

TAFT DEFINES LABOR ATTITUDE

Before Cooper Union He Pronounces Opinion on Respective Rights of Capital and Labor.

GREETED WITH APPROVAL

Secretary Withstands Rapid-Fire Attack of Questioning from the Audience Following His Address.

New York, Jan. 10.—For the first time since he became a recognized candidate for the republican presidential nomination, Secretary of War William H. Taft faced a New York audience to-night, set forth in detail his attitude toward the pertinent question of labor and capital, and then submitted to a rapid fire attack from the audience which quizzed him keenly and in a controversial spirit according to the practice of the People's Institute whose guest he was.

In his prepared address the secretary pointed out the dependence one upon the other of capital and labor. He declared that great aggregations of wealth properly employed widened the field of labor and were to be welcomed while wealth improperly used was to be condemned.

Opening the speech with the statement that he would ask the audience to give their attention to "the subject of labor and capital, their common interests, their necessary controversies, their lawful acts, and the legal remedies for their abuses," Secretary Taft traced the "origin of institution of property," the relationship between prosperity and capital and labor from the earliest days and the principles which lead to the accumulation of capital in the world.

Secretary Taft declared that the attention given by labor unions to remedial legislation has been of more direct interest than even that of the philanthropists.

"What the capitalist, who is the employer of labor, must face," he continued, "is that the organization of labor—the labor union—is a permanent condition in the industrial world. Under existing conditions the blindest course that an employer of labor can pursue is to decline to recognize the influence of the labor union in the labor market and to insist upon dealing only with his particular employees."

"The time has passed in which that attitude can be assumed with any hope of successfully maintaining it. What the wise manager of corporate enterprise employing large numbers of laborers will do, is to receive the leaders of labor unions with courtesy and respect and listen to their claims and arguments as they would to the managers of any other corporate enterprise with whom they were to make an important contract affecting the business between them."

"At times some labor leaders are intoxicated with the immense power that they exercise in representing thousands of their fellow workers and are weak enough to exhibit a spirit of arrogance. Dealing with them is trying to the patience of the employer. So, too, propositions from labor unions sometimes are so exorbitant in respect to the terms of employment as to deprive the manager of the control which he ought to retain over the laborers employed in his business. This is to be expected in a comparatively new movement and is not to be made a ground for condemning it."

"On the other hand the arrogance is not confined to one side."

"Discussing the difficulties in peaceful adjustment of controversies between capital and labor, Mr. Taft commended the worker of such organizations as the Civic Federation."

"On the subject of arbitration he argued for the adjustment of labor disputes by submission to an impartial tribunal, and agreement to abide its judgment and in this connection demanded the Massachusetts plan."

"On the question of legal right of the labor union to strike, Secretary Taft said:

"Men have the right to leave the employ of their employer in a body in order to impose on him an great inconvenience as possible to induce him to come to their terms. They have the right to use persuasion with all other laborers who are invited to take their places. In order to convince them of the advantage to labor of united action, it is the business of courts and of the police to respect these rights with the same degree of care that they respect the right of owners of capital to the protection of their property."

STOVE INJUNCTION STANDS

Supreme Court Overrules Labor Federation's Motion in Buck Case.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Justice Gould of the supreme court of the District of Columbia to-day overruled a motion made by the American Federation of Labor to amend the court's order in the case of the Bucks Stove and Range company of St. Louis, in which the court recently temporarily enjoined the federation from placing the company on a boycott and unfair list in the federation publications.

The court decided that it would not alter the order in any way.

DID NOT GET INCREASE

Police Department is Still at its Old Pay.

The increases which the members of the police department were expected to receive under the appropriation made by the board of finance in the estimates for 1908 have not been received by them as yet. All the increases which were figured out exactly for the men at the total of $50 a year per man were held up, inasmuch as the police commissioners did not make out the bills at the new rate. The bills were submitted at the old schedule and in that form were approved by the board of finance Thursday evening with the result that the payroll yesterday did not contain the added salaries.

The police board asked for a uniform raise through the departments of 25 cents a day. This the finance board cut down about one-half.

Whether the police commission will decline to accept the half raise or not is in question.

RED MEN HAVE BANQUET

Bridgeport Tribe Assists at Installation of New Sachem.

A tribe of Indians with all the necessary accoutrements except the war paint came up from Bridgeport last night to attend the installation of E. G. Stone as sachem of the Anasatawee tribe during the coming year.

There were about thirty in the tribe from Bridgeport and with solemnity due the occasion assisted in the installation. Following the ritual service the whole party proceeded on the way path down Church street and banqueted at the Omeco.

