ARMENIAN CHRISTMAS DAY.

Local Armenians Will Hold Special Services at St. Mark's Church.

According to the Eastern calendar the Orthodox Greek, Armenian, Nestorian and several other national Christian churches observe Christmas on January 19. The Christmas in Armenia this year, as in previous five years, is without joy and cheer.

A great many villages and homes are still in ruins, widows and orphans are scattered everywhere in the land, most of them without shelter and food. It is a black Christmas, and a great reproach to Christian civilization of the world, when the first Christian race in history, has to celebrate Christmas in want and tears.

Rev. M. Peltekian, an Armenian priest, will say the Christmas Eve mass at St. Mark's church this evening at 6:30. Tomorrow morning at 9:30, the Christmas services will be held at St. Mark's church and Rev. G. M. Missirian, the pastor of Stanley Memorial church, will deliver the Christmas sermon in Armenian language.
