PURE ARETHUSA WATER. THE FAMOUS SPRING GROWING STILL MORE FAMOUS. Increasing Demand for It—Every Freecan Taken to Insure Cleanliness—Electric Plant for Water Works—New Dispensary in Ginger Ale and Saraparilla. People who, two years ago, never hear of Arethusa and the famous purity of the water which sprang from her grave, now use it as a household word because, like a certain other indispensable requisite in the domestic economy, it is "absolutely pure." When the owner of the spring had the water in the eastern part of Seymour analyzed he had no conception of the results. He had noticed that it appeared purer than most water, but he did not know that it was so near to perfect purity as to make it practically so until Professor Chittenden, of Yale University, returned the analysis which proved it. Then the owner began to bottle it and introduce it to the market, in a small way at first, but the demand has grown with its use until now it is one of the most popular table waters to be found. Other waters may be more widely known because they have been introduced longer and more extensively advertised, but none can compare with Arethusa for purity. A visit to the bottling establishment is worth the making. The machinery for introducing the water into the bottles, for impregnating it with gas, for forcing in the corks, for wiring, etc., are all interesting and to the uninitiated are marvelous in their workings. With a determination to give Arethusa spring water a reputation second to no other The Arethusa Spring Water Co. has been to the pains of providing the best of everything and to keeping the place perfectly clean. The bottles are of the cleanest, the corks of the best and the labels are artistically designed and handsomely executed. To claim consistently that the water when put on the table is pure every precaution is taken to make it so. The water is inspected. Every bottle is boiled and every cork is cleaned before being used. There is practically no opportunity for defiling the water, for the spring is walled in and covered, the pipes are of block tin and deep under ground. The "sparkling" water—that is, the charged-in put in pint and quart bottles, and the plain, or as it is known to the trade, the "still" water, in one-half gallon and five gallon packages. It is a fact that more gas is taken in charging Arethusa than by any other water, on the principle that the nearer the water is to water, chemically speaking, the more gas it will contain. The water is charged at sixty pounds pressure. A boiler runs an engine which in turn operates the most improved carbonator and bottling and washing machines. Besides these an electrical plant has recently been put in to furnish light during the winter— for there is a demand for the water in cold as well as hot weather—and a battery is employed to store electricity for use when the power is not running. The plant is a model of its kind and cleanliness is the motto of the company. A fence surrounds the place, the grounds have been graded off, and the whole is kept as neat as the family kitchen. This season a new feature has been introduced. That is in the making ginger ale and saraparilla of Arethusa water. The purity of the water makes these beverages above the average in quality and connoisseurs hesitate in trying to distinguish it from the imported. A brisk demand has already sprung up for these two kinds of healthful drinks and it is proposed to make them a specialty in the future.

THE CHILD'S PRAYER. The following beautiful verses, written over forty years ago by the late Hodges Reed, are reprinted from the Boston Transcript: Into her chamber went A little maid one day, And by a chair she knelt, And thus began to pray: "Jesus, my eyes I close— They form I cannot see; If Thou art near me, Lord, I pray Thee speak to me." A still small voice she heard within her soul, "What is it, child? I hear thee—tell me all." "I pray Thee, Lord," she said, "That Thou wilt condescend To tarry in my heart, And ever be my friend, The path of life is dark—I would not go astray; Oh, let me have Thy hand To lead me in the way." "Fear not—I will not leave thee, child, alone." She thought she felt a soft hand press her own. "They tell me, Lord, that all The living pass away— The aged soon must die, And even children may, Oh, let my parents live, Till I a woman grow; For if they die, what can A little orphan do?" "Fear not, my child—whatever ills may come, I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home." Her little prayer was said, And from her chamber, now, She passed forth with the light Of heaven upon her brow. "Mother, I've seen the Lord— His hand in mine I felt, And, oh, I heard Him say, As by my chair I knelt, 'Fear not, my child, whatever ills may come, I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home.'"

OLD GLORY IN MID-AIR. People living in West Haven and surrounding villages will be treated to an unusual sight to-day. They will see a flag apparently hanging independently in mid-air. J. W. Hopper will send his "Old Glory" up from "The Rungalow," his residence, at the corner of Washington and Noble streets, West Haven, on a kite string, as was done at the opening of the Washington arch in New York recently. The string upon which the flag is suspended is not discernible and causes considerable amazement.