O. J. Culver acted as toastmaster and members from both tribes were called upon the whoop. Alderman L. E. Jacobs, who is a member of the order, made a brief speech. Judge John P. Studley was one of the guests of honor and his address was enthusiastically applauded.

ANTI-SALOON GRAFT

Liquor Men's Editor Charges That League is Tool for Millionaires.

USED FOR POLITICAL POWER

Not for Bettering Conditions, But to Scat Trust Flareheads in High Places.

New York, Jan. 10.—Charges that the Anti-Saloon league is supported by multi-millionaires who use the organization for political purposes were made to-day, at a meeting of New York wholesale liquor dealers, by T. M. Gilmore, editor of a liquor trade magazine. Mr. Gilmore also said that to defeat the rising tide of prohibition the saloon business must be purged of its evil aspects. The meeting was held to consider co-operation with the model license law movement begun in Louisville, Ky., two months ago and since extended to Pittsburg, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

"The Anti-Saloon league is the strongest, best officered, best financed and best legally advised political organization in the world," said Mr. Gilmore. "It now holds the balance of power in a number of states. The league is supported by millionaires, and is banded together, not for the purposes of bettering the people at large, but to give political power to those men who contribute hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to its campaign funds. They secretly direct and manipulate the organization so that they are able often not only to seat whom they please in the gubernatorial chair, but sometimes even dictate the selection of United States senators."

"In order to combat this league and forestall prohibition—which everyone knows does not really prohibit—we must try to rid the saloon business of its evil aspects. The present sentiment against the liquor traffic is caused by saloonkeepers who fail to obey the laws and by the public and public officers who fail to enforce them. The model license law provides that all licenses outstanding shall remain in force unless revoked by a majority vote of the people or by the failure of the holder to obey the saloon regulations. It limits the number of licenses to be granted and otherwise restricts the liquor traffic. The general adoption of such a law would do more toward a sane solution of the drink habit than all the agitation of the Anti-Saloon league and prohibitionists together."

Canvassers were appointed who will visit the wholesalers and retailers in an effort to enlist their support in a model license campaign.

MORE MISSION SERVICES

Various Churches Hold Last Preliminary Meetings.

The third and last evening of the preliminary services for the Episcopal mission which commences to-morrow brought out the best congregations of the three. Services were held in the various outlying churches and much interest and earnestness developed.

At the Church of the Ascension Rev. Father Houston was the preacher. He took his text from the 131st chapter of Genesis. His sermon was a very optimistic view of life and dealt with the need of developing the inherent good in man.

At the other churches the same story of large attendances with interesting addresses. The regular mission services commence to-morrow at St. Paul's, Christ and Trinity churches.

FURNITURE CORPORATION.

Hartford, Jan. 10.—Articles of incorporation were filed at the office of the secretary of state to-day by the Connecticut Hook & Eye company of Waterbury, capitalized at $50,000 and the P. J. Kelly Furniture company of New Haven, capitalized at $15,000.

JURY READY TO TRY THAW CASE

Monday Morning District Attorney Garvan Makes the Opening Statement for Prosecution.

SELECTION PLEASAS THAW

Jurors Are Intelligent Business Men of Middle Age—Much Difficulty in Filling the Last Two Chairs.

THAW JURY COMPLETE.

- 1—Charles E. Gremmels, ship broker.
2—Arthur R. Naething, employing baker.
3—George W. Carey, dry goods.
4—George C. Rupprecht, salesman.
5—John H. Holbert, mineral waters.
6—David E. Arrowsmith, manager.
7—William F. Doolittle, auditor's clerk.
8—William H. McHugh, clerk.
9—Frank J. Howell, manufacturer.
10—William Burck, Y. M. C. A. secretary.
11—Francis Dowse, real estate.
12—James A. Hooper, meats and provisions.

New York, Jan. 10.—The second jury to try Harry K. Thaw for killing Stanford White was completed late to-day, and on Monday morning the prosecution will present its direct case against the defendant. Five jurors were accepted and sworn during the morning and afternoon sessions to-day. As a whole, the jury is made up of intelligent business men of middle age or over.

When the panel had finally been completed, after many vexatious delays, and after the exercise of twenty-three peremptory challenges by the defense and twenty by the people, Thaw announced that he was entirely satisfied. In fact, he seemed well pleased with the twelve men chosen. Young Mrs. Thaw, who has watched the selection of the jurors with the keenest interest, also declared that she was well satisfied.

