Daniel, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was then recognized to reply to Mr. Bryan.

It was then 11 o'clock and there were signs that the trouble would pass. Mr. Bryan's speech and that of Senator Tillman had been listened to attentively. When the applause was given there was no disposition to prolong it.

QUESTION OF VERACITY

Chairman Clark recognized Senator Carmack of Tennessee.

The speaker declared that Mr. Bryan had said that the nomination of Judge Parker would be a declaration enough on the money plank.

"Mr. Chairman," said Mr. Bryan, rising hastily, "I beg the gentleman's pardon, but I never said that."

John S. Williams supported Mr. Bryan in his statement and Mr. Carmack accepted the correction. The senator took occasion to deny that he had ever received a message from Judge Parker and the chair recognized Mr. Bryan, who presented an amendment to the reply to Judge Parker as follows: "But as you will, if elected, be called upon to act upon certain phases of the money question, we would like to know whether you favor reducing the volume of silver dollars, whether you favor an asset currency and branch national banks, whether you prefer national bank currency to the United States notes."

Mr. Bryan then proceeded to answer some of the statements made by those who had followed his first address. Great applause followed his assertion that lack of harmony in the party could not be laid at his door.

Senator Carmack undertook to correct the statement made by Mr. Bryan.

Continued on Page 4.

Five acres in Irvine addition, platted, for the small sum of $260, cheap at $1,000 later in Salt Canal. Now is your chance for a bargain.

REMEMBER: Write for Fire Insurance. Our companies are among the largest, the oldest, and the best.

KAI CHOU LOST

Russians Rather Expected It and Do Not Care

NEW CHWANG GOES NEXT

It is Admitted That the Japanese Have Been Given an Advantage but It is Claimed That Kurapatkin's Plans Have Not Been Disturbed.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—The capture of Kai Chou by the Japanese, announced from Tokio today, is not officially confirmed at the war office, but it is not the disposition to question the probable correctness of the report, as latest advices received here make it plain that the Japanese were advancing in force along the railroad against the Russian position.

The occupation of Kai Chou, while it is not believed it will exercise a material influence on Kurapatkin's strategy, is of importance to the Japanese as it brings them within reach of New Chwang, facilitating Okta's juncture with Kuroki, who already may be in touch. News of the evacuation of New Chwang by the Russians would seem to be the logical sequence of the announcement of the occupation of Kai Chou by the Japanese.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

The Stock Market Is Strong Only in Places.

New York, July 9.—Prices were advanced today in sympathy with the strength of a few prominent stocks in which there was buying of some concentrated kind as that which has led the market during the week.

STOCKS.

New York July 9.—Atchison 72; pfd. 24 1/2; N. J. Central 165; C. & O. 53 1/2; St. Paul 178 1/2; Big Four 72 1/2; C. & E. 133; first pfd. 49 1/2; 2nd pfd. 21 1/2; Erie 25 1/2; Manhattan 15 1/2; Metropolitan 116 1/2; Mr. Pacific 91 1/2; N. Y. Central 116 1/2; Penna. 118 1/2; So. Pacific 48 1/2; St. Louis and S. F. 2nd pfd. 47; U. P. 93 1/2; Amalgamated Copper 61 1/2; sugar, 12 1/2; Anaconda 73 1/2; U. S. Steel 103; pfd. 58 1/2; Western Union 87.

METALS

New York, July 9.—Copper was firm but there was small inquiry. Lake 12.62 1/2; 91.2; electrolytic 12.50; 91.25; casting 12.25; 91.25; lead quiet and steady at 4.25; 91.25.

Spelter easy 4.85; 91.25.

THE CATTLE MARKET

Chicago July 9.—Cattle receipts, 11,000; Texans nominal; good to prime steers 5.60; 91.25; poor to medium 4.50; 91.25; stockers and feeders 2.50; 91.25; cows 1.50; 91.25; heifers 2.64; 91.25; canners 1.50; 91.25; bulls 2.14; 91.25; calves 2.50; 91.25; Texas fed steers 4.50; 91.25.

Sheep receipts 5,000; steady; good to choice wethers 4.75; 91.25; fair to good mixed 3.50; western sheep 4.60; 91.25; native lambs 4.67; 91.25.

RIGHT IN THE CITY

Five acres in Irvine addition, platted, for the small sum of $260, cheap at $1,000 later in Salt Canal. Now is your chance for a bargain.

THE SOLAR MOTOR COMPANY

Announces that it is now prepared to negotiate and receive orders for motors of various powers for pumping and other purposes and to install the same.

A motor is now in operation in Tempe and the engineers in charge will be glad to exhibit at any time upon application.

As this motor will shortly be removed and erected for a purchaser in another portion of the territory intending purchasers or those interested and desiring information should apply at once to

J. MURDO BRUNS

Or CLIFFORD S. ESTES TEMPE

ONLY 20 DAYS

Left in which to buy Shoes for less than they cost to make.

We can't spend money now to tell you the particular bargains.

Many Shoes at Half Price!

Many Shoes One-Third Off.

Men's, Women's Boys' Girls' and Children's

SHOES

Buy them now and get what you want. Later we won't have it.

N. C. WILSON

Manager Shoe Department McKee's Cash Store.

THE SOLAR MOTOR COMPANY

Announces that it is now prepared to negotiate and receive orders for motors of various powers for pumping and other purposes and to install the same.

A motor is now in operation in Tempe and the engineers in charge will be glad to exhibit at any time upon application.

As this motor will shortly be removed and erected for a purchaser in another portion of the territory intending purchasers or those interested and desiring information should apply at once to

J. MURDO BRUNS

Or CLIFFORD S. ESTES TEMPE

ONLY 20 DAYS

Left in which to buy Shoes for less than they cost to make.

We can't spend money now to tell you the particular bargains.

Many Shoes at Half Price!

Many Shoes One-Third Off.