NORWICH COAL FIRES GO OUT TODAY In Kitchens and Furnaces According to Appeal by Fuel Administrator of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts—Use Gas or Oil Say Fuel Advisors and Accumulate Coal Reserve for Next Winter in New England.

Norwich householders are called upon this morning, May Day, to put out their kitchen ranges and their heaters and furnaces that use coal.

The call is sent out over Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island by the federal fuel administrator of these states, who appeal to the people to use gas or oil for the necessary cooking and heating from now on until, in order that a saving of coal may be made to accumulate a reserve supply for New England for next winter.

At least 1,000,000 tons of coal may be saved this year in New England, according to a conservative estimate by the fuel administrators, by putting out the furnaces at once.

Lacking adequate tonnage to bring coal from the mines, New England's householders must realize the gravity of the situation and save the coal that can be dispensed with during the spring and summer months without great discomfort, according to those who are making the appeal.

THE FUEL ADMINISTRATORS, James J. Storror of Massachusetts, George H. Holmes of Rhode Island, and Thomas W. Russell of Connecticut, have called the householders in their respective jurisdictions to observe these rules:

Stop using coal in furnaces on May 1st. A wood fire can be made in the furnace on cold days when temporary heat is needed; and in rooms where special heat is desired, open fires or local heaters can be used.

After May 1, if you have an oil or gas range, do your cooking on it entirely and do not light the coal range. It is wasteful to use an oil or gas range while the coal range is burning. Do not wait until the coal range is so hot that you are driven to using oil or gas, but begin to do so now.

COMPARES SPRINGFIELD WITH NORWICH POLICE Average of Arrests Per Policeman is Much Higher Here.

Chief George Linton has just received one of the printed annual reports of the Springfield police department, which has the reputation all over New England of having the highest police department in this section and he finds some interesting comparisons between its statistics and those of the Norwich department for a year.

The appropriation provided for the Springfield department was $303,765 of which $20,000 was expended. The force numbers 123 men as compared with the 31 regulars of the Norwich force. In the year there were 3,962 arrests in Springfield and 1,634 in Norwich, which is an average of 33 arrests per policeman in Springfield and 51 per policeman in Norwich.

Arrests made by the Norwich police in the month of April totaled 132 and there were 273 lodgers given quarters over night at the police station. The arrests were for the following causes:

Intoxication 65, breach of peace 24, violation of motor vehicle law 13, leaving liquor for sale 13, theft 5, adultery 3, violation of vehicle law 3, resisting officer 2, insane 2, and perjury, statutory rape, injury to private property, using liquor bottles fraudulently, non-support, deserter, and begging 1 each.

Three of those presented before the police court were bound over for trial in the superior court.

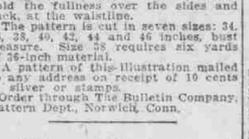

AUTO BUSES HERE TO RUN TO NEW LONDON Sixteen Passenger Cars Have Been Secured by Two Norwich Men.

Two Red passenger buses that will carry 16 people each have been bought through the Frisbie-McCormick Co. by Max Goldstein and Mr. Longo, both of this city, and are to be used for passenger service on a regular schedule between here and New London.

They will make the trip in 45 minutes and are to start the service at once.

The buses arrived here on Sunday from Patterson, N. J., where the bodies were put on, and are to be used on the chassis of a three-quarter ton Red truck. A seat for passengers runs lengthwise on each side of the car which is closed in with a top and sliding glass windows so that passengers are completely protected in unpleasant weather.