"They are much nicer than the men selected last year," she said as court adjourned, and Thaw echoed his wife's sentiments. The prisoner and his wife had an earnest five minutes' talk after the last juror had been sworn, and while the attorneys were considering the appointment of a commission which will be sent to Pittsburg to take the testimony of Mrs. William Thaw, the defendant's mother, who is still too ill to come on to New York.

The new jurors selected to-day were Messrs. McHugh, Howell, Burck, Dowse and Hooper. The last two seats in the jury box seemed particularly hard to fill, and a number of talemans were passed temporarily into these places only to be excused in a few minutes by challenges by both defense and prosecution.

Justice Dowling announced at the beginning of to-day's sessions that beginning with Monday the court hours would be from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Afterwards, at the request of the attorneys, he fixed the hour of adjournment at 5 o'clock instead of 6. Assistant District Attorney Francis P. Garvan will make the opening statement for the prosecution, as he did at the first trial. He will not continue for more than ten minutes, and it is said that the state will not take up more than two hours with its direct witnesses.

K. OF ST. P. PROSPEROUS

Financial Showing in Treasurer's Report Best Since 1903.

The annual meeting of the Knights of St. Patrick, held last night at the clubhouse, corner of Temple and Crown streets, was largely attended, and a number of officers, presented by the nominating committee, were elected. The officers are: Frank W. Tierman, president; Michael F. Campbell, second vice-president; board of governors, Dr. James S. Maher, Dr. James H. Flynn, Patrick L. Harkins, William R. Carroll and Thomas H. Smith.

The board of governors will meet two weeks from last night and choose a secretary and treasurer for the coming year. Committees will also be appointed at that meeting.

According to the report of the treasurer presented last night the past year has been financially the most prosperous since 1892. The membership has also increased, having now reached 271. Twenty have joined during the past year and the club has lost five members by death.

The banquet committee is making preparations for the annual banquet to be held March 17. Several prominent speakers from out of town have been suggested, but no choice has yet been made. The committee in charge of the dinner is: Frank Tierman, Thomas H. Smith, Thomas Maxwell, Francis M. Holt and E. J. Moriarty.

MANY AGAINST BIDS

Citizens Argue in Favor of the Present Garbage Arrangement.

SATISFACTORY TO BOARD

Health Officer Wright Tells That It Was the Best Ever Last Year.

The committee appointed at the last session of the board of aldermen to look into the question of the letting of the garbage contract held a public hearing last evening. The call for the meeting was the result of a petition presented to the aldermen asking that the garbage contract be given to the lowest responsible bidder.

The board of health had planned to award the $110,000 contract to the same firm that did it in 1907. Complaints of the garbage collecting service have been fewer by at least a half than in any year in the past twenty, and the board thought that the best interests of the city demanded that the contract be given to the same persons.

Mr. Horan of the Trades Council, spoke in favor of the petition. After Mr. Callahan spoke. He also was in favor of letting the contract go to the lowest responsible bidder. Mr. Callahan was the third and last one to favor the measure.

The first one to appear against the petition was Dr. Frank Wright, the city health officer. He said that the collection of garbage had been the most satisfactory it had ever been during the past year, and personally he was in favor of having the contract renewed. He said that he did not know whether the board of health, if they were empowered to give the contract to a person or firm not the lowest bidder, that it would go to the present contractors.

The next one to speak in opposition to Alderman Miller's petition was ex-City Attorney Howard Webb. He said in introduction that he had not planned to speak, but that he could not let the statement as to the illegality of a board's giving a contract to other than the lowest responsible bidder, go unchallenged. Mr. Webb said that the city charter did allow boards to use their own judgment in the letting of just such contracts as the one under discussion.

Following Mr. Webb, Edward I. Atwater of the Business Men's association spoke. The present conditions, he said, in comparison with those prevailing in the past were ideal. The service for 1907 was much better than any other year within his memory.

These men had barely reached the ground when the great masses of cement which forced a pillar of the steel framework, collapsed to the ground, carrying with it everything below the seventh floor. John Fallon, Tim Hutchinson and Sergeant Kelly went down in the wreckage. Fallon was not seen again. Hutchinson and Kelly, fighting desperately against the plaster and cement which threatened to bury them alive, managed to reach the street though frightfully injured. Hutchinson was only able to gasp that his partner, Fallon, was in the debris, and then he fell dying and was hurried away.

More than twenty firemen were working within the walls or near enough to be struck by them when they fell down.

Battalion Chief Shea of the Sixth battalion was knocked senseless and his cheek was lacerated. Deputy Chief Langford and Captains Weldon and Darvan were also removed to the temporary hospital.

