

The Journal and Courier NEW HAVEN, CONN. THE OLDEST DAILY PAPER PUBLISHED IN CONNECTICUT. THE WEEKLY JOURNAL. Issued Thursdays, One Dollar a Year. THE CARRINGTON PUBLISHING CO. OFFICE 400 STATE STREET.

DELIVERED BY CARRIERS IN THE CITY, 15 CENTS A WEEK, 50 CENTS A MONTH, $5 FOR SIX MONTHS, $6 A YEAR. THE SAME TERMS BY MAIL.

ADVERTISING RATES. Situations, Wants, Receipts, and other small advertisements, One Cent a Word each week (seven lines). Display advertisements, per line, one insertion, $1.20; each subsequent insertion, 40 cents; one week, $5.20; one month, $10; six months, $50.

General Butler's clients are still suing his estate for failing to properly take care of their interest after taking their retainers. Such a suit has just been filed by a Framingham man, who alleges that the general's carelessness cost him $8,000.

Bicycle frames stamped out in two halves by one operation from a steel plate are a recent Birmingham novelty. The halves are clamped together, and though the frame is not so elegant as one made by another process it is perfectly rigid and can be made at a cost of $2 instead of $12.50.

An English woman when told of the death of a wealthy but uncultured neighbor, pronounced this unique obituary: "He was so good and kind and helpful to me in all sorts of ways; he was so vulgar, poor, dear fellow, that we could not know him in London; but we shall meet him in heaven."

In twenty-five years the paper pulp industry of Wisconsin has grown from nothing to an investment of $30,000,000, the present daily output of the mills of the State being over 2,500,000 pounds, while the value of the product is now considerable more than $8,250,000 a year.

China is learning what it costs to go to war and come home licked. Japan has received from China already the proceeds of a loan of $30,000,000 raised in France on a Russian guarantee, and of a loan of $80,000,000 raised with German co-operation through the agency of the Hong-Kong and Shanghai bank.

The Russian papers report that during his recent visit to Paris for the purpose of studying the Napoleonic epoch the painter Verestchagin made an interesting discovery fully confirming his accuracy as to the costume in which he had depicted Napoleon during the campaign of 1812.

The Southern Presbyterian General assembly, in a recent session, initiated a measure which has been contemplated in the church for several years for organizing a separate colored Presbyterian Church. The Committee on Colored Evangelization brought in a recommendation that the colored members be allowed to withdraw from the white churches and form independent churches, with independent presbyteries, synods and general assembly.

A valuable exhibit of Indian heraldry and symbols is promised for the Omaha exhibition next year. Its preparation is in the hands of James Mooney, a representative of the Bureau of Ethnology of the Department of the Interior.

Philadelphia is a little slow, but it has made what seems to be a practical plan to take itself out of the ranks of cities with the unenviable reputation of not providing sufficient public school accommodations. It will do this, too, without the erection of new buildings and without other additional expense.

Possibly something like this might work well in some other cities where there is room at the top. NO REST FOR ANYBODY. There is no rest for the wicked and there is just as much for the good. The good have to keep pegging away in order to be good themselves, and do their part toward making others good.

There is no rest for the wicked and there is just as much for the good. The good have to keep pegging away in order to be good themselves, and do their part toward making others good.

There are things in this world more valuable than money, my son. "I know it. That's the reason I want money to buy them with."—Detroit Free Press. "The fact is," said Dawson, "I married because I was lonely. To put it tersely, I married for sympathy."

RECKLESS CHICAGO. The trustees of the Chicago public library have decided to open the doors of that institution on Sunday, from twelve to six, for the circulation of books, as well as for the use of the reading and reference rooms.

Still, those who live in glass houses should not throw stones out of them, and those who have beams in their eyes should go to an eye doctor. Do our readers know that right here in pious Connecticut there is a public library which is open only on Sunday? There is, and it is in the good old town of Ledyard.

By Ella Antoinette Hotchkiss. October days have departed. The mind will be refurbished from the marvel of light, grace and coloring, with pictures framed as memory may af-growing place, but it probably would be if it were not so crisscrossed with its library. Just look at New Haven, booming along with its public library carefully and plausibly shut on Sunday. If people must read on Sunday let them read the Sunday newspapers or the pleasing and instructive books that are to be found in the Sunday school libraries, which can, of course, be plausibly and properly opened on Sunday.

