H. Johnson, Miss E. S. Gilman, Mrs. A. A. Lincoln, Miss W. H. Wellington, Miss Grace Weston and Miss E. P. Studley. An invitation was accepted by the board to hold the thirty-first anniversary at Springfield, Mass.

Following are the reports presented at the anniversary: The report of the home department was presented by its secretary, Miss A. B. Childs of Boston, in part as follows:

The year 1897 closes thirty years of organized labor for women in mission lands by Congregational women in the United States. Thirty years ago this organized labor was a new experiment, questioned by friends, criticised by foes, doubted by the brethren in the churches, thoroughly believed in by a few women who had faith in their Lord and in His command to disciple the nations, and who had the courage of their convictions. The Woman's Board of Missions, the small parent organization, has grown to be a tree, and to-day some of our greatest perils are the perils of success.

The receipts for the first year were $5,033.13. The largest amount received in any year was $142,787.30 in 1892. The average yearly income for the first ten years was about $45,400; for the second decade, $109,978; for the third, $125,624.76. Total amount for the thirty years, $2,569,556.47. The number of missionaries sent out has grown from 7 to 128, 237 having been under our care since the beginning. Our Bible women, from 11 to 162; boarding schools, from 1 to 33; day schools, from none to 255; and the sum of money put into school buildings and homes is, in the aggregate, about $300,000.

ORGANIZATIONS.

There are now connected with the board twenty-three branches, comprising about 1,400 senior auxiliary societies, with an estimated membership of over 40,000; 598 Junior auxiliaries and mission circles, besides cradle rolls for which 5,000 membership cards have been given out; also a large number of contributing societies of Y. P. S. C. E., King's Daughters and Sunday schools.

FIELD SECRETARY.

The work of our field secretary, Miss Kyle, growing more active year by year. Four meetings, held in as many days, in the New York branch, resulted in three new auxiliaries, while a number of new contributing societies among young people bear witness to a growing interest.

PERIODICALS.

More and more are convinced that one of the best methods of promoting interest in missions is the persistent, untiring effort to increase the circulation of missionary intelligence. That member of a Massachusetts auxiliary who has secured seventy-four subscribers the past year has done a noble work for missions. The Missionary Dayspring circulation is 9,111—a gain of nearly a thousand.

LEAFLETS.

The monthly leaflets supplementary to the topics for auxiliary meetings given in Life and Light, now have an edition of 1,800. Thirteen other leaflets have been issued. The prayer calendars for 1898, now ready, have the attraction of pictures of some missionaries and native workers. The circulation library in the board rooms, Boston, continues to prove a most valuable adjunct to our work.

MISSIONARIES.

Ten of our missionaries have come to this country during the year in pursuit of rest and health. They are Mrs. Ellen R. Baird, from Bulgaria; Mrs. Catherine Parsons, Mrs. F. M. Newell, Miss Susan C. Hyde, from western Turkey; Miss Elizabeth B. Huntington and Miss Katherine B. Frasier, from eastern Turkey; Miss Mary E. Morrill, from north China; Mrs. A. H. Hotbrook and Miss Frances E. Griswold, from Japan; Miss Annie E. Abell, from Micronesia. Of those who were with us—Miss Ellen M. Stone, from Bulgaria; Miss Cornelia S. Bartlett, from

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effective Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery rising, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs, and difficult breathing; headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness, and a general layed out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested, before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surface of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlandson the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Gooker of 270 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition, resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed; and the poisonous discharge therefrom, passing backward into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure; but to-day I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite, and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, and bloating after meals.

Send for little book mailed free on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart's, 270 Dearborn, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY.

New England Order of Protection—Elm Tree's Celebration This Evening—Mozart Lodge Also Celebrates.

Ten years ago the New England Order of Protection was organized in Boston. The growth of the order, especially during the past five years, has been phenomenal. In this city, where so many fraternal orders have gained a foothold, the growth of no other fraternal order can compare with that of the New England Order of Protection. This is the natural result of the economical management of the organization, the care taken in the admission of applicants and the loyalty of its members.

Five years ago there were only three lodges of the order in this city, with a combined membership of less than two hundred. During the past five years lodges of the New England order were instituted here. The nine lodges of the order at present in New Haven have a combined membership of about twenty-three hundred, and the members carry insurance in this organization amounting to between four and a half and five millions of dollars.

The decennial of the order will be celebrated throughout the New England states with great fervor. In Boston the lodges of that city and vicinity will have a grand gathering in Music hall on the 12th inst., which will be addressed by Supreme Warden L. P. Deming and other noted celebrities of the order.

In this city the first celebration of the occasion will take place this evening under the auspices of Elm Tree and Queen of Elms lodges in the A. O. U. W. hall, No. 139 Orange street. The evening will be arranged as a musical and literary programme of real merit, the speakers of the evening being Grand Warden J. B. Veiant of New Britain, Grand Vice Warden C. S. Chaffee of Derby, Grand Treasurer F. M. Drew of Ansonia and Past Warden Chapin, deputy of Elm Tree. Grand Secretary F. D. Grinnell will preside and will give a short history of Elm Tree lodge.

At the close of the meeting there will be dancing, during which time refreshments will be served in the banquet room.

Mozart lodge No. 192, a lodge composed entirely of Germans, either by birth or descent, will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the order also this evening by an entertainment in Turn hall. There will be several prominent speakers, and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

On Monday evening next Beacon lodge No. 69 will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the order in its lodge room, No. 400 State street. The principal speakers of the evening will be Rev. O. J. Range and Grand Secretary F. D. Grinnell. A banquet will wind up the festivities.