The tenants of the building included the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Scherer company, Encyclopedia Britannica company, Fairchild & Co., D. C. Heath & Co., P. F. Collier & Son, and Judge & Co.

KILLS BLIND SON

Did Not Wish Boy to Go Through Life Sightless—Father Suicides.

Ravenna, O., Jan. 10.—Edwin Collier, sr., took his eight-year-old son, Edwin, to his wife's grave in Ravenna cemetery some time last night, shot him dead and then shot himself. He will die.

A letter found near the grave says: "This is a terrible thing to do, but I am tired of life, and I know God will forgive me. I can't bear to see my poor little Edwin go through this hard, cold world without his sight, and the doctors have told me they can do nothing for him."

WHITMORE ACCESSORY

Georgiana Dickinson, Wanted in Swamp Murder, Found in Boston.

Boston, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Georgiana Dickinson, alias Charlotte McDonald, aged twenty-seven, wanted by the police of Harrison, N. J., as an alleged accessory to the murder of Mrs. Helena Whitmore, whose body was found in Lamp Black swamp in Harrison on December 26, was arrested in a house on Essex street, Cambridge, to-night by Chief Inspector Watts and Inspector William J. Shields, of the Boston police, and is locked up in the Tombs in this city. She will be taken to New Jersey to-morrow morning.

FOUR DEAD IN SKYSCRAPER FIRE

New York Office Building Guttled Last Night by Disastrous and Spectacular Blaze.

IN DRY GOODS DISTRICT

Workers Rescued, But Firemen Carried Down as Floor After Floor Gives Way and Drops to the Basement.

New York, Jan. 10.—Four firemen went to their deaths when they responded to a fire that gutted the Parker building, a twelve story business structure occupying the block between East 18th and 19th streets on Fourth avenue, to-night. Fought by half the firemen of Manhattan and apparatus that blocked streets for blocks the flames were never controlled and only with difficulty confined to the building in which they originated.

Floor after floor gave way and dropped to the basement and beneath these crumbling walls no less than thirty firemen were caught and either killed outright or seriously injured.

When the fire had burned itself out and the firemen's roll was called three men of engine company No. 72 and one from fire patrol No. 3 failed to respond. They were: Thomas Phillips, Thomas O'Conner, John Lynch, John Fallon of the patrol.

Tim Hutchinson of Patrol No. 3 was removed dying to a hospital. Capt. Wilson and Captain Garvin of Engine Co. Nos. 24 and 72, who were injured internally, were among those dangerously hurt.

When the casualties began the Florence Hotel which adjoins the burned building on Sixteenth street was made a temporary hospital where fire department physicians gave immediate aid to the injured. The monetary loss was estimated to-night at $1,500,000.

The building was occupied chiefly by publishing houses though a score of other businesses had work rooms or offices there. The loss to the tenants is total. The fire started on the fifth floor in the offices of Koper & Jackson, publishers, and before a stream of water had fallen upon it, it had shot up through the elevator shafts and was setting all of the upper floors ablaze.

On the fifth floor where the watchman discovered the fire, five girls employed by the Dimebar Woollen company were at work. As the flames rose above them the girls hurried down stairs to the street. On the top floor in the Suffolk Engraving company's engraving establishment six men were working. Their escape was cut off and they fled to the roof. Flames had surrounded them on three sides and they were in imminent danger of death when rescued by means of a life line shot from a mortar gun, manned by a hook and ladder company, on the roof of the Florence hotel adjoining. Five men were hand over hand for five stories to the men dropped to safety. Meanwhile the Florence hotel had been emptied of its 200 guests and nearby houses had been vacated.

Seven firemen of Engine 73, which first arrived, ran up to the fifth floor after eighty-five foot extension ladders had been raised to the windows of that story to make possible their retreat. After a fruitless effort to stay the flames where they originated, these firemen were driven to the windows only to find that the tops of the ladders had been burned, cutting off their only retreat. Three of the seven men made a desperate effort to reach the roof. They were not seen again and are supposed to be dead in the ruins. The other four were rescued by Hook and Ladder Co. No. 7, who at the risk of their own lives ran up scaling ladders and dragged the more or less burned men from the windows.

These men had barely reached the ground when the great masses of cement which forced a pillar of the steel framework, collapsed to the ground, carrying with it everything below the seventh floor. John Fallon, Tim Hutchinson and Sergeant Kelly went down in the wreckage. Fallon was not seen again. Hutchinson and Kelly, fighting desperately against the plaster and cement which threatened to bury them alive, managed to reach the street though frightfully injured. Hutchinson was only able to gasp that his partner, Fallon, was in the debris, and then he fell dying and was hurried away.

