"FAKE" VETERINARY WORKING FARMERS OF WESTERN SLOPE

According to recent advices from Dr. Wm. W. Yard, state veterinary surgeon of Denver he has wired all sheriffs on the Western Slope and in the south part of the state to arrest a man who gives his name "Dr. Johnson" or "Dr. Russell" claiming to be a veterinary surgeon and representing the state. He has been operating in the counties of Mesa, Montezuma, Dolores, Routt and Grand, from the best information Dr. Yard has been able to get.

For three months this alleged "doctor" has been defrauding the farmers and stockmen in the sections of the state and has collected from them to exceed $200. At Hayden he defrauded a stockman out of $31. The matter was reported to Dr. Yard who is now attempting to apprehend the fakir.

Dr. Johnson, alias Dr. Russell, informs his victims that by sending his receipt to the office of the state veterinary surgeon, the amount will be refunded.

This fake doctor is traveling over the state in an automobile. At Dolores, recently he was married. The sheriffs thus far have been unable to locate the man, but Dr. Yard now believes that with the vigilance of many sheriffs, he will be able to bring the imposter to justice.

Better Pressure and Service

When, a short time ago, the city council reduced the time allowed for sprinkling lawns in the city, there was general complaint. The complainants, however, have found by experience that the new plan gives them a better pressure and that the time allotted, if properly improved, is ample. They did not stop to think that they could water more lawn with a good pressure in one hour than they could with a weak pressure in two hours.

City Council Matters.

At a special meeting held Monday afternoon at the city hall the proposition was received from Henry Swan, representing E. H. Rollins & Son and J. N. Wright & Co., to buy the water bonds offered at their face value, the same being $75,000; that said bonds should be dated October 1, 1913, and should draw 6% interest from date; that their purchase should be on condition that a special report be furnished at the expense of the city, showing the feasibility of successfully procuring the necessary water supply and completing the system within the amount of the bonds; that when delivered the purchase money should be deposited in the First National bank of Denver, and such money should be paid out only upon application, accompanied by bills properly attested by the engineer in charge, for labor and other expenditures, until the work was fully and satisfactorily completed. On motion, the proposition was accepted, and the bonds sold to the above mentioned firms, jointly, one taking one-third and the other two thirds of the amount.

It is not expected that details can be sufficiently worked out to begin work before November 1, and as winter will have set in by that time it may be that but little of active work will be under way before spring.

It is thought that an additional foot of water from Sparkling George creek will prove ample to supply all needs of Delta when its population will have doubled, while the surveys made allow for two feet.

At the meeting Tuesday but little routine business was transacted. The blacksmiths of the city presented a communication to the effect that all or any of them would do blacksmithing for the city at a discount of 10% from regular prices, with the exception of horseshoeing, for which regular prices would be charged. This communication was accepted and ordered placed on file.
