

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

Arrangements for Thursday's Demonstration in Honor of Selected Men...

The plans for the send-off of the selected men who are going from this district to Camp Devens have assumed definite form...

This city will witness next Thursday afternoon a remarkable demonstration of patriotism and loyalty...

Home guard companies of Putnam and Danielson, uniformed guards of fraternal organizations in this and surrounding towns...

Mayor J. J. McGarry will be president of the day. In this capacity, it will be necessary for him to temporarily relinquish command of the Putnam Home Guard company...

The line of the parade will be from the square into Front street to South Main street, to Front street to Pomfret and Church streets...

Public exercises will be held here, Mayor McGarry presiding. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. Charles E. Searis, state attorney, and Rev. F. D. Sargent.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is elated over the manner in which the public has taken to the plan to give the men a send-off.

Water service for a part of the city was cut off Saturday morning while the position of a hydrant at the corner of South Main and Grove streets was being changed.

Thomas Burke, out of jail two days, was again before the city court Saturday morning.

At Canterbury Dances, many local people attended the dance at the Canterbury Grange, Saturday evening.

William Nolan, yeoman in the U. S. Navy, stationed on Broadway, N. Y., in the Detail Department, was a week end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nolan.

Walter Platt, a member of the Scottish Kilts, now in training in Canada, is spending a few days at his home.

Joseph Wilcox, of the 34th Co., C. A. C. N. G., is spending a few days at his home in Plainfield.

The dance held in Moosup Saturday evening drew a number of local people.

Guests at Clambake, Many Plainfield men attended a clambake held in Sterling, Sunday.

Miss Billingslea waited for the change impatiently. She had found her morning's shopping trying. Three salesmen who for years had waited on her and who understood her tastes and temperament were absent.

Miss Billingslea's experience that saleswomen were never so attentive to her wants as man clerks. She always preferred masculine service. It was annoying to have to wait so long when she had so much to do in getting ready for her mountain trip.

"I'm sorry, madam," said the pretty young girl who had sold her half a dozen pairs of outing gloves. "There's probably some delay at the cashier's desk. I think your change will be here in a moment."

Miss Billingslea frowned. She supposed that some inexperienced girl was being broken in at the cashier's desk at the expense of the customer's time.

Scene to reach America. This is Piccadilly, London's famous thoroughfare, and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

Fall Opening

TOMORROW, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, SEPT, 18TH, 19TH, 20TH An Authoritative Display of the Newest and Most Favored Styles in Women's and Misses' Coats, Suits, Dresses, Furs, Waists, Wraps

FOR THE FALL AND WINTER 1917-1918 Each season our opening displays of Women's and Misses' Wear become more interesting because of the fact that they can come here first and see fashion's newest fads and fancies as well as the latest modes of the more conservative lines.

The Manhattan

121-125 MAIN STREET

"THE FASHION STORE OF NORWICH"

THIRD DEGREE

Conferral on Class From Cargill Council, K of C—Military Mass on Sunday Morning.

State Deputy Cronin and other high officials of the Knights of Columbus were in this city Sunday to assist at the conferral of the third degree upon a class of more than 30 members of Cargill council.

Another Wedding Soon. Principal Anson B. Handy was at Cataumet, Mass., on Cape Cod, Saturday evening to attend the wedding of one of his five brothers.

May Have Been Local Swindler. Press dispatches Saturday told of the arrest of two men, one in Boston, the other in New Haven, for having fraudulently passed checks, as was done at the store of Ballard and Clark in this city on Saturday, Sept. 8.

Eight Women Would Vote. Heymon G. Carver, registrar of voters, has given out the following figures showing registration work that has been done in this town preliminary to the town election.

Norwich Golfers Entertained. Members of the Norwich Golf club were entertained at the Putnam country club Saturday afternoon and matches were played between representatives of the two organizations.

Miss Gladys Bard is acting as commercial teacher at Putnam High school until such time as the vacancy in the teachership is filled.

Kenneth Ballard's return to Clark college will be delayed a week. The college will not reopen this year until a week later than usual, this being due to the fact that the faculty de-

PLAINFIELD

Week End Furloughs for Local Men in Service—Sterling Clambake Personal.

S. G. Coffey, of Hartford, spent the week-end at his home here.

Misses Ruth and Eva Higginbottom were week-end visitors at their home here.

Byron Haskell of Providence, R. I., spent the week-end at his home in Plainfield.