More than twenty firemen were working within the walls or near enough to be struck by them when they fell down.

Battalion Chief Shea of the Sixth battalion was knocked senseless and his cheek was lacerated. Deputy Chief Langford and Captains Weldon and Darvan were also removed to the temporary hospital.

The tenants of the building included the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Scherer company, Encyclopedia Britannica company, Fairchild & Co., D. C. Heath & Co., P. F. Collier & Son, and Judge & Co.

TWO ESTATES IN

Clark Will Probates Cares for $20,000 Estate.

In the probate court yesterday afternoon was filed an inventory of the estate of Sarah H. Robinson. In bonds and money there is $2,144.23; in personal property there is $485.50. L. W. Robinson is named as the administrator.

There was also admitted to probate the will of Everett B. Clark of Orange. His sons are named in the will as administrators. They are Walter E., Frederick W. and Arthur R. The estate is valued at about $50,000. There are several beneficiaries.

STUDLEY DINNER PLANS

Committee of Arrangements to Meet To-night at Union League Club.

The committee having in charge the banquet to ex-Mayor John P. Studley, who went out of office Jan. 1 after six years' tenure, will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the Union League club. The members of the committee who will be present are: Frank C. Bushnell, Smith G. Wood and James A. Howarth. Colonel Isaac M. Ullman, who is also a member of the committee, leaves to-day for the south.

It is planned to have the banquet Jan. 20. Because of the many who will wish to attend it will probably be held in Music hall, although this has not been decided upon.

The speakers will all be local men and the remarks will be very formal. No toast list has yet been made up, but several men, prominent in different lines of work throughout the city, will be called upon. The committee on invitations will meet next week.

FIREMEN'S BENEVOLENT

Association Started in 1840 Chooses Officers.

The Firemen's Benevolent association held its annual meeting last night at City hall. This association was organized in 1849. At this meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Rufus R. Fancher, vice-president, Captain John W. Camp of steamer No. 3; secretary, Capt. Patrick F. Redmond of steamer No. 1; treasurer, Assistant Chief William E. Perkins; auditing committee, Captain Redmond and James Davidson, No. 11; visiting committee, Chief Fancher, Captain Camp and Captain Borst of steamer No. 5; trustees of Hubbell fund, Chief Fancher, Captain Camp and Captain Borst.

The treasury reports show that the financial condition of the association is excellent as is also the case with all other affairs of the association.

GOES UP TO COURT

Hearing Before Referee Newton on Paying National Wire Bonds.

Referee in Bankruptcy Newton heard an appeal for an order for the payment of bonds of the National Wire corporation yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in his office at 813 Chapel street. A large number of bondholders and creditors, or their representatives, were present. Of 470 bonds outstanding 408 were represented. The question to be decided was whether any dividend should be paid, and if any, what, on the first mortgage bonds out of the money realized by the sale of the plant of the corporation in bankruptcy.

Considerable discussion brought out the fact that some of the largest bondholders in New York were unprepared to announce through their counsel just what course they intended to pursue in the matter. It was finally decided that the best way would be to have the matter brought before a district court by a petition to be filed at some future date by the bondholders. This petition would have for its purpose the ordering of the trustees in bankruptcy to show cause why they should not pay these bondholders in full. The matter would then quite probably be referred to Referee Newton again as a special master. It will be before the court to determine the question as to the scope of the mortgage, it being claimed that a large part of the property owned by the wire corporation and supposed to be included in the mortgage, was not sufficiently described therein.

Notice was served by Attorney Marshall of New York, on behalf of a great many of the creditors, that they, the creditors, would contest the claim of the National Steel & Wire company and the claim of the Everett B. Webster estate both as to validity and as to order of payment.

There will be another hearing in the matter in three weeks.

WOODRUFF FOR TAFT

Connecticut's Chief Executive Joins Club in Secretary's Support.

Governor Rollin S. Woodruff yesterday joined the Taft club which was organized Wednesday night and became a full fledged supporter of the secretary of war as successor to President Roosevelt. With Congressman Lilley as at least a provisional supporter of Mr. Taft the atmosphere in New Haven county seems to grow clearer.

Since the organization of the club the membership has more than doubled and inquiries are coming in from all over the state in regard to the plans for branch organizations.

In Hartford next week the second Taft club of Connecticut will be organized. Among those most prominently identified with the movement: there is Charles Hopkins Clark, editor of the Hartford Courant.