FASHION NOTES. Matching That Made Work. When it is planned, as is so frequently the case with well dressmakers, to make the skirt and bodice of a gown match in their trimming, a very elaborate rig is sure to result if a start is made with a highly wrought bodice.

formed the cuffs, and vest, belt and collar were crimson velvet. Then on each side of the skirt a front breadth were panels made of blue plaid of the velvets, each panel adorned with an oxidized silver button. A closet full of simple gowns could be had for the price of this one, and could be made with less trouble.

OUT. Sympathetic old lady—"And tell me, my poor child, what did your father do before he died?" Very practical urban—"E lived, mum."—Larks. Critic—"Where did you get the idea of that story?" Author—"Out of my head." Critic—"Gracious, how glad you must be that it's out."—Philadelphia Call.

PRECAUTION—"What makes Dickey Dodd take that girl to the theater so constantly?" "The one who wears the enormous hat." "Yes?" "He wants to make sure that he won't be any possibility have to sit behind it."—Washington Star.

MADAME (entering a restaurant)—"Do you know if Mr. Miller is here?" "Walter—Mr. Miller? Isn't he an old man with a big red nose?" Madame—"Yes, that's he—but look here, I want you to understand that my husband is not old, nor is his nose big and red."—Fleegande Bleetter.

AUTUMNAL REVERIES. By Ella Antoinette Hotchkiss. October days have departed. The mind will be refurbished from the marvel of light, grace and coloring, with pictures framed as memory may af-

Apollinaris ("THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS") BEWARE OF SUBSTITUTIONS

Art can never supersede nature. Art in accord with nature, reverent before the aspects of fields, forest and roadway,—finds, even although it may yet be far and away from taking rank with the hand unseen, it gains to itself a productive power not otherwise obtainable.

What a calm broods over one when left alone with nature! Her speech, though silent, is strong Her word of love to the appreciative heart is un-falling. The few clinging leaves, some of them tremulous, some of them frolicsome still, upon the trees, in late October, seem like the witchery of humor and pathos in the blending. They lure a smile to human lips.

What a calm broods over one when left alone with nature! Her speech, though silent, is strong Her word of love to the appreciative heart is un-falling. The few clinging leaves, some of them tremulous, some of them frolicsome still, upon the trees, in late October, seem like the witchery of humor and pathos in the blending.

Who that has learned through the novelties of the author Cable (so at one with nature!) and associated with the essayists of our time in their admiration of the beauty, the songs, of various birds once abounding, could desire to destroy or wear any of the same? There sometimes seems a ruthlessness in plucking wildwood blossoms from their parent stem for the sake of passing pleasure.

Who that has learned through the novelties of the author Cable (so at one with nature!) and associated with the essayists of our time in their admiration of the beauty, the songs, of various birds once abounding, could desire to destroy or wear any of the same? There sometimes seems a ruthlessness in plucking wildwood blossoms from their parent stem for the sake of passing pleasure.

It is November. From the heights one last grand picture has been witnessed. It was as though the sunset of a bright, a heart-full day. The tree-tops bore the crimson hues, changing now to russet-brown. Softest of coloring underdread the oak-trees in their hardy holding of the rustling

COLONIAL SILVERWARE. Not all of us are the happy possessors of Silver that has been handed down through generation from old Colonial days.

But in the recent reproductions of the quaint forms and chaste adornments copied from Paul Revere and other early American silversmiths, have been heightened by the superior workmanship of modern times and methods.

THE GEORGE H. FORD COMPANY.

foliage. The sunlight glanced lovingly upon a brilliant garden of chrysanthemums; a solitary spot of culture on the summit of the rural hillside, which city-bred eyes would gladden to behold. Good-bye was said to this so wondrous place of beauty. Again, from its hat concealment, behind clouds at once dispersed and revealing kindest blue above, looked forth the sunshine.

Art can never supersede nature. Art in accord with nature, reverent before the aspects of fields, forest and roadway,—finds, even although it may yet be far and away from taking rank with the hand unseen, it gains to itself a productive power not otherwise obtainable.