Fred Vincent, local member of Co. 38, C. A. C. N. G., stationed at Fort Terry, is spending a short furlough at his home here.

At Canterbury Dances, many local people attended the dance at the Canterbury Grange, Saturday evening.

William Nolan, yeoman in the U. S. Navy, stationed on Broadway, N. Y., in the Detail Department, was a week end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nolan.

Walter Platt, a member of the Scottish Kilts, now in training in Canada, is spending a few days at his home.

Joseph Wilcox, of the 34th Co., C. A. C. N. G., is spending a few days at his home in Plainfield.

The dance held in Moosup Saturday evening drew a number of local people.

Guests at Clambake, Many Plainfield men attended a clambake held in Sterling, Sunday.

Miss Billingslea waited for the change impatiently. She had found her morning's shopping trying. Three salesmen who for years had waited on her and who understood her tastes and temperament were absent.

Miss Billingslea's experience that saleswomen were never so attentive to her wants as man clerks. She always preferred masculine service. It was annoying to have to wait so long when she had so much to do in getting ready for her mountain trip.

"I'm sorry, madam," said the pretty young girl who had sold her half a dozen pairs of outing gloves. "There's probably some delay at the cashier's desk. I think your change will be here in a moment."

Miss Billingslea frowned. She supposed that some inexperienced girl was being broken in at the cashier's desk at the expense of the customer's time.

Scene to reach America. This is Piccadilly, London's famous thoroughfare, and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

MOOSUP

Scout Troop Resumes Meetings—The Home Gardeners Exhibit Farm Produce—Melrose Club Gives Dance.

Moosup Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, held a meeting Saturday afternoon, the first since meetings were suspended for the summer months.

Woodchucks are numerous this season. Joseph Bernier and Irving Tyler shot six in a few hours one afternoon recently.

Mrs. Olive Bessonet left Saturday morning for Arctic to spend the week-end with relatives.

Charles Spaulding has harvested many nice watermelons and muskmelons this season. A pumpkin 18 inches in diameter was also taken from his garden.

Mrs. Herbert Sweet and Mrs. Douglas Frazier of Arctic were visitors on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barner.

Miss John Stone and daughter Ber-

BRIEF STATE NEWS

New Haven—Miss Alice Reynolds has returned from Cape Cod, where she spent the early part of September. Miss Reynolds spent August at the Swan Lake House, at Belfast, Me.

Middleton—The new Wesleyan fraternity, Alpha Sigma Delta, will occupy the old Van Benschoten home-stand on High street, that is part of the property acquired by the college last spring.

Old Lyme—Rev. and Mrs. George Ringrose have gone to visit their son, Rev. Samuel Ringrose, and family, in Fitchburg, Mass. The Baptist church will be closed for the next two weeks during the pastor's absence.

Torrington—Maclean Cunningham, assistant treasurer of the Torrington Manufacturing Co., proposes to override the exemption claim asked for him by the company and intends to go to Camp Devens with the next contingent.

New Haven—It is announced that the Young Women's Christian association vacation camp at Short Beach will be kept open one week longer than had been planned, so that the date of closing has been deferred until September 5th.

Cromwell—Charles R. Corey, proprietor of the Echo-Dell farm, Cromwell, won the following prizes on his Columbian Wyandottes at the Berlin fair: second cock, first, second and third cockerel, first, second and third hen, first and second pullet and first pen.

Miss Billingslea waited for the change impatiently. She had found her morning's shopping trying. Three salesmen who for years had waited on her and who understood her tastes and temperament were absent.

Miss Billingslea's experience that saleswomen were never so attentive to her wants as man clerks. She always preferred masculine service. It was annoying to have to wait so long when she had so much to do in getting ready for her mountain trip.

"I'm sorry, madam," said the pretty young girl who had sold her half a dozen pairs of outing gloves. "There's probably some delay at the cashier's desk. I think your change will be here in a moment."

Miss Billingslea frowned. She supposed that some inexperienced girl was being broken in at the cashier's desk at the expense of the customer's time.

Scene to reach America. This is Piccadilly, London's famous thoroughfare, and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS MARCH THROUGH LONDON

A bit of London's enthusiastic reception of America's soldiers is shown in the accompanying picture made from one of the first photographs of the scene to reach America.

This is Piccadilly, London's famous thoroughfare, and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.

ments with cheers and handclapping and the waving of small flags. It is not too much to say that the Americans owned London on that day.