ALL ABOUT FIREWORKS. One Firm Alone in New York Has Sold Nearly Eight Million Packs of Fire Crackers This Year. New Haven will explode its share of firecrackers this glorious Fourth. The boys, and some of the boys of larger growth, have laid in a supply of these explosives for to-day and there will be plenty of noise to-day, as usual on this great national holiday. Speaking of the big demand for firecrackers, a New York dispatch says: "There will be upward of a million dollars spent for fireworks this year in New York alone," said a prominent manufacturer of fireworks. "We have never before made such elaborate preparations for the Fourth, and I understand that it is the same with other dealers. Our plant for manufacturing fireworks, which consists of seventy buildings, has been busy since the first of the year. "Some idea of the magnitude of the work can be gained from the fact that we have sold over 150,000 boxes of firecrackers this year, or about 7,500,000 packs. People spend more money for fireworks than they used to. "Fireworks, by the way, are cheaper this year than ever before, due to the removal of the tariff by the Wilson bill. Firecrackers sell for about one-half what they did a year ago. The greater part of the firecrackers which will be set off to-morrow are the old-fashioned Japanese crackers. A great many crackers have been manufactured in America this year, but the imported ones continue to be the most popular. "The firecrackers we have made have been sold outside of New York. There is a law forbidding their sale in the city because they are more powerful and much more dangerous than the ordinary kind. "There are a great many novelties in fireworks this year. Among them are the 'Trolley Wheels,' 'Magic Fountain' and 'Trilly Wheels.' The new wheels are very pretty. "We are selling a great many sets of fireworks. We have sets for sale at prices ranging from $5 to $1,200. Hundreds of people who live out of town have purchased these. "We have received a great many orders this year for special designs, and many of these are exceedingly elaborate. Among them is the reproduction of the picture of Columbus discovering America. This particular piece measures 50 by 50 feet. We have also arranged a reproduction of the capitol building at Washington, which measures 200 by 100 feet."

DESTRUCTION IN LYNN YESTERDAY—FIREWORKS EXPLODED—STARTED LIKE THE EXPLOSION IN THE CITY MARKET HERE DID. Lynn, Mass., had a lively time and considerable destruction of property yesterday. The fireworks explosion was started in the same way that the one at the city market fire here a year ago did. The dispatch says: Lynn, Mass., July 3.—As the result of an explosion of a firecracker among the fireworks in the store of A. L. Mayo, 283 Union street, here, this afternoon, the Sagamore hotel block was completely gutted by fire and adjoining buildings were badly damaged by water entailing a loss of about $150,000. The fire started at 11:15 and burned so rapidly that the second and third alarms were rung in, as the block is situated in the heart of the retail business section of the city. The flames spread to 18 N. Jenkins' confectionery store, and W. C. Gilman's liquor store from the hardware establishment and then burned up through the hotel to the roof of the building. The flames also threatened to engulf the building occupied by Goldsmith & Moore, carpet and furniture dealers at 273 and 275 Union street. The adjoining buildings were drenched with water. During the fire several explosions in the hardware store drenched the firemen somewhat with their work, but no one was injured and the flames were finally controlled. The fire spread to the hotel so rapidly that the occupants of the house were given but a short time to get out and several narrowly escaped death. Fireman David Upson rescued Sidney Greenwood, an aged guest, from the Sagamore, and another man whose name could not be obtained, was found unconscious on the top floor of the hotel and was carried out just before the roof fell in. On the way to the fire the police ambulance collided with steam No. 2 and was wrecked. The engine was not injured and no one was hurt. The Sagamore hotel was recently remodelled and occupied three stories of the block, while the ground floor was devoted to stock. The loss is $150,000, with an insurance of about $100,000, among the losses in the Sagamore building are L. A. May, house furnishings, loss $50,000, insurance $25,000; A. S. Jenkins, confectioner, loss $3,500, insurance $1,500; W. C. Gilman, liquor saloon, loss $5,000, insurance $3,000; W. Brown, barber, loss $2,500, partially insured. The damage to the building is estimated at almost $55,000. He—Wasn't Brown's wife named Stone before she was married? She—and it wasn't a very suitable name. He—What do you mean? She—Oh, nothing; only she threw herself at his head.—World's Comic.

MANDAMENTALE DI CALAZZO. First Grand Annual Picnic. The first grand annual picnic will be given by the Mandamentale di Calazzo Benefit society at Schuetzen Park to-morrow. The success of the affair is already assured by the large number of tickets sold, the demand being more than the society anticipated. The efforts of the committee which had charge of the affair has been unceasing, the president, J. Santella, having been especially active. This society although young has attained considerable success, considering that it is only two years old. The parade will start at 9:30 o'clock from the corner of the Green and proceed out State street to the park. There will be a fat men's race. The members of the society did an excellent thing in electing the following well known people for its committee: Joseph Santella, president; A. Musaro, secretary; A. Gagliardi, treasurer; A. Grannelli, L. Montrone, P. D. Michele, Y. Cup.G. T. Vallo and G. Florio.

Miscellaneous. THE ÆOLIAN Is Essentially An Instrument For the Home. The variety of music the Æolian performs—its repertoire is unlimited; together with its simplicity of operation—it can be played by anyone after a few days' practice, makes it interesting and entertaining for every member of the family. The Æolian serves in a double capacity; it entertains and it instructs. It broadens and cultivates the tastes of its hearers by familiarizing them with the musical classics, ancient and modern. The Æolian will play the simplest song, and play it well; but it is in playing a Beethoven Symphony or a Bach Fugue that the wonderful qualities of the instrument are revealed. The Æolian will be played for all who will do us the favor to call. The M. Steinert & Sons Co., 777 CHAPEL STREET.