What a calm broods over one when left alone with nature! Her speech, though silent, is strong Her word of love to the appreciative heart is un-falling. The few clinging leaves, some of them tremulous, some of them frolicsome still, upon the trees, in late October, seem like the witchery of humor and pathos in the blending.

Who that has learned through the novelties of the author Cable (so at one with nature!) and associated with the essayists of our time in their admiration of the beauty, the songs, of various birds once abounding, could desire to destroy or wear any of the same? There sometimes seems a ruthlessness in plucking wildwood blossoms from their parent stem for the sake of passing pleasure.

Who that has learned through the novelties of the author Cable (so at one with nature!) and associated with the essayists of our time in their admiration of the beauty, the songs, of various birds once abounding, could desire to destroy or wear any of the same? There sometimes seems a ruthlessness in plucking wildwood blossoms from their parent stem for the sake of passing pleasure.

Who that has learned through the novelties of the author Cable (so at one with nature!) and associated with the essayists of our time in their admiration of the beauty, the songs, of various birds once abounding, could desire to destroy or wear any of the same? There sometimes seems a ruthlessness in plucking wildwood blossoms from their parent stem for the sake of passing pleasure.

It is November. From the heights one last grand picture has been witnessed. It was as though the sunset of a bright, a heart-full day. The tree-tops bore the crimson hues, changing now to russet-brown. Softest of coloring underdread the oak-trees in their hardy holding of the rustling

COLONIAL SILVERWARE. Not all of us are the happy possessors of Silver that has been handed down through generation from old Colonial days.

But in the recent reproductions of the quaint forms and chaste adornments copied from Paul Revere and other early American silversmiths, have been heightened by the superior workmanship of modern times and methods.

THE GEORGE H. FORD COMPANY.

THE CENTRE OF SAVING. GREATER NEW HAVEN'S GREATEST STORE.

Ready to Serve

a multitude of wants here—and your money back if the purchase is not as good as we say, is the guarantee that sifts the wheat from the chaff. That's our guarantee.

CAUGHT BY THE COLD SNAP!

Our Cape, Jacket and Suit Parlors welcome you to the finest fashioned at fittingly low prices.

Ribbon

Rich Silk Ribbon, the correct shades. On Soldiers' Field all fanciful chestnuts were cast aside, and everywhere Ribbon, Ribbon!

Special prices so that you can cover yourself with Ribbon.

Silk Handkerchiefs,

great, big, rich flutterers, 39 cents Chrysanthemums, Flags, Silk and Bunting, any size or shape, and we believe we have enough of them too.

Millinery Munificence!

Dress Shapes—All the leading styles and color effects. Best quality French Felt, selling for $1.50 to $2.50, for 98c

Choice novelties in English Walking Hats, cycling, all new up-to-date styles. Stiff Hats at equally low prices.

Great offering of Felt Hats. This season's best shapes and shades; for instance, Cowboy Alpines, the latest craze, $1.50 value, 50c Jaunty, dressy Turbans, colors and black, $3.98 value, on Thursday, special, $1.50. A great showing of Children's Hats.

We kept our word to the letter in the Horse Show Shapes. Clever fingers now hard at work reproducing the brightest and hand-somest. Let us show you some of these beauties—no high prices.

Imperial Serge

as handsome a black as you could wish and the navy is just as handsome—52 inch, all wool, and we'd like you to compare it with $1.00 goods—our price Thursday, 69c yd.

50 pieces, all wool, strictly all wool, Suitings, Scotch mixtures, 42 inches wide, got the style about them and the wear in the wool and web, Thursday's price, 49c yd.

15 pieces of beautiful Bulgaria and Tafeta Silks, which we offer at 39c yd. Just to emphasize the length and breadth and richness of this Silk Store. It's a 75c silk. Compare it and see.

Night Shirts for Careful Men! A Few More Cape O'coats, We'd like you to examine these extra value Domet Flannel Night Shirts, 50 cents

Here is a new and most excellent Night Shirt, just produced by the famous Star Mills. Light weight Cashmere, extra long and full. Can't imagine a better Night Shirt for $3 or more. It costs you $2.

Horrid Dragon Wrought Iron Candelabra, with handsome colored candle, 25 cents Exact copies of those used in 1632, when New Haven was first settled.

Little and big Girls' Capes and Suits. Pretty fashions at least to pay.

F. M. BROWN & CO.

