

HERALD CAMEP A-MEN TELL THEIR STORY

On Business

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Rex Ingram, the director, was one of many notables of the moving picture world that sailed from New York for Europe recently. He took this little Arab with him as a companion.

Cal's Congratulations

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
"Good boy, Buck!" President Coolidge may not have used those exact words when he presented cup to Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington baseball team, but that's what he meant. First time a President ever had a chance to so reward the Senators.

Appointed Special U. S. Attorney

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Judge E. Weller (above) of New York congratulating Miss Margaret M. Burnet on her appointment as special U. S. attorney. She's first woman so honored.

Wait Until Next Year, When They Are Sophomores

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
No, it wasn't Saturday, but luckless New York university freshmen took a bath just the same. Sophomores ushered them into fountain. "Wasn't comfortable, but, at that, weather might have been colder."

Romance of the Diamond

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
So greatly did she admire diamond skill of Ross Young, New York Giants' star outfielder, that Dorothy Hildegard Peinecke (above), Brooklyn, N. Y., girl, fell in love with peppy player. They'll wed soon.

Home, and Glad of It

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Beautiful of face and ample of form as ever, Jeritza, opera star, returned to New York from vacation in Europe with dachshund pet, aboard Majestic. Mme. Jeritza's first request after six months in Europe was for some fresh juicy oysters.

Dick as a Full-Fledged Cadet

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
In Richard Barthelmess's newest picture, on which he is now working, together with his leading lady, Madge Evans, former child actress, Dick dons the garb of a West Point cadet and wears it throughout the film. Seems to us that Dick looks mighty snappy in these togs. Don't you agree?

Millionaire Works for $20 Per Week

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Reputed to be the wealthiest man in Brockton, Mass., Edward W. Washburn (above) gave his entire fortune to his family and is now working in Brooklyn, N. Y., for $20 a week. He did this because his children treated him like a dog, and insists that working is the only way to be happy.

Landis Rules Series Go On

Ban Johnson

Barney Dreyfuss

Although Judge Landis, czar of baseball, declared the latest baseball scandal is closed, Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh club, both insist that the affair should be sifted to the bottom.

Divorced

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Desertion and non-support charges won freedom for Mrs. Ottilie Corday Lamont (above) in Cleveland Ohio. She was formerly a stage star, well known on Broadway.

Changing Hands of Time

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Largest clock in Jersey City, N. J., on Colgate building there, is being replaced with larger one. Photo shows hour hand being removed. New dial numerals will be seven feet high.

Denies Engagement

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
After doling up in her hotel in New York, Florence Vidor (above), star of the silver screen, talked to reporters and denied intention to marry Director George Fitzmaurice.

A Busy Day for These Three Magistrates

May Bolt Party

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
The attack of Smith W. Brookhart (above), senator from Iowa, on Brig. Gen. Charles Dawes, President Coolidge's running mate, will probably lead to his expulsion from the Iowa Republican party.

In Charge on Trial Run

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
When the United States cruiser Cincinnati, now in New York waters, goes on its trial trip the executive officer of the new cruiser will be (left to right) Commander E. D. McWhorter and Capt. Charles E. Courtney.
