

MAY MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS ARE DRAFTED INTO THE MAJORS

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Only nineteen minor league players were mentioned at the annual major league drafting meeting held here yesterday, the National League taking the larger share of the youngsters. Only two American league clubs, New York and Washington, submitted names.

Pittsburgh—Schwab, Lexington, Mich.; Shepard, Aberdeen, S. D. and Jahn, Sioux Falls, S. D. Cincinnati—Harris, Charlotte, S. C. New York Nationals—Catcher Anderson, Beaumont, Texas.

New York Americans—Johnson, Aberdeen, S. D., Lavalle, Worcester, Mass. Boston Nationals—Padgett, Memphis, Tenn., Smith, New Orleans, La., Blumenthal, Saginaw, Mich., and Ionia, Ionia, Mich. Brooklyn—J. E. Stewart, Birmingham, Ala. Catcher Hargreaves, Pittsfield, Mass.

Washington—Hargrave, New Haven; Pether, Knoxville; Beach, Cairo, Ill. Chicago Nationals—Infielder Barrett, Little Rock, Ark.; C. E. Stauffer, Bridgeport, Conn.

WOLF FIRST PRACTICE FOR COW-PASTURE POOL. Those who passed the headquarters of the Negro baseball team last evening stopped, looked and listened and then snatched strange sounds and strange language greeted their ears and even stranger sights met their eyes.

There at the back of the room stood George Madden, Big Chief he called him in the diamond club, when he saw the mighty wolf who had won many a ball game but a slim willow thing with an iron head, a "masher" somebody called it. George was picking on a small white kid named Siki, who was up in back of it and hitting it when it wasn't looking. The big brute!

There was Jack Craney, the fellow who played checkers with Christy Mathewson, strange different kind of man, Jack was making funny motions at some imaginary object on the floor while Big Ed Harris stood by telling him his stance wasn't right or that his "flow through" was not something else was the matter. Jack seemed to understand all about it but was apparently the only one who did.

Texas Callahan was over in another corner of Madden's golf course with a funny kind of club, a sort of cross between a hockey stick and a croquet mallet, a "putter" as he called it. Tex was tapping one of those little white pills into a cigarette box or something else. When he did land the little round object in the hole, which was seldom, he smiled like a kid with a new toy.

Then there was Eddie McKay, Doc Kirby, Bill Anderson, Mickey Warwick, Jim Mars, Frank Walsh and a few others who seemed to be as crazy as the rest, all taking turns at taking a wallop at that innocent little ball that never did a thing to any of them. The funny part of it was that no one cracked a smile and it was all in dead earnest as if a national championship depended on each and every one of them. Gosh ain't it funny what it does to some good, hearty, full-grown men when that golf bug takes up its abode in their craniums!

HAWKEYES ARE THE IDOLS OF THE WESTERN WORLD. Chicago, Oct. 16.—Back from their six to nothing triumph at Toledo, Iowa's conquering heroes are at once the pride of the big ten, the idols of the middle west and the principal foe of five football teams of the western conference in the championship race which reaches high speed next Saturday.
